Soviet supersonic airliner crashes; 14 dead, 28 hurt

GOUSSAINVILLE, France (AP) — Aviation experts sifted through the wreckage of a Soviet supersonic airliner today trying to learn why the pride of Russia's civilian air fleet crashed.

Thousands of spectators watched as the four-engine TU144 exploded during an exhibition flight Sunday at the Paris air show. Flaming wreckage crashed onto the town of Goussainville north of Le Bourget airport.

Fourteen persons were killed, 28 were injured. The dead included two Russian pilots and four other crew members, the only ones aboard the streamlined plane.

It was the first reported crash of a supersonic civilian airliner since the Soviets began their program in the mid-1960s. The plane has a maximum cruising speed of 1,550 miles an hour — 2.35 times the speed of sound.

A French-British consortium has built four Concorde supersonic jets, and the latest version made a demonstration flight just before the TU144's.

Witnesses saw the Russian plane make a low level, subsonic pass before the grandstand and then go into a steep climb with the undercarriage lowered.

Pilot Mikail Koslov leveled out just below the cloud cover. The TU144's nose dipped, and the 210-foot plane went into a dive.

As the 180-ton jet neared the ground, a piece of the right wing broke off. A tongue of flame gushed from the plane as it broke apart.

About a dozen houses were destroyed or badly damaged as torn metal, flaming engines and fuel rained on the town. Wreckage was scattered over a strip more than 100 yards wide, and some pieces landed in a nearby wheatfield.

Fabric from the plane's orange and blue interior was draped over utility lines, gateposts and red tile roofs. A section of wing knocked down part of a low wall around a school, and one huge metal part crushed a little cottage.

The experts said it would be a long time before the exact cause of the crash became known. Andre Turcat, a chief test pilot on the Concorde, said it was essential to find out what made the nose of the plane dip after the climb.

Observers in Moscow said the crash must have been a stunning blow to Soviet aviation officials and may have set the TU144 program back. The plane was scheduled to go into service in 1975.

Israeli pilots claim torture

TEL AVIV (AP) — Three Israeli pilots released by Syria in exchange for 57 prisoners held by Israel said their captors tortured them regularly during their three years in jail.

After their repatriation Sunday, one of the pilots told newsmen he had been beaten about his body and on the soles of his feet and had been subjected to electric shocks on several occasions.

Another said that, when they reminded their captors of the Geneva Convention governing the treatment of prisoners of war, they were told the rules didn't apply to them.

In exchange for the pilots, Israel handed over 56 Syrian and Lebanese POWs and a Druse leader from the occupied Golan Heights who was convicted of spying for Syria.

The Israeli military command said the released Arab POWs were the last held by Israel from either Syria or Lebanon and neither Syria nor Lebanon held any more Israeli prisoners. Israel continues to hold 55 Egyptian prisoners it wants to exchange for 10 Israelis jailed in Egypt.

The exchange ended almost a year of negotiations through the International Red Cross. Israel had sought to have the Egyptian-held Israelis included in the exchange but earlier this year softened its stand, the state radio said.

The 56 Arab POWs included five Syrian officers and 10 Lebanese captured in a raid into southern Lebanon last June and in a border clash last September. Most of the other Syrians had been prisoners since a June 1970 armored incursion into Syria.

Striking Antioch students set up more barricades

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) — Despite earlier assurances they wouldn't, striking Antioch College students today barricaded the entrance to Antioch Hall, the campus administration building.

College officials pulled unarmed security personnel away from the entrance after students barricaded the front with leftover debris from a larger barricade which sheriff's deputies tore down Friday.

Some 60 students took part in a moving picket line in front of the makeshift barricade during the morning. Greene County Sheriff Russell Bradley, who was near the campus earlier, was not on hand.

The striking students first let campus officials, professors and students through the picket lines. But as the hours grew, the lines became closer and at least one professor was kept from entering the building.

Token picket lines were set up at side entrances to the structure.

The Greene County sheriff's department opened student-held buildings Friday. No deputies have been on the campus since then.

Faculty members, staff and students have been patrolling the campus to prevent another takeover by striking students.

The school had been closed since April 20 by students striking for guaranteed financial aid. Classes were to have resumed Monday.

The spokeswoman for the strikers said the decision to retake the campus was made during a "community meeting" Saturday attended by about 500 persons.

She said the group has also considered not paying tuition next quarter.

A Greene County Common Pleas judge last week issued a preliminary injunction to end the takeover. The injunction suit was filed by students who wanted to return to school.

When deputies opened the administration building Friday, they found overturned desks, smashed typewriters, stink bombs and eggs scattered around the office. Strikers have denied knowledge of the vandalism.

Dean Ewell Reagin and an aide were pelted with eggs May 22 when they tried to re-enter the buildings. Seven faculty members and 20 students were dismissed as a result of that confrontation.

Space-walker to free jammed solar panel?

Skylab repairs debated

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — With prospects for a space walk to free a jammed solar panel "looking pretty good," Skylab's astronauts today awaited word on how they might do the tricky job.

Making the panel operable could nearly double the electricity in their power-starved space station.

If the space agency gives the green light for the excursion, decisions on who will make the walk and how the one-ton panel will be released will be up to Skylab commander Charles Conrad Jr., who became the world's champion of space flight in total hours logged on Sunday.

"I suspect the commander would want to go out himself," Skylab mission director William C. Schneider told newsmen Sunday.

Capsule communicator Storey Musgrove told the spacemen late Sunday, "Things are looking pretty good for a space walk later in the week."

He said mission control today would pass up suggested procedures for the attempt and all aspects would be discussed in a conference Tuesday between the control center and the astronauts.

"We aim to please," Conrad replied. "We're more than happy to do anything we can."

Schneider said space agency officials planned a day-long meeting today at the Marshall Space Flight Center, Huntsville, Ala., to discuss the potential for success and dangers involved in the space walk repair job.

They'll also discuss the possibility of extending the scheduled 28-day mission as much as 10 days to make up experiments lost because of low power.

"This is a very desirable thing to do, but we don't want to take a chance with our crew," the director said of the space walk. "The prime consideration will be: Is it a safe thing to do?"

Schneider said the salvage attempt could come as early as Wednesday but there will be no hurry because "we'd rather do it right than rushed."

While ground experts wrestled with the panel problem, Conrad, Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz scheduled medical, earth resources and solar astronomy experiments today, their 11th day in space.

Conrad passed the world space time record at 1:17 a.m. EDT Sunday. The mark had been set by former astronaut James A. Lovell, a four-time space veteran.

Conrad previously flew on Geminis 5 and 11 and on Apollo 12. He became the third man to step on the moon. Lovell's record was 715 hours, 5 minutes. If Skylab 1 goes the distance, Conrad will top that by almost 18 days.

HARD TO FACE — Frank Rinaudo, 57, bends in grief over hood of police car after his vehicle struck and killed a diaper-clad child on highway in eastern New Orleans, La., just before dawn. Police said the 2-year-old child was walking in the middle of the road at the time of the accident. Child's mother was charged with negligent homicide.

Watergate probe resumes Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. says he plans to resume the Senate Watergate hearings Tuesday despite special prosecutor Archibald Cox's request that the televised sessions be delayed several weeks.

The North Carolina Democrat who heads the Senate Watergate committee told a news conference in Boston Sunday that Cox had asked him to postpone further hearings until indictments have been returned. Ervin said that could mean a two-to four-month delay but it won't happen "if it's up to me."

"The Justice Department has had this case for almost a year," Ervin observed. "The American people have a right to get to the bottom of this."

The panel is set to resume the hearings with Sally Harmony as the first of five former Nixon campaign workers to be questioned this week. Mrs. Harmony, who was a secretary to convicted conspirator G. Gordon Liddy, probably will be followed by Robert Riesner, Liddy, ex-campaign committee treasurer Hugh W. Sloan and former commerce secretary and campaign finance chief Maurice Stans, committee sources report.

Meanwhile, Democratic National Chairman Robert S. Strauss confirmed an Associated Press report that his Dallas, Tex., home was broken into and ransacked three weeks after the Watergate break-in last year. Nothing was stolen, he said, but he believes the burglars apparently were searching for party financial records.

Strauss was party treasurer at the time, and Watergate burglar Bernard L. Barker has testified his men were looking for Democratic financial records when they were caught inside party headquarters at the Watergate complex last June 17. Barker said they found none.

Columnist Jack Anderson reported today that call girls were recruited "to wheedle political secrets" from Democrats at their Miami Beach convention last year. But investigators "have been unable to determine whether they were actually used," Anderson wrote.

James W. McCord Jr. one of the Watergate burglars, interviewed Sunday on the CBS broadcast "Face the Nation," said he is convinced that President Nixon "set in motion the Watergate operation and followed through on it."

But the former CIA and re-election campaign security officer admitted he had no direct evidence linking Nixon to the break-in.

McCord said his conclusions are based on hearsay and his knowledge of how the Committee for the Re-election of the President operated.

Price of gold hits $120.75

LONDON (AP) — The U.S. dollar fell sharply in Europe as money markets re-opened today, extending last week's fall to record lows. Gold jumped to a new high of $120.75 an ounce here.

In Frankfurt, the dollar dropped to 2.6540 West German marks, a new low there, down from 2.6740 marks Friday. Dealers said trading was extremely nervous. The mark is one of the strongest currencies in Western Europe and when the dollar is in trouble there it is usually weak elsewhere.

Body of ex-POW discovered after apparent suicide

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — A medical examiner says a note in French found near the body of Air Force Capt. Edward A. Brudno, a former prisoner of war, translates roughly to "life was not worth living."

Brudno's body was discovered Sunday at the home of his wife's parents, where he had been living since his return last February from more than seven years of confinement in North Vietnam.

A psychiatrist from Newton, Mass., said he had been treating Brudno recently.

Police called the death a suicide. But the Westchester County medical examiner's office said it would not rule on the death until further medical tests were complete.

However, Dr. Henry Ryan, the deputy chief medical examiner, said, "I know the police have told people it was a suicide. They have reason to."

Ryan said Brudno had a plastic bag over his head when his body was found on a bed. He said the bag "wasn't obstructive" and that more tests, including examination for drugs, will be needed.

The time of Brudno's death was set at late Saturday night or early Sunday.

Harrison police said Brudno, who would have been 33 today, had left a will dated May 22 and nine sealed letters in addition to the note in French.

Brudno married Deborah Gitenstein a few months before leaving for Vietnam in 1965. Police said she received the news of his death at his parents' home in Quincy, Mass.

She returned to her parents' home Sunday.

Brudno was shot down over North Vietnam in a F4 Phantom jet Oct. 18, 1965. Released last February, he was attached to Westover Air Force Base in Massachusetts but was on convalescent leave.

Governors open conference amid Watergate discussions

STATELINE, Nev. (AP) — The nation's governors launched their annual conference today with Republicans and Democrats calling on President Nixon to hold news conferences on the Watergate scandal.

Although Watergate seemed unlikely to come before the 65th annual bipartisan conference that runs through Wednesday, it dominated news conferences, interviews and many informal conversations Sunday at this gambling resort on the shore of Lake Tahoe.

Federal-state fiscal relations constitute the major business before the conference, but a rule requiring a three-fourths majority for resolutions seemed certain to doom a Democratic bid to put the meeting on record Wednesday against President Nixon's economic and revenue-sharing policies.

Partisan meetings, a breakfast for the Republicans and a luncheon for the Democrats, were major activities today. Gov. Wendell Ford of Kentucky was expected to be elected chairman of the Democratic governors.

Gov. Linwood Holton of Virginia, chairman of the Republican Governors Association, suggested the series of presidential press conferences about Watergate

Holton, appearing on NBC's "Meet the Press," said the conferences would permit cross-examination of Nixon on his contention he was unaware of, or uninvolved in, any coverup of Watergate by his top aides.

The suggestion was endorsed promptly by Robert S. Strauss, chairman of the Democratic National Committee; Maryland Gov. Marvin Mandel, a Democrat and the current chairman of the National Governors Conference; and Gov. Daniel J. Evans of Washington, a Republican expected to be elected Wednesday as conference chairman for the next year.

Holton said: "If he will go before the press, not once but a number of times, ... and clarify the ambiguities as they developed, the President ... has the opportunity to regain the complete confidence of the American people."

Nixon's last press conference in March preceded the bulk of the Watergate revelations implicating top administration officials.

Strauss, meeting with reporters here, said: "Nothing would serve this nation better than an immediate, full-scale, open, long-lasting press conference on the part of the President."

Senators well-prepared by Watergate lawyer team

WASHINGTON (AP) — The witness sits at a little table surrounded on three sides by irreverent reporters and curious spectators.

Nine inquisitors face the witness across their own monstrous old-wood table barricading them from the rest of the cavernous Caucus Room.

The system, being used now by the Senate Select Committee on Presidential Campaign Activities—the Watergate committee—has been known to trip the unwary and grind down the righteous.

But so far, most witnesses have emerged intact from the hearings, which resume Tuesday after a week-long recess. Although the TV-watchers may not have known exactly what to expect, the senators and committee staff have had few surprises.

"The senators are fully informed as to what a witness can testify to," said Samuel Dash, the committee's chief counsel who opens the questioning after each witness is sworn.

Dash's three assistants divided up the witnesses according to the first three phases of the hearings.

Jim Hamilton is handling the Watergate affair; Terry Lenzner is working on political espionage and sabotage, the "dirty tricks" phase; and David Dorsen is handling the witnesses who will testify about campaign contributions and how the President's re-election committee got its money.

The three men seek out potential witnesses, arrange interviews with them through their lawyers and meet—always unannounced and behind closed doors—with those they think might be worth calling before the committee itself.

Lawyers representing the Republican minority and other members of the committee staff usually join in the interviews, and senators themselves have dropped in on occasion.

Staff members say the interviews are relatively informal, wide-ranging and usually very thorough.

Committee aide Polly DeMent does biographical research on the witnesses while other staff workers look into legal aspects of the anticipated testimony, probe for corroborative or conflicting evidence, and study subpoenaed documents.

Class action suits: new consumer weapon

WASHINGTON (AP) — In New Jersey, a class-action suit voided the contracts 24 customers had signed agreeing to pay $280 for home educational kits worth about $40.

For California home buyers, a class-action suit means a chance to earn interest on the tax escrow accounts required by the institutions holding their mortgages.

Drug companies accused of fixing prices, oil companies accused of levying excessive credit card finance charges and a door-to-door freezer salesman accused of defrauding his customers all have felt the sting of class-action consumer lawsuits.

The class action suit, filed under federal and state laws, permits those with a common claim to combine their interests and mount a suit which wouldn't have been worth the effort and legal fees if several separate suits were necessary.

Such suits constitute a small but growing proportion of legal cases nationwide.

"Class action is becoming more popular, but not necessarily more successful," said Mark Budnitz, an attorney with the National Consumer Law Center.

The number of class-action suits pending in federal courts at the end of last year was 3,500. Nearly half of them deal with civil rights, and in total they make up about 3 per cent of all federal civil cases. By comparison 25,000 personal injury cases were pending.

The American College of Trial Lawyers studied the Southern District of New York, the single largest adjudicator of federal class-action suits, and found the number filed annually increased nearly four times in five years.

In some cases class-action suits have become a victim of their own popularity, producing a mixed pattern of acceptance by courts.

Five states have approved laws permitting consumer class-action suits, according to the U.S. Office of Consumer Affairs. In 13 other states the restrictions on such suits have been eased.

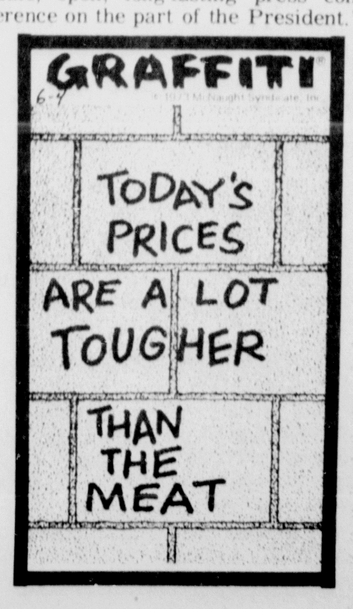

But judges elsewhere have recoiled at the prospect of massive judgments.

The issue of paying interest on home mortgage tax escrow accounts, for example, was accepted as a class action in California, where the legislature has approved class-action bills dealing with consumer and environmental issues. A similar case was denied class-action status in the District of Columbia.

The federal Truth-in-Lending law fines offenders $100 for each instance of inadequate credit information disclosure. When lawyers sued Chemical Bank of New York on behalf of 130,000 charge card holders, the judge called the possible $13 million penalty a "horrendous, possibly annihilating punishment" and disallowed it as a class action. The Senate now is considering limiting liability to $50,000 or 1 per cent of a company's net worth for offenses against the lending act.

Another class-action case spent seven years bounding back and forth from district to appellate courts. The issue was whether an estimated six million persons could sue jointly to get back as much as $60 million they claimed they had been overcharged on stock commissions.

An appeals court finally declared the suit unmanageable as a class action and said: "Class actions have sprouted and multiplied like the leaves of the green bay tree."

Deaths, Funerals

Thomas V. Hartman

Thomas V. Hartman, 87, formerly of 342 W. Court St., died at 6:40 p.m. Sunday in Memorial Hospital.

Born in Fayette County, he had spent his entire life here and was a retired grover. He had been a patient at Quiet Acres Nursing Home since May 30.

He was a member of St. Colman Catholic Church.

His wife, Mayme O'Neil Hartman, died in 1961, and a son Robert is deceased. Surviving besides one niece, Mrs. Marita Cruit, of Lancaster is a great-nephew, James Kinnen, of Lancaster, and a great-niece, Mrs. Jenifer Hoffer, of Canton.

Mass will be sung at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday in St. Colman Church with the Rev. Fr. Richard J. Connelly officiating. Burial will be in St. Colman Cemetery under the direction of the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 3 until 9 p.m. Tuesday, where a Rosary service will be held at 7 p.m.

Mrs. Hazel Moyer

Services for Mrs. Elsie H. Moyer, 79, of Matthews Rd., will be held at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home, with the Rev. Gerald Wheat officiating.

Mrs. Moyer died at 9:30 p.m. Saturday in Fayette Memorial Hospital where she had been a patient three weeks. She had been in failing health 1½ years and seriously ill six months.

Born in Bracken County, Ky., she came to Fayette County in 1917 and was a member of the Bloomingburg Presbyterian Church, its Matrons' Club, the Wednesday Club and the Garden Club.

She is survived by her husband, Hazel Moyer; three sons, Harold L., Rt. 5, Washington C.H., Maurice L., of Baraboo, Wis., and Robert W., of Wilmington; four grandchildren; three great-grandchildren and two brothers, Roy Henson, of Cleves, and Tommie Henson, of Minneapolis, Minn.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 7 until 9 p.m. Monday, 2 until 9 p.m. Tuesday and on Wednesday until time of services. Burial will be in Bloomingburg Cemetery.

REV. VIRGIL HARPER — Funeral services for the Rev. Virgil Harper, 62, of Rt. 4, Washington C.H., were held at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Church of Christ in Christian Union, with the Rev. Herbert Dunn, Leesburg, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Orville Streitenberger, Washington C.H. Mr. Harper, retired pastor of the Greenfield Church of Christ in Christian Union and a machinist for the Dyna Corp., died Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hill, Greenfield, were the vocalists, accompanied by Mrs. Kenneth Bonecutter. Burial was in Highlawn Memorial Gardens under direction of the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Harold Streitenberger, Raymond Orner, Wilbur Knisley, Orville Blanton, Arthur Leeth and Loren Butcher. Honorary pallbearers were the Rev. Elmer Noel, the Rev. Dale Orihood, the Rev. Russell Knisley, the Rev. Keith Groves and the Rev. Verlyn Knisley.

FAY T. JUNK — Services for Fay T. Junk, 83, of 141 Eastview Dr., were held at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Fisher Funeral Home, Frankfort, with the Rev. David White, pastor of the Frankfort Methodist Church, officiating. Mr. Junk, a farmer, died Wednesday.

Pallbearers for the burial in Greenlawn Cemetery, Frankfort, were six sons, John Albert, Thomas, Robert, Harry, Neil and Ralph Junk.

Dean, Nixon conferred on Watergate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House acknowledged today that President Nixon conferred this year with John Dean III about the Watergate scandal but said logs detailing the time and place of such sessions would not be provided to Justice Department or senatorial investigators.

Reports published during the weekend said Dean, fired a White House counsel April 30, has told prosecutors and Senate investigators that he had 30 to 40 meetings with Nixon earlier this year.

Deputy press secretary Gerald L. Warren, who earlier had denounced the published reports in a formal statement, said in response to a question that "obviously there were topics of interest this year that would have involved office of counsel."

Warren said the topics included Nixon's own Watergate investigation, administration policy on citing executive privilege and hearings on the unsuccessful nomination of L. Patrick Gray to be director of the FBI.

Ex-rest home boss confesses swindle

NEW YORK (AP) — The former board chairman of Four Seasons Nursing Centers of America pleaded guilty today to conspiring to violate federal securities laws, in a case that federal authorities said cost the public more than $200 million.

They said it was one of the nation's biggest swindles.

Jack L. Clark, 46, in his guilty plea, claimed that the nursing homes built and operated by the Oklahoma City-based corporation were quality ventures and still are.

Four Seasons has since been succeeded by a court-formed firm, Anta, Inc., also based in Oklahoma City.

Congress set for battles with Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tough battles involving differences between President Nixon and the legislative branch face Congress and its committees this week.

But they may be overshadowed by resumption Tuesday of Senate committee hearings on the Watergate burglary and bugging case.

Major House floor action is scheduled on a minimum wage bill, a presidential reorganization plan and a stop-the-bombing measure.

The Senate, after voting Tuesday afternoon on a fuel allocation program, will spend the rest of the week on a general farm bill.

The fuel bill would give the President more authority to deal with emergency shortages of petroleum products.

The farm measure, opposed by the administration, would set target prices or marketing of major farm products. The government would pay producers the difference between the target price and the selling price when the latter was lower.

The reorganization plan slated for a House vote Tuesday would centralize all drug enforcement agencies within the Justice Department. A divided Government Operations Committee has recommended that the proposal be defeated. The House vote will be on that recommendation.

The reorganization plan would go into effect on July 1 unless either branch of Congress rejects it before June 1.

The House hopes to vote Wednesday on a minimum wage increase bill. There is sharp disagreement over how many annual steps there should be to reach the top figure and disputes over expanding coverage.

Rubber workers OK tentative contract

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Members of two United Rubber Workers locals have ratified a tentative three-year contract agreement with the B.F. Goodrich Co., and five other locals set ratification votes this week.

The union struck seven Goodrich plants May 8, and the contract must be ratified by a majority of union members at all seven sites before taking effect.

Goodrich officials said they plan to reopen plants on an individual basis, however, and that production would get underway as quickly as possible wherever the pact was ratified. URW leaders had predicted that the offer would be ratified.

The company said "start-up" operations began last week as soon as the two sides reached the tentative agreement and that work would begin at some plants this week.

Old soldier feared drowned in Atlantic

FT. GORDON, Ga. (AP) — Officials at Ft. Gordon reported Monday that an 18-year-old military policeman from the Army base, Pvt. Steven Norris of Kettering, Ohio, was missing and feared drowned off the Isle of Palms near Charleston, S.C.

The Isle of Palms police chief, George Strible, said Norris' motorcycle and personal effects were found early Saturday morning on the beach, and a weekend search by police and the Coast Guard failed to turn him up.

Africa receiving more arms from Communists, says U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia and Communist China are quietly expanding military aid to African countries as they maneuver for influence and support there, according to U.S. intelligence sources.

Overshadowed by crises elsewhere, the sometimes competing Soviet and Chinese moves in Africa are logged by U.S. intelligence officials who consider them important in the global power balance.

The U.S. arms aid program in Africa is strictly limited by Congress, with Ethiopia and Tunisia sharing the total $1.3 million in grants proposed for the new fiscal year starting next month.

A series of U.S. intelligence reports traces a pattern of Communist Chinese and Soviet aid initiatives in at least eight African countries.

According to one recent report, Red China is preparing to provide Tanzania with its first jet fighter planes, a squadron of 20 MIG 19s AND MIG 17s, by late this year.

Peking sent the Sudan six MIG 19s last year when the Communist Chinese were trying to capitalize on the Sudan's alienation from Russia. China also started about $42 million in economic aid projects there.

Since then the Sudanese leaders, who blamed the Russians for allegedly helping in a coup attempt against them, have made up with Moscow and the Russians are building a logistical complex in the Sudan, among other things.

Meanwhile, the Chinese appear to be moving in on Guinea which has relied on a Soviet naval squadron to protect it for nearly two years. Within the past two months, China delivered four fast Shanghai-class gunboats for Guinea's coastal defense. A 40-man Chinese training group accompanied some of the boats, becoming the first Chinese military presence in that West African country.

UMW official's trial begins

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — The trial of Yablonski murder defendant Albert Pass, the highest ranking United Mine Workers official charged in the case, is set to get under way today in Erie County Court.

Jury selection from a panel of 250 prospective jurors already chosen will be the first order of business.

Pass, 53, a former member of the UMW's International Executive Board from Middlesboro, Ky., and William J. Prater, 55, a former UMW field organizer, were indicted on three state charges of murder in the New Year's Eve 1969 slayings of union reformer Joseph A. Yablonski and his wife and daughter.

A grand jury from Washington County, where the killings occurred, handed down the indictments, but their trials were moved here after defense attorneys successfully argued their clients could not receive a fair trial in Washington County.

Prater was convicted last March 26 on three counts of first degree murder for the slayings.

Of five other persons arrested in the case, three have pleaded guilty and turned state's evidence and two others, Paul E. Gilly, 38, and Aubran W. "Buddy" Martin, 23, both of Cleveland, were convicted and sentenced to death.

Both Pass and Prater were implicated in the slayings by Silous Huddleston, 63, a former UMW local president, one of the three to plead guilty to murder.

Huddleston, in a statement read last May in Washington County Court, said he believed the payoff money—which he said totaled $15,000—was funneled through a special union fund.

Arrests halt threat to dams

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Two men who allegedly threatened to blow up two dams in West Virginia unless they were given $1 million were apprehended by state police and FBI agents Sunday night, the FBI and a spokesman for Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. said.

The governor received a letter last week "demanding $1 million and threatening to blow the Sutton Dam and the Summersville dam," the FBI said.

No damage was done to Sutton Dam or Summersville Dam, both federal flood control reservoirs, and authorities said no explosives were found.

The two men arrested, Wallace Leroy Hess, 18, and Sheredith L. Hamrick, 29, were to appear before U.S. Magistrate Paul J. Fourney here today on charges of violating federal extortion statutes, the FBI said. Both are from the town of Muddlety, between Sutton and Summersville.

They were being held in lieu of $100,000 bond each.

The letter, hand-written on lined notebook paper and addressed to "Gov. Arch Moore— Personal," detailed instructions for delivering the money, a spokesman for the governor said. The governor was to hand over the money personally.

The dams would be blown up Sunday evening if the money was not delivered, the letter said.

Hess and Hamrick were apprehended Sunday evening at the drop site where the money was to be turned over, police said. It was identified only as a thickly wooded area of Nicholas County near Summersville.

One of the two men was armed with a high-powered rifle but neither offered resistance, the spokesman for the governor said.

Nearby, in Portuguese Guinea, the Russians are estimated by U.S. intelligence to have provided more than 5,000 tons of weapons and ammunition to anti-Portuguese rebels in the past year.

On Africa's east coast, the Russians landed about 25 T54 and T55 medium tanks in Somalia this spring. Somalia is strategically located along the Indian Ocean and the Gulf of Aden, and has been a focus of Russian attention for at least a decade.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Several tornadoes skipped across northern Ohio Sunday, one of them derailing five Penn Central freight cars at Wayne Center in Ashtabula County.

The National Weather Service reported tornado sightings in Ashtabula, Defiance and Lorain counties and tornado warnings were up for much of the northern part of the state until midnight.

Penn Central officials said no one was injured in the derailment. The spokesman said some of the cars were slammed into another freight which had pulled onto a siding to let the northbound 101-car freight pass.

The freight that was hit by the twister was headed for Buffalo, N.Y. The waiting freight train was traveling to Youngstown from Buffalo.

Freight crews worked through the night to clear the wreckage.

Winds in Portage County damaged three homes in Kent and blew three roofs off a garden apartment complex west of the city. A nearby church annex was flattened and power lines were down throughout the area.

Residents in nearby Silver Lake, Stow, Brady Lake and Ravenna reported seeing funnel clouds move through the area, but the weather service did not classify the winds that did the damage as tornadoes.

The Toledo weather service office reported the tornado sightings in Defiance and Lorain, but no damage was reported from the area.

Thunderstorms dropped more than two inches of rain on parts of Summit, Portage and Cuyahoga counties, the weather service issued flash flood watches for areas along the Chagrin, Grand and Ashtabula rivers shortly after midnight.

The Grand River was three feet above flood stage at 12:30 a.m., according to the weather service.

Several Cleveland streets were flooded and scattered flooding was reported along the lake shore.

Most weather stations across northern Ohio reported an inch or more of rain from late Sunday afternoon until 2 a.m. today.

Most of the showers had passed east of Ohio by daybreak, and variable cloudiness was reported across Ohio at dawn. Temperatures ranged from 62 at Zanesville under clear skies to 68 at Cincinnati under partly-cloudy skies.

Cloudy skies were to return to Ohio later today and showers and thundershowers were expected again this afternoon.

A high pressure area off the Carolinas is pulling warm, moist air into the Midwest. Meanwhile, a cold front, stretching from the northern end of Lake Michigan to a low over the Oklahoma panhandle is moving slowly eastward.

Showers and thundershowers are forecast for Ohio until the front crosses the state, probably late Wednesday.

A chance of showers Wednesday and Thursday. Warm Wednesday through Friday with highs from the upper 70s to mid 80s and lows in the 60s.

Stock list slips again

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices continued to drop today, continuing last week's decline, amid a background of economic uncertainties.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was down 6.69 at 887.27. Declining Big Board stocks outpaced advancing issues 892 to 300 in light volume.

The dollar continued to weaken today while gold prices soared. Analysts said these factors were adding to the stock market gloom as well as investor fears of a recession. Watergate was another factor, they said.

On the American Stock Exchange, the price-change index was down .06 at 22.43. The Amex volume leader was Mite Corp. down ⅛ at 3⅞.

The New York Stock Exchange broad-based index of some 1,500 common issues was down 0.47 at 54.39.

Arlen Realty was the Big Board volume leader down ⅛ at 4½.

Gas tank explodes in hotel garage

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A gasoline storage tank exploded in the parking garage of the downtown Neil House Hotel today, but there were no injuries and little apparent fire damage.

Parking services were restored about 45 minutes after the 7:30 a.m. blast.

The explosion occurred as a driver for an oil products firm was filling the 2,000-gallon tank, which is enclosed by a wall. The driver said he did not know what touched off the blast.

Heat from the explosion set off a sprinkler system and water in some spots was six inches deep.

Hurless aid fund growing

John Hurless, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hurless, of 1117 E. Paint St., who had been unconscious at Riverside Hospital, Columbus, since being injured in an auto accident April 21, has shown some improvement and has been moved out of the intensive care ward.

His room number is 565, but he can receive no visitors at this time.

Pam Harper, of 506 E. Paint St., who began organizing a campaign to collect money for hospital expenses a few weeks ago, said that $42 has been collected from canisters placed in local establishments. The Washington Savings Bank is accepting cash or checks for the "John Hurless Fund."

Due to an illness in his youth, Hurless has been denied any medical insurance. Anyone wishing more information may contact Pam Harper (335-3069) or Leroy Barton, of the Washington Savings Bank.

Scientists from China in Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Seven scientists and engineers from the People's Republic of China arrived here Sunday to tour water conservation and pollution control projects in the area this week.

The 11-man delegation, which includes aides and interpreters, will visit installations of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers on the Ohio River, Environmental Protection Agency, Ohio River Valley Water Sanitation Commission and the Kettering Laboratory and College of Engineering at the University of Cincinnati.

They will be guests of University of Cincinnati president Dr. Warren Bennis at a tea and reception.

Sunday the delegation was welcomed by Cincinnati mayor Theodore Berry, who presented the visitors with a key to the city.

The tour by the Chinese Hydro-Technical Study Group, was arranged last February by Henry Kissinger, President Nixon's foreign affairs advisor.

Street, road crews need weather break

City, county and state road crews are looking forward to a break in the rainy weather to continue spring maintenance projects.

Gene Fitzpatric, superintendent of the Ohio Department of Highways in Fayette County, said state crews will continue work on U.S. 35 at the I-71 interchange, and will be working on berms on Ohio 41, between Washington C.H. and Jeffersonville.

Work also is to continue on the double curves on Ohio 729, north of Jeffersonville. Workmen will have six mowers in operation and will be trimming along guardrails.

County crews, according to County Engineer Charles P. Wagner, will continue work on Railroad Street in Jeffersonville. Crews will also be ditching along the Bloomingburg-New Holland Road and the Zimmerman Road.

Some culvert work is planned on the Zimmerman Road, Wagner said. Other projects include mowing weeds and installing culverts in Jefferson Township.

City crews, according to Bill Duncan, acting superintendent of the Service Department, will be striping streets, mowing, spraying for mosquitoes and patching streets.

'Copter crash fatal to 6 in Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — Six crewmen died when Communist gunners shot down a South Vietnamese helicopter, the government reports. At least 55 enemy troops were reported killed in infantry assaults.

The CH47 Chinook helicopter was on a resupply mission 55 miles northwest of Saigon when a heat-seeking missile hit it Sunday, a spokesman said.

The commander of the infantry division assigned to the area said last week that the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong had been bringing in fresh tanks and other equipmant, including missiles.

The largest infantry clash Sunday was reported outside Kontum City in the Central Highlands. The Saigon command said 37 Communist troops were killed in an attack on government forces, which suffered seven wounded.

Among other truce violations cited by the government was a battle in the northern costal province of Binh Dinh, where 18 Communist soldiers were reported killed along with one government trooper.

A bomb set off by Communist saboteurs killed three civilians and wounded four others in the Mekong Delta town of Cai Be, the Saigon spokesman added.

Planning discussion slated Monday night

A general discussion meeting on community and regional planning will be held at 7 p.m. today in the conference room of the city offices, according to City Manager Dan Wolford.

Representatives of city, county and regional planning agencies are to attend to discuss means of creating a closer working relationship among the agencies.

Committee reform hurts

It is a common observation that members of Congress like to talk about government economy in abstract terms, but balk at cuts in their home areas.

A variant of this phenomenon is now being seen as a special House committee on overhauling the committee reform in the abstract, each tends to balk at specific changes infringing on his own committee's power.

There is no mystery about this. The committees are the source and instrumentality of power in Congress. Areas of jurisdiction, membership, and the resources available to them largely determine the clout wielded by committee chairmen. Few, if any, fancy having their power reduced.

Some indeed, already have suggested that the jurisdictions of their respective committees ought to be increased. The testimony of Chairman W.R. Poage of the Agriculture Committee illustrates the point. Having disavowed any intention of "being out to grab some other committee's jurisdiction," he proceeded to list programs (18 of them) which are now handled by nine other committees, but over which he felt that Agriculture should properly have control. Other committee chairmen have shown a similar attitude.

This cannot be condemned out or hand. It is quite evident that there ought to be some realignment, and this necessarily involves shifting certain responsibilities from one committee to another. During the quarter of a century since the last reorganization of the committee structure, various aspects of newly arisen or newly emphasized concerns have been distributed piecemeal without much regard for logic.

If there is to be sound reform of the committee structure, some committee chairmen are simply going to have to yield some of their power. But the analogy of pulling teeth does come to mind.

A WORD EDGEWISE . . . by John P. Roche

Those cables on Diem

For reasons expressed here a while back, I do not want to get involved in the orgy of hearsay about the Watergate affair. Leaving aside the question of principle, this decision makes practical sense: yesterday's hearsay is overtaken as rapidly by today's as today's will be by tomorrow's.

However, some facts are clearly established and one of them I find bizarrely intriguing: that E. Howard Hunt, then a White House staff member, was sitting over in the Executive Office Building reading all the State Department cables relating to the overthrow of President Ngo Dinh Diem in November, 1963.

His apparent mission was to demonstrate conclusively that President John Kennedy was responsible for the murder of Diem and his brother Ngo Dinh Nhu. Since — as I will shortly document — the cables (which I too have read) are thoroughly inconclusive, Hunt seemingly decided to forge a couple that would tie up the loose ends. (These were in the dossier that Acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray put into the burn bag, so we will never know how good Hunt was as a cable forger.)

BY AN ODD coincidence, Lyndon Johnson, then Vice President, was the outstanding opponent of an American initiative to topple Diem. He did not consider the South Vietnamese president the "Churchill" of Southeast Asia, but all the alternatives to Diem seemed worse. Moreover, he profoundly distrusted the active proponents of a coup, whom he accused at a meeting of the National Security Council of wanting to play "cowboys and Indians."

Then suddenly not only was Diem dead, but Kennedy too lay in his grave and Johnson was President. Among the new President's first tasks was a session with Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, who had come to Washington to report on events in Saigon.

Although he does not mention it in his memoirs, the late President told me that when he pressed Lodge on our involvement in the coup, the latter assured him it was a Vietnamese affair. But what disturbed Johnson was a gnawing sense that the coup-mongers in our government had pulled an end-run on the President.

One day in 1966, stimulated by a news story on some Kennedy staff memoir, he asked me: "Just what did President Kennedy decide?" Off I went to the archives and the result was — to a student of decision-making — fascinating.

Without going into the details, in August, 1963 — when informed by Undersecretary of State Averell Harriman and Assistant Secretary Roger Hilsman that a coup was essential and imminent—President Kennedy signed on. The August coup turned out to be a joke and in its wake serious men in Washington began to question the whole notion.

KENNEDY, caught in the cross-fire, took refuge in indecisiveness as indicated in the following cable of Oct. 5, 1963, to Lodge: "President today approved recommendation that no initiative should now be taken to give any active covert encouragement to a coup. There should however be urgent covert effort with closest security . . . to identify and build contacts with possible alternative leadership as and when it appears."

In no subsequent cable did the President abandon the conditional-subjunctive tense. The evidence, as I told President Johnson, left me in doubt whether Kennedy half favored a coup, or favored a half-coup. In effect, Lodge was told to play the hand.

That is the history of President Kennedy's "complicity," but the question remains : Who in his right mind would hire someone in 1972 to sit in the Executive Office Building and play with this stuff? (If they had asked me, I would have told them for nothing!)

The answer must be that some clown thought that the murder of Diem could be used as a campaign issue against Ted Kennedy. These are the aspects of the whole squalid mess that simply passeth understanding.

Just imagine Hunt fiddling the record to keep those millions of pro-Diem voters from supporting Kennedy. It is, as my daughter would say, a real "mindblower."

Meeting the energy crisis

Washington, preoccupied with chasing down every last little Watergate rumor, moves with the speed of an overweight hippopotamus when it comes to dealing with such things as the energy crisis. So we have the usual predictions that we shall have to endure a summer of brown-outs in major power areas.

Despite the federal lethargy about giving the go-ahead for new atomic power stations or the better utilization of coal, however, Americans are doing something to avoid brown-outs. The summer, no thanks to Washington, may be better than anyone now anticipates.

In the New York City-Westchester region, for example, the Consolidated Edison Co. has put gas turbine generators on barges tied up at two critical points along the Brooklyn waterfront. One multi-unit of generators mounted on four barges, the Gowanus complex, is capable of delivering 600,000 kilowatts of electricity to shore-switching stations; another set of 350,000 Kw. capacity sends its power ashore at the Narrows, farther out in New York Bay.

Purchased from the General Electric Co., the barge units are operated by Con Ed on a lease-back arrangement with a consortium of banks. The whole business is ad lib, so to speak, but, as the French proverb has it, nothing endures like the provisional.

Combined with the Con Ed "save a watt" program that enlists the cooperation of Manhattan businessmen and apartment house proprietors, who have promised to shade their air conditioning needs, the semi-permanent barge-mounted generators should keep the lights burning and the factories running through the summer of 1973.

MEANWHILE, at the consumer goods end of the economy, big retailers are evolving their own energy conservation policits. The Montgomery Ward president, Edward Donnell, for example, has informed the managers of all his retail and catalogue stores, administrative centers and warehouses that they must keep summer air conditioning at 75 degrees instead of the traditional seventy-two. (Winter heating next year will be at 70 degrees instead of 72.)

The two-or-three degree difference will save some 10 to 15 per cent in heating and cooling energy. If a Montgomery Ward store is in a shopping center that controls the temperature of all the shops in the area, the Ward manager is told to "take the lead" in setting Fahrenheit standards.

Actually, there are a thousand-and-one things that the American people can do to conserve energy without suffering unduly. The Washington D.C., metropolitan area, for instance, has 400,000 homes with central air conditioning.

If, in each home, shades or drapes were to be drawn across four average-size windows facing east or west during sunlight hours, Washington householders would require 30 per cent fewer BTU's per hour. The addition of awnings would double the savings.

The American people are appliance-crazy, and there is little use in demanding that they give up washing machines and electric dishwashers. They will have the scalps of any Administration that tries to tell them the labor-saving revolution must be reversed in order to satisfy the dreams of the ecologists.

But the same revolution that has given us such frivolities as the electric toothbrush has come up with the microwave oven. The Electric Energy Association estimates that for a family of four a microwave oven uses only 300 kilowatt-hours a year at a cost of $9. A conventional electric oven for a family of four consumes 1,715 kilowatt-hours a year and costs $35.25, which is quite a difference.

IF AMERICANS are to continue being what Sen. Lowell Weicker calls "a sunrise people," they will insist on breakthrough methods of solving the energy crisis. The microwave oven is symbolic.

Last year the U.S. consumed 1.8 trillion kilowatt-hours, which was double what it used in 1961. Conservation is indicated for the next decade if we are not to go irretrievably into hock to the Arab nations for the oil needed to meet our industrial and transportation needs.

But a "sunrise people" will not endure stringencies forever just to make things easy for our lethargic politicos.

The concentration on Watergate, with its euplications of investigatory effort, is keeping Washington from its essential business, which is to provide a frame in which Americans can provide for their own future.

Do we really need to pile an Ervin Committee investigation on top of an Archibald Cox investigation in order to tell us whether Nixon was a culpable instigator of either the Watergate bugging or of its cover-up?

There is such a thing as double jeopardy; why must the same witnesses be sworn twice or thrice over? Especially when Congress has its own work to do while the Cox investigation, which is all that we need, goes its impartial way.

Hal Boyle . . . Remarks for doctor's aides

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a doctor's secretary gets tired of hearing:

"I thought bankers' hours were pretty good, but I guess a doctor's hours has them beat, haven't they?"

"Do you mind if I tell you my symptoms before I get in to see Dr. Medulla? Sometimes I get so flustered I forget to tell him half the things that are really wrong with me."

"You mean this is only Wednesday? Here I've been waiting two hours, and I'm not even supposed to be here until Thursday."

"Judging from the latest magazines I've been reading in your reception room, 1957 must have been quite an interesting year."

"After I've been sitting here half the day, you tell me this is Dr. Medulla's office. I'm supposed to see Dr. Oblongata. Isn't he in this building?"

"No, I don't care to tell you why I want to see the doctor. It's too personal. Just tell him that it has something to do with a stuck zipper — and I got to see him real quick."

"A doctor's waiting room is kind of like a cemetery, isn't it? Not much action in either."

"I'm the mechanic at the garage where the doctor gets his car fixed. Does that entitle me to some kind of a professional discount?"

"Listen, good-looking, if you're not tied down, how about letting me take you to dinner tonight and tell you about a couple of interesting symptoms I've developed since I came in here and saw you?"

"No, baby, I'm not sick. I'm the salesman for a drug firm. If you'll slip me in to see the doc for five minutes I'll tell him about a new remedy we're putting out that will make all his patients feel like they can walk on water."

"This is Mrs. Grimsby calling. No, I don't want to make an appointment. I just want you to ask the doctor whether he thinks I might feel better if I took two of the brown pills a day instead of three and four of the pink pills instead of two."

Saturday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Parents heartbroken over her choice of amputee

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 28 and a nurse. She took a job several thousand miles from home and has been gone nearly a year. We were hoping she'd come home last Christmas, but she said she'd come home next summer and bring her fiance. (She had written about a young man she'd fallen in love with, describing his "beautiful attitudes, brilliant mind, and outstanding character."

Now we know why she didn't bring him home for Christmas. He's an amputee! He lost both legs just below the knee when he stepped on a mine near Saigon. We learned this yesterday from a letter she wrote us.

We are heartsick. She's such a beautiful girl and could easily get a whole man. Abby, how do parents adjust to knowing their daughter will spend the rest of her life caring for an invalid?

HEARTBROKEN PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: What makes you think he's an invalid? You would be amazed how well some people can manage on artificial limbs. There is no reason to be heart-broken. If he's "whole" enough for her it says a great deal for her values. Theirs could be a completely beautiful and fulfilling marriage.

DEAR ABBY: You defined a homosexual as "one who has erotic feelings about members of his (or her) own sex."

It is my understanding that heterosexual sometimes have erotic feelings about members of their own sex. Am I mistaken? And by the way, do you think homosexuals are "sick?"

CURIOUS IN N.Y.

DEAR CURIOUS: You are correct. In my anxiousness to conserve space I oversimplified. I should have said, "individuals who have STRONG, PREFERENTIAL erotic feelings about members of their own sex can be considered homosexual."

And I most definitely DO NOT consider homosexuals "sick."

DEAR ABBY: Only my mother knows my real age because I've been lying about it for several years. I am engaged to an angel of a man who attributes the smoothness of our relationship to our complete honesty.

Although I've never lied to my fiance about anything else, I've repeated that lie about my age dozens of times in his presence, with friends, applying for graduate school, credit cards, etc.

What I want your advice on is this: Must my fiance ever know my real age? It would be so embarrassing to tell him now. He thinks he's two years older than me, when actually he is two months younger.

OLDER WOMAN

DEAR WOMAN: Tell him and tell him now. Not only for your own peace of mind but in anticipation of the day you'll be eligible for Social Security. ("Oh, what a tangled web we weave when first we practice deceive.")

CONFIDENTIAL TO: Those who are interested in reading a delightful little book with a big message about the purpose of life-beg, buy or borrow "Celebrate the Sun" by James Kavanaugh.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, June 4, the 155th day of 1973. There are 210 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1942, the Battle of Midway began. The naval and air warfare ended in the first decisive defeat for Japan in World War II.

On this date: In 1647, King Charles I of England's army seized him as a hostage.

In 1805, the United States concluded a peace treaty with Tripoli.

In 1831, Prince Leopold of Saxe-Coburg was chosen as the first king of Belgium.

In 1936, the first Socialist government of France took office under Premier Leon Blum.

In 1946, Juan Peron was inaugurated president of Argentina.

In 1961, President John F. Kennedy and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev conferred in Vienna, Austria.

Ten years ago: The body of Pope John XXIII was lying in state in St. Peter's Basilica.

Five years ago: The government of Yugoslavia banned public meetings or demonstrations in Belgrade after two days of fighting between students and police.

One year ago: U.S. jets set fire to a major fuel distribution station on the outskirts of the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong.

Today's birthdays: Opera singer Robert Merrill is 54. Actress Rosalind Russell is 61.

Thought for today: When your neighbor's house is afire, your own property is at stake. — Horace, Roman poet and satirist, 65 to 8 BC.

Corn, soybean prices said misleading

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soaring prices for soybeans and corn sound to many people as if farmers are doing superbly these days, but a look at the calendar and at the rising costs of production might suggest otherwise.

Except for the early wheat harvest in the southern plains, farmers have not produced any substantial grain since last year. This is a time for planting and cultivation, not harvest, in the big feed and soybean areas.

Thus, when the market reports mention soybeans at $10 per bushel or corn at $1.80 per bushel, the people who actually are in position to benefit are usually not farmers but the second and third-hand buyers who originally bought crops from producers.

The Agriculture Department, which compiles national averages for prices farmers receive and must pay out to meet production expenses, reported that the overall "prices paid" index rose 2 per cent from mid-April and was 14 per cent higher than in May last year.

But some of the specific items in the index indicate the cost problem confronting farmers is much more complex and serious. One of the main goals of the Nixon administration is larger meat output this year to help ward off further upward spirals at supermarkets.

But farmers, particularly those who feed cattle and hogs for the slaughter market, are thinking twice about feed costs. Those are so high at the present time that many will not expand their livestock feeding operations until relief is in sight.

McCloskey sets impeachment talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House discussion of whether President Nixon's actions in the Watergate affair are grounds for impeachment has been initiated by Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr., R-Calif.

McCloskey has reserved an hour after the close of regular House business Wednesday to discuss the matter, and invited other members to participate.

Under the Constitution, the House is responsible for remedying any executive misconduct, and therefore has a duty to examine the President's connection with the case, McCloskey said in a letter to all House members.

McCloskey, who has openly opposed Nixon on the Vietnam war and ran against him in a few GOP primaries last year, stated in his letter that the President's May 22 statement constituted grounds for impeachment.

The Ohio Environmental Protection Agency reminds Ohioans that they can help conserve water by keeping drinking water in the refrigerator rather than running water until it's cold.

Central U.S. hit by storms

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorm activity slackened during the early hours today, but some storms persisted from eastern Colorado and the Central Plains to the Great Lakes region and the Ohio Valley.

A few storms dampened central and eastern Texas. A flash flood watch was posted for much of Arkansas and southern Missouri. Hail of golf ball size pounded Indianola, Neb., just before midnight. A flash flood warning was issued for the Akron, Ohio, area.

There were a few thunderstorms over southern Florida and along the middle Atlantic coast and over the central and northern ockies.

A tornado near Wick in northeastern Ohio lifted a section of a moving Penn Central freight train and slammed it into another parked on a siding. No one was injured.

Miss Mossbarger completes Saturday wedding plans

Miss Diane Sue Mossbarger and Wayne Curtis Hawley have completed plans for their open church wedding for Saturday at 6:30 p.m. in Pisgah-Mt. Pleasant Federated Church. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dane R. Mossbarger, Rt. 2, Frankfort.

Parents of the prospective bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hawley of Endicott, N.Y.

Officiating at the candlelight service will be the Rev. Charles F. Cooley, minister of Ohio State Students of King Avenue United Methodist Church, Columbus.

Wedding music will be presented by Mrs. Dane R. Mossbarger, mother of the bride-elect, vocalist, and Gail H. Finch, organist, who will also play the processional and recessional.

Miss Mossbarger has asked Miss Katherine Sue Wacker of Mt. Vernon to be maid of honor. The flower girl will be the niece of the prospective bridegroom, Miss Lisa Mecca of West Orange, N.J.

Best man will be August Supan of Garfield Heights, college roommate of the bridegroom. Ushers will be David Mossbarger, Rt. 2, Frankfort, brother of the bride-elect, and another college roommate of the prospective bridegroom, Ralph Bowers of Dover. Jeffrey Mossbarger of Frankfort, nephew of Miss Mossbarger, will be ring bearer.

Following the ceremony, a reception will be held in the church annex.

The evening preceding the wedding, the parents of Mr. Hawley will entertain the rehearsal dinner at Frankfort.

Crusaders plan projects

Christian Crusaders Class of South Side Church of Christ met in Fellowship Hall Saturday evening. The meeting was preceded with a covered dish dinner. The Rev. Charles Richmond gave the invocation.

Howard Brooks conducted the business session. The class will pay tuition for two youths to attend Butler Springs Christian Assembly. Rev. Richmond, a guest for the evening, reported on the legality of owning a church bus. A fund has been started by the church for the purchase of a bus. Other projects were discussed.

Frank Coulter gave devotions using for his subject "God's Plan for Rest." The group sang "The Haven of Rest" accompanied by Mrs. Frank Creamer at the piano. Mr. Coulter read Scripture from the Book of Exodus.

Miss Ruth McKay was in charge of the entertainment, in which all participated.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Coulter, Mrs. Alice Beedy and Mrs. Margaret Emrick.

Hostesses for the July meeting will be Mrs. Howard Brooks, Mrs. Grant Whiteside, and Mrs. John Sparks. Mr. Brooks will give devotions and Mrs. Brooks will provide entertainment.

Mrs. Jordan to entertain

Mrs. John G. Jordan will entertain members of the Fayette Garden Club at 1:30 p.m. Friday. Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. Ralph Hays and Mrs. Peter Smeltzer.

The program topic, "Gifts From Our Garden", will be presented by Mrs. Orville Jenkins, Mrs. George Trimmer and Mrs. Kenneth Bush.

Club members will hold a specimen flower show. The design for the month entitled "O Promise Me" will be brought by Mrs. P. C. Harlow.

Couple honored

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Hugh Downs was in town the other day to talk to a network about a new TV series he has in mind. But the proposed show doesn't involve make-believe. It concerns frank discussions of the sexual and emotional problems Americans face in real life.

Before you get the idea the former star of NBC's "Today" show has gone daft, a few things need explaining. In recent years, Downs has become increasingly concerned about the population explosion.

It's led him to join the national board of the Planned Parenthood Federation. And he's national co-chairman of the Citizens' Committee on Population and the American Future.

The latter group was formed to keep alive last year's findings and recommendations of a special commission — created by Congress at President Nixon's request — that studied America's population problems.

The way Downs sees it, an educational TV series about sex and emotion would be of great help in carrying out the task of the citizens' committee, formed by John D. Rockefeller III.

"In all honesty, I think the print media has been more forthright about these issues," Downs said. "It's true that television has displayed some real courage in areas of controversy.

"But in the area of human sexuality, it's been strangely silent, damn near completely silent. I think this is because sexuality is considered such a hot potato, which it needn't be if honestly presented."

Downs, who declined to name the network with which he's discussing the proposed series, said he'd like the show to run five times a week.

The topics could range from rape to the pros and cons of abortion or federal funding for contraceptive research, he said.

Each show would have guest experts and a "moderator who knows the difference between knowledge and opinion," Downs said.

He said were he directly involved in the show, he'd prefer to produce it — not moderate it — but he would do whatever was necessary to make the show effective.

Auto inspection bill dies again

By PERRY SMITH
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An almost biennial bill to require every motor vehicle in Ohio to be inspected once every two years is apparently dead.

Sponsored by Rep. Patrick A. Sweeney, D-6 Cleveland, the bill was introduced last month but hasn't been scheduled for a hearing.

As a matter of fact it hasn't even been printed, and House Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, doubts that it ever will be.

"This bill comes along every session but never goes anywhere," Lancione said. "There is no pressure from downstairs (governor' office) to hear it."

Lancione contended the State Highway Patrol, which now does the random inspection of vehicles on Ohio highways, does not have the manpower for mandatory checks of all vehicles.

In addition, Lancione said there has been widespread abuse of the inspection system in states that now have it. There have been repeated charges of wrong-doing and kickbacks in many states, he said.

Sweeney's bill, which would do away with the current random inspection teams, would establish official inspection stations throughout the state. They would operate under Highway Patrol jurisdiction.

The random inspection teams inspects up to 38,000 a month.

In 1971, patrolmen found 1,573 vehicles so defective they towed them off the road as dangerous. In 1972, the figure fell to 172.

Sweeney said the Highway Patrol's random inspection team is ineffective in large counties.

"The Highway Patrol does not police the largest county in the state, Cuyahoga," he said. "Consequently we have no auto inspection up there."

Sweeney said mandatory inspection statewide is only one of two possible solutions. Another, he said, would be for the state to give financial assistance to local communities to conduct their own.

Admitting that kickbacks and inspections-for-a-price are major problems of mandatory inspections, he would like to have a special team of the Highway Patrol set up to look for those violations.

"We have inspection teams set up for liquor violations, why can't we do it on this?" he said.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

TUESDAY, JUNE 5

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Some good news or friendly cooperation should aid you in perfecting long-range plans. Study new trends, developments.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Day should be generally satisfactory but, without personal initiative, you will fall behind. Nothing will be GIVEN to you.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Some strain and tension possible now, so do not overtax yourself to the point of fatigue. Do your best where duties are concerned, of course, but don't assume unnecessary burdens.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Where the obvious means to success are skimpy, you can now figure out preferable, more feasible ones. But have patience, be vigilant, precise. Watch trends.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

You may face some complex situations, some unexpected obstacles, so anticipate them — but with composure and preparedness, not anxiety.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Here is a spot for you to outpoint those who are careless or do not reckon with contingencies. A great day to display your innate ingenuity!

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Not too much planetary help, but the alert, active persons can always manipulate an "off" day into one of sound usefulness, even if in an unexpected manner.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

You may overreach your mark now through overanxiety or miscalculation. Recall how you waded through complex days before, and be guided by experience.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Jupiter's beneficent aspect especially favors research, scientific interests, organizational matters, finances. You may get some good ideas from others.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

A day which calls for strong discrimination. Don't waste time on nonessentials while you neglect vital matters.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

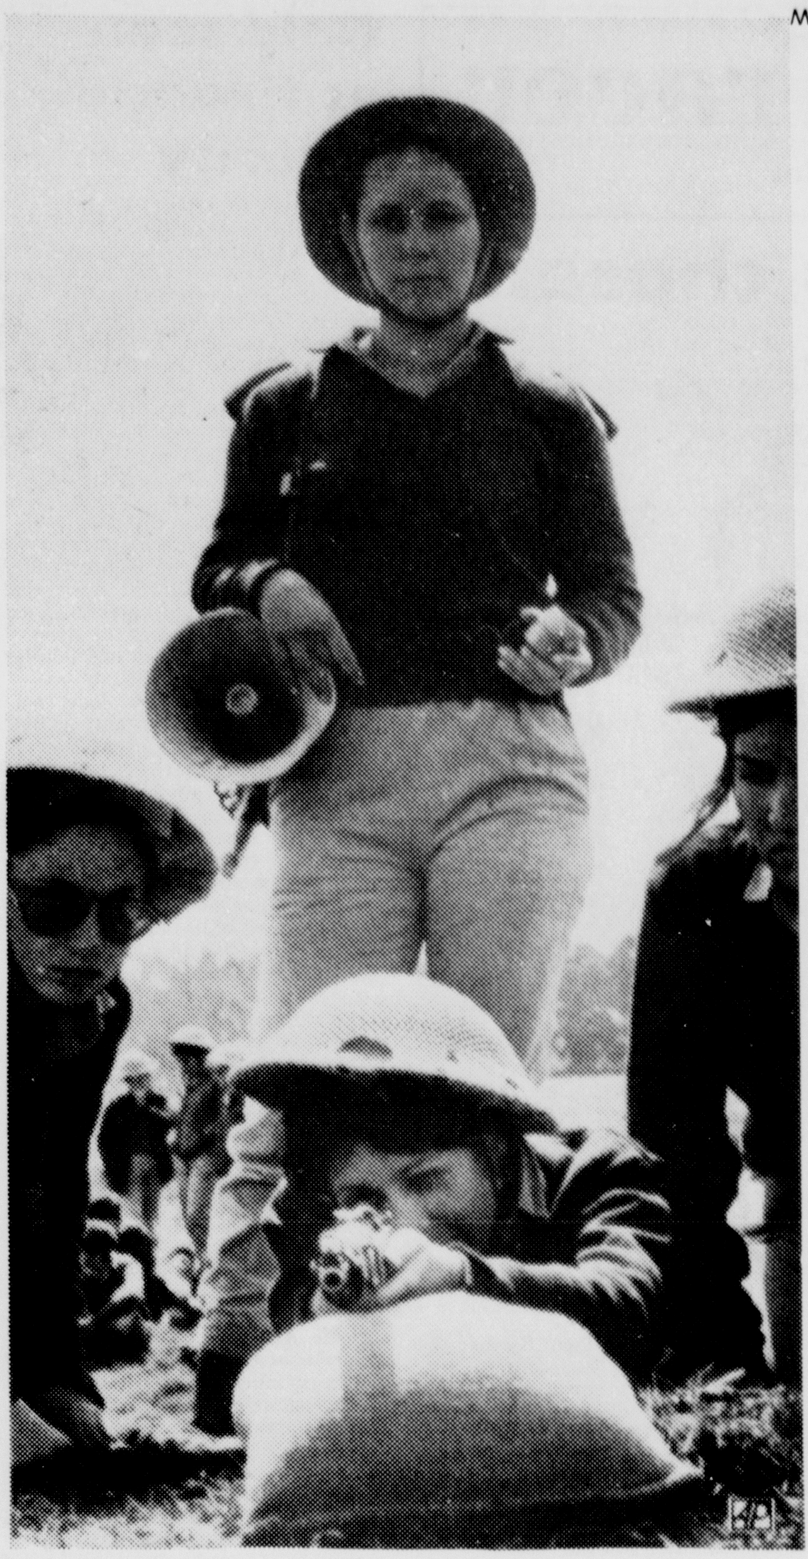

Avoid tendencies toward restlessness, indecision. Protect yourself and others against dubious schemes, deceiving appearances and lack of restraint.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

A mixed sort of day. You are in the middle of changing situations, some controversy, some very interesting opportunities. Work matters out with your usual foresight.

YOU BORN TODAY are highly ingenious, adaptable, gregarious by nature and creative in your leanings. You have a wealth of telents but may be too impulsive at times, or so restless that you drop projects without giving them time to prove themselves. Your imagination is vivid and you put a touch of originality and finesse to whatever you do. While you are just as creatively inclined as other Geminians and could make as envirable a success in the worlds of literature, music, the theater or decorating, you, unlike many, have an unusually good business head and are something of a wizard at finances. While you are a good planner, many of your greatest successes are the result of "brainstorms," which can be truly brilliant. The word expects much of the Geminian — and he expects much of himself.

Steel market said tightest in years throughout world

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The steel market is the tightest it has been in years, both in this country and throughout the world, Industry Week magazine said Monday.

"Domestic steel producers admit the situation is tight, but they maintain that most regular customers are getting enough steel for near-normal operations," the magazine said.

"Unfortunately, some of the customers don't agree. In fact, a few argue that the way some domestic mills are handling this market will hurt the industry in the long run."

Industry Week said steel shipments by U.S. mills are expected to average one million net tons a month less the second half of this year than during the first half.

This is not because of reduced demand "but because that's all mills will be able to produce," it added.

The magazine said first-half shipments will average 9.3 million tons a month, giving the first six months of the year a record of about 56 million tons.

"Only by drawing upon their own inventories have mills been able to ship an average of 9.3 million tons monthly in the first half, but the inventories are about exhausted," Industry Week said.

It said there is no slackening in the heavy demand for products such as sheets, strip, bars and rods and there is an increasing demand for plates and structural shapes, although structurals haven't caught up with plates.

The magazine estimated raw steel production last week at 3,007,000 net tons compared with the 3,010,000 tons produced in the preceding week.

Prices of scrap continue to climb. Industry Week's prices composite on No. 1 heavy melting steelmaking scrap rose to $53.33 per gross ton last week from the preceding week's $52.83.

Catholics to review learning approaches

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Catholic leaders voted Sunday at the fifth annual assembly of the Cincinnati Archdiocesan Council of the Laity to explore new approaches to Catholic education.

"We're going to have to sell the advantages of Catholic education," said James Bockelman, director of the 300-delegate assembly's membership.

Catholics must create public interest "so that I could come and say 'as a non-Catholic I will support your schools.'"

MTHS cheerleaders chosen

By BARBARA MARVIN

Sixteen girls were chosen recently to represent Miami Trace High School as cheerleaders for the 1973-74 sports seasons. They were judged on the basis of character, leadership, appearance, personality, voice, execution of cheer, jump, teamwork, personal reaction, and acrobatic ability.

Judges of the contest were Mr. Jack Brown, Mr. Paul Grim, Mr. Curtis Fleisher, Mr. Delmar Mowery, Mrs. Sandra Sowash, Mrs. Beverly Walters, Mr. Jeffrey Evans, Jo Lynn LeBeau, Kathy Woodfork, Carol Justice, Lynette Anderson, and Toni McDonald.

Chosen as varsity cheerleaders were Jolene Rapp, Beanie Cross, Connie Hughes, Denise Lyons, Connie Stayrook, and Julie Blake.

Reserve cheerleaders are Tami Johnson, Tammy Walters, Debbie Cremeans, Rosemary Evans, and Vicki Patton.

Freshman cheerleaders are Bonnie Salyers, Terry Helsel, Christy Tarbutton, Debbie Persinger, and Kim Riley.

Auditions held for Folksingers

By DAWN SCHLICHTER

Auditions for the Miami Trace Folksingers for the 1973-74 school year were held recently. Mrs. Cinda Stinson, vocal director, and the present Folksinger officers — Bob Ford, Keith Earley, Jill Fetters, Paula Alkire, Vickie Lowe — were judges.

Each person auditioning was required to present a vocal solo, to sight read music, and to sing different series of notes (ear training).

The new members are Jim Arledge, Jeff Ruth, Bob Holloway, Don Davis, Lonnie King, Randy Reiber, Vernon Stanforth, Bud Mountcastle, Tim Keaton, Doug Joseph, Jim Woods, Connie Hughes, Denise Beoddy, Julie Persinger, Paula Welsh, Janet Blevins, Gretchen Krieger, Cindy Mountcastle, Pam Straley, Judy Whiting, and Brenda Garringer.

Alternates are Belinda Bonner, Denise Matthews, Tammy West, and Carman White. The new accompanist is Elise Hill, and the assistant is Ann Campbell.

Each year the Folksingers appear at many civic and community functions and have sung several times at the Ohio Theater in Columbus.

Members of girls cage squad feted

By BARBARA MARVIN

Mrs. Sandra Sowash, physical education teacher and advisor of the Girls' Athletic Association at Miami Trace, was the hostess for a party given for the girls who participated in the softball team.

Thirty people attended the cook-out, held at Mrs. Sowash's home. For recreation the girls played softball.

AWARDS WERE presented to outstanding members of the team. Receiving the awards were Becky Hoppess for most valuable player, Pam Matson for best fielding, and Pam Henry for best batter.

Graduating seniors on the team are Becky Hoppess, Pam Robinson, and Tonda Souther. The team finished the season with a fine 5-2 record.

Members of the squad were Diane Blessing, Sue Conner, Rosemary Evans, Sally Gaylord, Pam Henry, Becky Hoppess, Tammi Johnson, Debbie Morarity, Pam Matson, Toni Morris, Vicki Overly, Rosemary Payton, Pam Robinson, Terri Russell, Tonda Souther, and Jill Wilcox.

NHS selects new officers

By LORA BROOKS

Recently the new members of the Miami Trace Chapter of the National Honor Society held their first meeting with 14 people present. The main goal set for the coming year was to do better than the outgoing graduates of 1973.

Nex came election of officers. Gary Cobb was chosen president; Scott Jenks, vice president; Julie Frost, secretary; and Marianne Arnold, treasurer.

The National Honor Society pins were distributed to the new members, and the advisor, Mr. Fred Doyle, requested that they be worn until the end of the year.

A short meeting of the new officers was held afterward.

Gold seen as financial security

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Through the years, gold seems to have held mankind in a trance. Once, it was worshiped as having come from the sun, or the heavens. Today it is worshiped by many as the only real financial security.

Because of this, the twice-devalued dollar is in trouble again. Dollars are being sold for gold; so, following the law of supply and demand, the dollar's price is being pressed down; the price of gold, pushed up.

Last week, it reached a price of more than $120 an ounce, up 25 per cent in just a month, as financial assets that were maintained in dollars were switched into gold. And, because of inflation, a lot of dollars are floating around.

Why this should be done isn't altogether explainable, but nothing about gold and its adherents ever is.

For example, there is plenty of evidence that gold buyers are speculating on an increased role for gold in the monetary system of the future, even though its relationship to currencies is officially severed. There are those who cannot believe that man can rid himself of ties to gold, and they may be right. Gold as a medium of exchange may be considered primitive, but it remains universally acceptable.

The current interpretation of the rising gold price is that the United States' economy continues to suffer from inflation, notwithstanding promises from Washington about the future. And the country still imports more than it exports.

This is bad news for those who traditionally have held dollars for security. All over the world, the dollar was thought to be the safest, untainted by the erosion that ruined other currencies.

But dollar erosion today is very serious. And gold never erodes. No government or industry or institution can do anything to diminish the amount of gold somebody has cached away. And it is almost impervious to nature.

Talk among economists now is of an upcoming recession following the current boom. William McChesney Martin Jr., former head of the Federal Reserve Board, is among the latest to express this opinion.

Moreover, Martin fed additional fears with his statement to the Senate Finance Committee that "the nation is floating on a sea of debt" and that he was worried about the banking system.

Martin is highly respected in world monetary and financial circles, and his comments are bound to be used abroad as reinforcement of their own concerns. And among those concerns about America is its current government.

In the view of some Europeans, President Nixon's ability to govern has been impaired seriously at the very time that the price and payments balance situations need close supervision from Washington.

And so they switch to gold, hoping that somehow the new international monetary order or growing industrial demand will continue to push up its price. It might not pay any interest, they know, but they feel safe with it. Man always has.

Air Force Academy officer pays visit to WCH schools

Lt. Col. George Bernhard, USAFR, liason officer to Fayette County for the U.S. Air Force Academy near Colorado Springs, Colo., recently visited Washington Senior High School to award a certificate of appointment to the Air Force Academy to graduate John Michael Domenico. Domenico has decided to attend Miami University instead of accepting the Academy appointment.

Col. Bernhard also visited Washington Junior High School where he spoke with guidance counselor Maurice Pfeifer, and made plans to present a slide and movie program about the academy next fall.

Col. Bernhard is offering to assist students in planning their high school courses and extracurricular activities so that they can improve their chances to qualify on the Air Force Academy entrance exams. He said mathematics and English are important to provide a background for the college testing programs. The Academy requires that candidates take either the College Admissions Testing Program or the American College Testing Program examinations.

He urged students to take the tests during their junior year in high school. By determining strong and weak points, the student can score higher when he takes the tests again during the senior year, Col. Bernhard said.

Col. Bernhard is available to talk with high school students and their parents about the Air Force Academy. He may be contacted at 750 S. High St., Columbus.

AMA chief sees medical advances

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— The outgoing president of the American Medical Association (AMA) said Sunday the wheels are in motion for a major technical advances in medical care.

Dr. Charles Hoffman said the changes will come without financial assistance from the government.

"Satellite clinics are taking basic care and attention to the most remote and neglected areas," he told graduates of the University of Cincinnati College of Medicine at commencement ceremonies.

Young couples, old furniture set for future weddings

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—Ask Bruce Trimble, Renee McGee, Liz Turner and Scott Diehl what they are doing in an old barn with old furniture, and they would probably answer that they are getting an early start in furnishing their future homes.

All are students at Washburn University in Kansas. Renee and Bruce plan to marry in June and Liz and Scott plan a July 21 wedding. The four newlyweds-to-be won't have one headache to contend with when they get married: they won't have to go furniture hunting. They already have theirs. Househunting is another matter.

But in the furniture department, both couples like antiques and have been getting pieces here and there for nearly a year, storing them away in a rented barn on the west edge of Topeka.

"Antiques are both cheaper in the first place and cheaper in the long run," said Bruce. "This stuff is built so much better and sturdier than new furniture."

"I guess you could call our period Early American Attic," Renee added.

Both couples feel that they will appreciate the furniture more because of the work they have put into them. On weekends they usually drive out to the barn and spend time varnishing, sanding and antiquing.

Liz had the good fortune to find four matched maple chairs. A former coworker was getting ready to throw them away, but Liz managed to intercept them.

"I told her we were looking for old furniture and she sold them to us for practically nothing. They were all black, painted and really looked pretty bad, but matched chairs are hard to find. We took a chance and now I'm really glad we did," she said.

While most newlyweds might have the problem of not having enough furniture, the Trimble's and the Diehl's look as if they will have too much.

"Well, maybe we should hang onto the barn," Renee said.

Libertarian party schedules convention

Scot's Inn companies ask merger

COLUMBUS — George E. Blackmore, formerly of Washington C.H., president of Scot's Inn Land Co., and Jack D. Brown, president of Scot's Inn Management Co., have announced an agreement for the merger of their two companies.

If approved by their respective directors and shareholders, the two companies will be merged into Scot's Inn International, Inc., a Delaware corporation.

Scot's Inn Management Co. and Scot's Inn Land Co. are Ohio corporations, with securities held by the general public. An appraisal of the two companies to establish a value of their respective shares was made by The American Appraisal Co., Inc. of Milwaukee, Wis., as of Feb. 28, 1973, they said.

The appraisal valued each outstanding Class A common share of Scot's Inn Land Co. at $4.10, each Class B common share at $2.10, and each common share of Scot's Inn Management Co. at $4.21.

On the basis of these values, the agreement provides that shareholders of Scot's Inn Land Co. will receive 1 1-10 shares of Scot's Inn International, Inc. Class A stock for each Class A common share held and one share of Class B stock for each Class B common share held. For each outstanding common share of Scot's Inn Management Company, shareholders will receive one share of Class A stock and ¼ share of Class B stock of Scot's Inn International, Inc.

An application for a hearing before the Ohio Division of Securities was filed on May 31.

Rocket misfires in Irish action

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Terrorists fired a rocket at Belfast Airport but it misfired, struck a security fence and failed to explode, authorities said.

Mobs of men and youths threw stones and bombs at British patrols and an army post in Londonderry, but were driven off Sunday night with rubber bullets. No casualties were reported.

Earlier, two youths opened up with submachine guns in a Belfast house, killing a Protestant man and woman and seriously injuring a Protestant woman companion said to associate with Roman Catholics.

RECEIVES DEGREE — Judge Evelyn W. Coffman of Fayette County Common Pleas Court receives the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Bob Jones University. Shown with her are Dr. Bob Jones, chancellor of the university, and Dr. Bob Jones III, university president.

Bob Jones University honors Judge Coffman

An honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was presented to Fayette County Common Pleas Court Judge Evelyn W. Coffman at convocation exercises May 30 at Bob Jones University, Greenville, S.C.

Dr. Coffman and her husband, Dwight, make their home at 700 Van Deman Ave., Washington C.H. Their son, Tom, was one of 500 who received degrees at the graduation exercises.

Judge Coffman took her pre-law training at the University of Cincinnati and received the juris doctor's degree from Salmon P. Chase College of Law in 1942. She practiced law in Cincinnati for several years.

For more than 10 years she has held her present position and is one of only two women in Ohio to serve as judge of a Common Pleas Court. She holds membership in the American Bar Association, Ohio State Bar Association, Fayette County Bar Association, Ohio Judicial Conference, and numerous other professional and civic organizations. She serves on the BJU Board of Trustees.

Dr. Coffman is an active member of the Fayette Bible Church and teaches a class of teenagers.

Mrs. Shoop on panel for AAA convention

Mrs. Mary Belle Shoop, manager of the Fayette County Auto Club, has been named to the rules committee for the 67th annual convention of the Ohio AAA Association, the state association for 54 affiliated Ohio auto clubs.

The two-day business session will be attended by more than 150 delegates June 28-29 in Akron. Travel, no-fault insurance, "DWI Counterattack" and the gasoline shortage are among the topics on the agenda. Delegates will take action of resolutions affecting OAAA policy and will elect officers and directors.

Tire blows out; 2 men injured

A tire blowout was blamed by sheriff's deputies for a single car crash on U.S. 35 Sunday afternoon which sent two Jackson men to Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Only five traffic accidents were investigated in the city county area over the weekend.

Gregory L. Hill, 22, Jackson, was treated at Memorial Hospital for scalp and forehead lacerations when the right front tire on the car he was driving blew out. A passenger, Dessie Mullins, 18, Jackson, was treated for abrasions and contusions.

Sheriff's deputies said the Hill car was headed southwest on U.S. 35, about three miles north of Washington C.H. when the accident occurred. The 1965 model auto ran off the right side of the highway and through a fence on the Roger B. McCoy farm. It overturned on its side in a cornfield.

Officers said the car was demolished.

Other mishaps were:

Personnel matters to top county school board slate

A number of personnel matters will top the agenda for members of the Fayette County Board of Education at the regular semi-monthly meeting which will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday at New Holland Elementary School.

Superintendent Guy M. Foster said board members will consider the resignations of four teachers and a janitor-bus driver, offer supplemental contracts for head teachers and coaching positions, employ five new teachers and hear a request from a teacher concerning a leave of absence.

In addition, the board will make formal application for Title I and DPPF funds for the 1973-74 school year, approve social studies textbooks for seventh graders, review a meeting of the school study committee of the Miami Trace School District, and hear a report concerning Title I and Title II inspections held recently.

The board also will take a look at the summer maintenance program, hear a report from the district's lunchroom supervisor, consider a tuition request, review bills currently before the state legislature and consider requests from teachers to attend professional meetings.

New tests could predict cave-ins

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Bureau of Mines is developing a geologic technique that may allow mapping of areas of potential roof-fall danger in coal mines, one of the leading causes of death in underground shafts.

A dozen geologic variables contribute to roof falls, the bureau said, with certain combinations of those variables making roof falls more likely.

In testing the technique experimentally in a coal mining area on the West Virginia-Pennsylvania border, the bureau was able to outline areas of potentially dangerous mine roof, and to rate the degree of danger.

The study was made by charting the structure, contour, thickness and physical type of the rock layers of the coal seam.

The miscroscope was invented in 1590 by Zacharias Janssen, Dutch spectacle maker.

SOUTH EUCLID—Judith L. Reynolds, 24, Willoughby Hills, in a two-car collision at Monticello Boulevard and Trebisky Road in Cuyahoga County.

TOLEDO—George Reyman, 25, Erie, Mich., when his motorcycle collided with another motorcycle on a downtown Toledo street.

John Wayne sticks up for Nixon

SEATTLE (AP) — Actor John Wayne, a longtime supporter of President Nixon, says the Watergate bugging was a "panty raid by underlings who enjoy playing cloak and dagger."

In an interview Sunday with the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Wayne said Nixon was being blamed unfairly for the bugging incident and subsequent coverup attempts.

Referring to two of the White House aides who have resigned as a result of Watergate, the 66-year-old actor said:

"I don't personally know his associates, (John) Ehrlichman and (H.R.) Haldeman. From what I've heard, they were pretty arrogant fellows. They haven't helped the President much.

"But too often the press and Congress just haven't praised Mr. Nixon enough for the good he has done."

Appearing in Seattle for the filming of a movie, Wayne said the President had ended the Vietnam war and "done all of the things the other men said they would do if elected."

"But because of a damned panty raid by underlings who enjoy playing cloak and dagger, his magnificent record of accomplishment has been tarnished," the veteran actor said.

The adhesive postage stamp was invented by James Chalmers, a Scottish bookseller.

Ohio Senate schedules vote on tax relief for farmers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Farmers will get a property tax break if a proposed constitutional amendment is passed the Ohio Senate and approved by voters.

The measure, which gives the legislature the authority to pass laws putting farm property in a lower tax classification, comes up for a floor vote Wednesday in the Ohio Senate.

Now the state constitution requires all real property in the state be taxed on the amount if would bring if sold.

The amendment proposes the legislature set tax rates on the basis of the property's use. Farmers whose land value has soared would be the main beneficiaries.

Rep. John E. Johnson, D-68 Orville, is the main House sponsor of the proposal. The measure, which cleared the House in February, has 44 co-sponsors.

Johnson tried to get the proposal on the May 8 primary ballot, but was unable to meet the 90-day deadline. The sponsors noted the measure could not affect this year's tax bill anyway, so the November election would be early enough.

Representatives of country clubs, golf courses and others in the recreation business sought to have the legislature include their property in the special class.

James H. Glass, president of the League of Ohio Sportsmen, said last week that "general recreational uses cannot compete on a dollar basis with potential agricultural uses, let alone residential or industrial uses which someone might conceive that the land could be used for."

The league issued a statement asking Senate approval of the amendment and putting it up to a vote by the public.

German solon worked as double agent

BONN, Germany (AP) — The Interior Ministry confirmed Sunday that an obscure former opposition party legislator had worked as a double agent, but denied that government members knew of his activities.

Julius Steiner, a Christian Democratic Union lawmaker until elections last November, declared he spied on his own party for East Germany in return for $900 a week and a generous expense account.

The affair broke Friday when several newspapers published unconfirmed reports that members or influential sympathizers of Chancellor Willy Brandt's Social Democratic party paid two opposition legislators to abstain from voting on a crucial motion of no confidence against the government.

In the secret balloting, which took place in April 1972, Rainer Barzel, then opposition floor leader, sought to topple the Brandt government and replace him as chancellor, but fell two votes short.

Steiner said in an interview with the news magazine Der Spiegel that he was one of the two opposition members who abstained, but he denied being bribed. He said he abstained because Barzel would have been a "national catastrophe" as chancellor.

Some observers noted that Communist East Germany could at that time have had an interest in keeping the Brandt government in power and that Steiner had been approached by East German agents six days before the crucial vote with a request to spy on his own party.

Common Market opens trade talks

LUXEMBOURGH (AP) — Common Market foreign ministers began meeting here today to try to unify their policies for the "Nixon round" of trade talks beginning this fall.

Prospects for early, clear-cut progress are nil. But the ministers hope to find out if the members want to work out a common stand before mid-September when the world's major industrial non-Communist countries begin trade talks in Tokyo.

The French have taken a comparatively firm stand toward future trade negotiations, while other market members favor greater flexibility.

Graham ends Korea crusade

SEOUL (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham ended a five-day crusade in South Korea by preaching to what he said was the largest audience of his 33-year ministry.

Korean organizers of the crusade said a million people were on hand Sunday to hear Graham's final sermon and said total attendance for the crusade was three million. Korean police estimated the audience at 500,000, still a record.

The crowd caused North Korea to charge the Seoul government with "forcibly mobilizing large crowds to stage a superstitious play in concert with American missionaries."

Graham and South Korean crusade officials denied there had been any pressure from the South Korean government, and Graham said Communist attempts to discredit his work were "nothing new."

The government of President Chung Hee Park, who is a Christian, did provide full support for the crusade.

Ohio pen is dehumanizing, say make-believe prisoners

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The "Conferees," 140 make-believe prisoners, ended a three-day session behind bars at the Ohio Penitentiary Sunday pledging to abolish dehumanizing conditions in the state's penal system.

The group of judges, legislators, correction officials, policemen, lawyers, journalists, interested citizens and 20 real inmates who remained imprisoned, volunteered to be jailed. They said they hoped their experience would help solve inmate problems, such as those which recently triggered a strike at the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility near Lucasville.

In a resolution, the group agreed, "Our three days behind bars have taught us how easy it is for potentially serious problems to arise from aggravated grievances of men and women in confinement.

The "jail-in" began Friday when Columbus police arrested, handcuffed, frisked and paddywagoned the volunteers to the penitentiary.

The "criminals" were processed as inmates at the prison, frisked of all valuables and identification, fingerprinted, photographed and issued prison garments.

They were led around the prison triple-file by actual guards participating in the seminar. For two nights they were locked inside a six-tier cell block, two or three to a room with an uncovered toilet and cold running water.

The volunteers ate in the prison kitchen without knives or napkins and little talking. They were counted after each meal and before lights out.

Sunday the group decided to reject an initial list of Ohio penal system reforms it had drafted in favor of creating a small citizens group to draw up specific changes.

Included among the reforms on the draft list were:

—Confinement conditions must meet basic standards of humanity, decency and equity. This includes upgrading medical and legal services, more education, ending racism, increasing inmate wages and beginning conjugal visitation.

—Jailing be limited to dangerous persons convicted of violent crimes and to repeat criminals. Others should be returned to rehabilitative community placements.

Community Education panel meets

The committee for Community Education met Saturday in the Junior High School cafeteria to hear subcommittee reports on progress in the steps that must be taken to organize a community education program here.

The committee, chaired by Kaye F. Bartlett, heard reports from John Gruber on programming, facilities and scheduling; Robert Lutz on purpose and administration, and Richard Whiteside on directorship and finances. During the next two weeks, Bartlett and a representative from each subcommittee will produce a composite draft to be submitted to the entire committee for approval.

Bartlett announced that Dr. Sam Lucas, specialist in continuing education at Ball State University, will be available to come here June 11-12, and speak to the committee as well as some of the local organizations, including the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs. Details of the schedule are still to be worked out and will be announced at a later date.

Subdivision hearing

A public hearing on new subdivision regulations will be conducted by the City Planning Commission at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the conference room of the city offices.

Dayton made the first commercial air freight shipment — five bolts of silk to Columbus on Nov. 7, 1910, at a cost of $5,000.

Shirley Chisholm plans new career

By EVE SHARBUTT
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — For most congressmen, politics is life. Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y., thinks there's a lot more to living than that.

So she won't be spending the rest of her life in politics.

"There are just too many other things I want to do," said the Brooklyn congresswoman and unsuccessful candidate for president.

"One of those things is establishing a politicial institute that would teach young people about politics. I've overcome many obstacles, and I'd like to share with young people some of the ways they can succeed," she said.

"All my life, I've worked within the system's organized groups, taking around petitions and filling in for speakers. I labored in the vineyards for 15 years before I ran for Congress and I've been able to assess the weaknesses and strengths of many of my opponents.

"I can explain to young people that they must work in the system. They can't just tilt at windmills," Mrs. Chisholm said.

ANOTHER of the plans Mrs. Chisholm has for the future includes writing. She enjoys it. A new book, "The Good Fight," details some of the triumphs and minor disasters of her presidential campaign.

"When it was all over, we could look back and wonder what else I might have done. Well," she mused, "I know now that if I had had money, anything might have happened. I was telling the people what they needed to hear."

If she had it to do over, the congresswoman would still campaign for the presidency. She says that because she stayed through to the end women, blacks and other minority candidates will now be taken seriously in future campaigns.

"That was a problem at first. Many people did not realize I was a serious candidate. They believed I was, as other candidates said, 'on an ego trip.' But in the end, they realized there was something to what I was saying," Mrs. Chisholm added.

THE CONGRESSWOMAN says people who see her battling for things that matter may think of her as an angry person. She says she doesn't thrive in a public role.

"I'm a private person. I don't go in for a lot of hoopla. Personally, I'm very happy. I've been happily married to the same man for 24 years. His ego must be intact because he's secure in his own right. He comes from a political family although he doesn't care for politics. He says so long as the people want you, fine, but he also asks if I want to make it my life. I've decided I do not."

She added that she could never make the presidential race again despite her widespread support because of the mental and physical anguish involved.

Her next project is trying to save the Office of Economic Opportunity, and she views it as extraordinarily important.

"A subcommittee is holding hearings to get people to tell us how poverty programs should be changed, detailing the weaknesses and strengths of each program. I know there are weaknesses, but I don't believe we should throw the baby out with the bath water," she said.

"The President, in abolishing OEO, doesn't seem to understand it will cause acceleration of public assistance rolls," she added.

A LONG TIME concern of Rep. Chisholm has been day care, which is also involved in the OEO cuts. She believes a national day care system would alleviate the tax burden on the middle class of supporting public assistance.

"A woman who brings her child to a day care center is able to work and pay her just share of taxes. Women will tell you straight, 'Look, I want to work. But I don't want to leave my child in a parking lot. I want him to be able to learn.'

Congress misunderstands day care. They think you can leave kids with old ladies or somebody in the neighborhood. I'm educating them, but it's slow work. They don't understand that day care is a professional field," Mrs. Chisholm said.

SHE ALSO feels Congress isn't representative of real people.

"We need more teachers in Congress, and fewer lawyers," she added.

A perfect size 7-8, the Congresswoman says she does all her clothes shopping by mail order. She has no time to haunt exclusive stores, and wouldn't anyway, because people recognize her and stop to talk or get her autograph.

"I tried disguises, a wig and sloppy old clothes," she said, "but it didn't work. People still wanted to talk."

"Phone the office and ask whether they'd rather have a punctual employe or an alert, energetic, cheerful one."

State minimum wage may be set at $1.60

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More than 1.5 million private and public employes will receive $1.60 an hour if a new minimum wage proposal is approved.

Ohio House Democrats say they have reached tentative agreement with business and labor on the proposal, which also has the support of Gov. John Gilligan's administration.

PRUNE ENERGY DIET

THE SUCCESSFUL DIET FOR ACTIVE PEOPLE

LOS ANGELES (Special) — One of the most important key health foods known to man, neglected and overlooked by all but a small percentage who know the Hi-Energy value of prunes in their daily lives. Heavy abundance of Vitamin for quick energy. 100% digestible for all ages. This diet plan works wonders for men, women, children without pills, drugs or exercise.

Prunes give quick vital energy which is crucial in any diet. No tired, dragged-out feeling as with other diets.

Those who follow the simple plan exactly as directed, report an important loss within the 1st 10 days. Starting from the day they begin the diet. There is usually no weight loss for the first 4 days, but suddenly on the 5th day you can expect a substantial drop in weight and then a steady noticeable drop every few days until proper weight is obtained.

Eat Almost All You Want

Better yet, you can still eat almost as much as you want of foods like steak, chicken, lobster. And you will continue to lose weight. Full money back guarantee.

The use of prunes as prescribed by the plan, will, through natural action, act to help your body keep a balance thru the entire time you are losing weight while on your diet plan, allowing you to keep your weight down and figure in firm control.

TONY PEREZ

Promise fulfilled

Tony Perez's slam seals Cincy's win

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Tony Perez of the Cincinnati Reds made a prophecy to his teammate Clay "Hawk" Carroll as they left Three Rivers Stadium Saturday following a loss to the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"Hawk, tomorrow it's going to be me and you," Perez declared.

That premonition was fulfilled Sunday when Perez belted a grand slam home run and Carroll overcame a pulled leg muscle to pitch the Reds to a 5-1 win over Pittsburgh, halting the Pirates win streak at six games.

"We'd been losing and somebody had to pick up the team," said Perez. "...I just had the feeling we'd be the ones to do it."

Carroll didn't get off to a very promising state as the Pirates loaded the bases with one out in the second inning on a single hit by Bob Robertson, a double by MilthMay and an intentional wak.

Carroll pitched out of the jam by retiring the next two batters, but he strained a previously injured thigh muscle in the process.

He told manager Sparky Anderson about it after hobbling to the dugout, but Anderson couldn't afford to be sympathetic.

Anderson's pitching staff has been riddled with injuries in recent weeks and he had no longinning relievers available in his overworked bullpen.

"I had nobody for him, so I told him, "Hawk, old boy, you're it,'" said Anderson. "He would really have had to get clobbered before I'd have taken him out.

"I'm usually conscious about any of my pitchers having any little thing wrong," Anderson added, "But not today."

Carroll lasted 8 2-3 innings before bowing to relief help from Pedro Borbon in the ninth after the Pirates scored their only run on singles by Robertson, Gene Alley and Fernando Gonzalez.

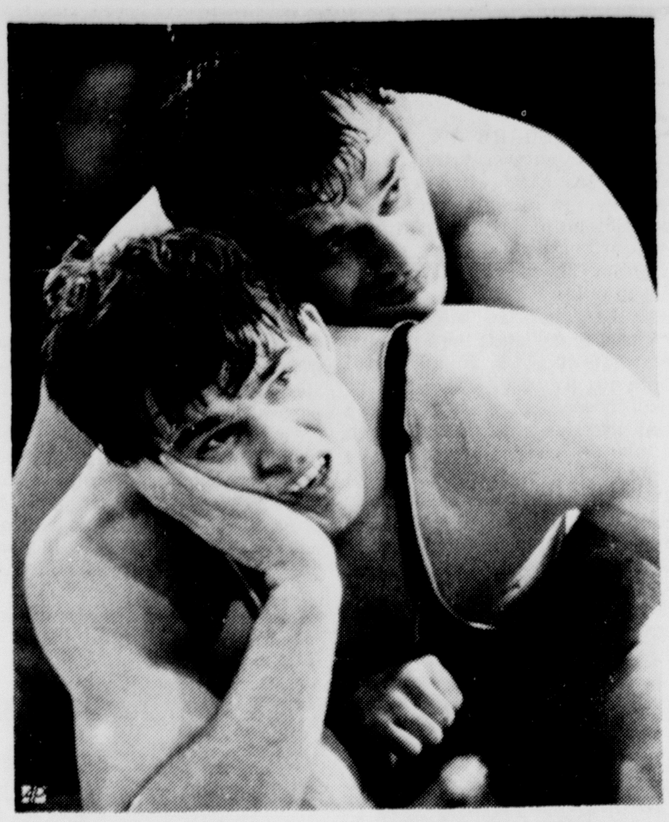

"I have great respect for the Pirates, but I'm kind of surprised they didn't bunt me to death," Carroll said. "I just couldn't run at all."

Elsewhere, the San Francisco Giants used two-run homers by Dave Rader and Garry Maddox in the ninth inning to nip the Philadelphia Phillies 5-4, the Montreal Expos beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-1, the Chicago Cubs blanked the Atlanta Braves 3-0, the St. Louis Cardinals edged the Houston Astros 2-1 in 10 innings and the New York Mets trounced the San Diego Padres 9-2.

Philadelphia's Ken Brett coasted into the ninth inning with a 4-1 lead over the Giants but gave up a single to Dave Kingman and a home run to Rader and departed.

Hal Breeden drew a bases-loaded walk from Al Downing in the eighth inning to snap a tie and Clyde Mashore hit a two-run homer off Tommy John in the ninth, helping the Expos drop the Dodgers 2½ games behind the Giants in the NL West.

Pitcher Milt Pappas snapped a scoreless tie with his 20th career home run in the sixth inning and hurled seven shutout frames before giving way to Bob Locker, who protected the Cubs' victory over the Braves.

Colonial Stair team pumps overall mark

The Colonial Stair slo-pitch softball team pumped its all-games record to a nifty 23-6 level by capturing third place in the Hillsboro Merchants tournament this weekend in Hillsboro.

Steve Sword cracked 11 hits in 18 trips to the plate for a neat .611 average to lead manager Gene Fout's team to four wins in the tournament. Steve Dawson had eight hits in 15 appearances at the plate for a .533 clip and Rick Bell hit .529.

Uhl's IGA captures Class B tournament

Uhl's IGA, of Greenfield, captured honors in the Class B slo-pitch tournament held this weekend at Washington C.H.'s Eyman Park.

Teams from the Fayette County Softball Association fared well as Bell-Dor-Lite placed second, followed by Robertson Fence Co., of Mount Sterling, and the Sabina Moose Lodge.

Cincinnati Elder claims state AAA baseball title

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Elder celebrated its golden anniversary in championship style.

The Panthers posted a 9-0-1 football record, a 22-4 basketball mark that included a state basketball tournament title and climaxed the school year with a 27-1 mark in baseball accompanied by an eighth state crown in that sport.

Elder stashed away the Ohio Class AAA baseball title with a 7-1 verdict over Cleveland Glenville Saturday in the finals at Ohio State University.

The Class AA and A baseball kings are St. Paris Graham and Portsmouth East.

St. Paris Graham, which won a state title in 1930 as St. Paris, beat Beloit West Branch 5-1 behind Tim West's two-hitter for the Class AA honors.

Portsmouth East, winding up an 18-0 campaign, beat Adena Buckeye West 5-3 in Class A with the benefit of three errors, three wild pitches, one passed ball and one balk.

Elder broke loose for seven runs in the fifth inning, five of them unearned, and sent 11 men to bat in the explosion. It wiped out a 1-0 Glenville lead built on Terry Jones' homer in the fourth.

The victory deprived Glenville of becoming the first school since Columbus Central in 1929 to win state track and baseball championships in the same spring.

For Graham, 20-3, Gary Kite singled, tripled, stole a base and scored two runs in the first three innings before he was banished for unsportsmanlike conduct.

Home plate umpire Ed Conaway charged Kite used his forearms on West Branch catcher Ronn McNeely in a play at home.

Second baseman Gary Coriell went five-for-six in the two state tournament games for Portsmouth East, including three hits in the title game.

Blue stops Red Sox, 12-1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Vida Blue may be the fastest pitcher in baseball, but he won't win any races. You could ask teammate Mike Hegan about that.

Blue's pitching speed helped the Oakland A's to a 12-1 laugher over the Boston Red Sox. But it was his running speed— or better still, lack of it—which ended prematurely Hegan's Major League record of errorless games for first basemen at 178.

Carl Yastrzemski was batting for Boston in the bottom of the eighth with a runner on first when he tapped a grounder to first. Hegan looked at second, saw he had no chance to force Carlton Fisk, and threw to Blue. But the 33-year-old Yastrzemski beat the 23-year-old Blue to the bag.

The official scorer ruled that Hegan had juggled the ball and credited the big first baseman with an error, his first in 179 games.

However, the unofficial scorers saw the play a little differently.

"I should have gotten the error," said Blue, who was obviously annoyed because he was late covering first.

Elsewhere in the American League, New York edged California 3-2; Detroit slugged Minnesota 8-2; Kansas City overcame Cleveland 5-4; Milwaukee whipped Chicago 7-1 and Baltimore topped Texas 7-1 in a game shortened by rain in the sixth inning.

Mickey Lolich, 5-5, who has lost two 1-0 games and two 2-1 games, spoiled Minnesota's Bat Day by stopping the Twins on seven hits for his third straight victory. The Yankees made a lot of people happy, treating a Bat Day crowd of 60,108 to a victory over California. Starting pitcher George Medich was coasting along with a five hitter and a 3-1 lead in the ninth when an error and a single cost him a complete game.

Milwaukee swept its three-game series with Chicago on Jerry Bell's three-hit pitching. "That was the best sinker I've had all year," said Bell, 5-6, who faced only 29 batters.

Kansas City came from behind with three runs in the ninth to nip the Indians. Amos Otis' two-run bases-loaded single was the margin of victory.

In the second inning in Texas, Bobby Grich singled home a run and Frank Baker added another to give Dave McNally, 5-6, all the batting support he needed to post the victory over the Rangers in a rain-shortened game.

Lion sprinter ends fine career

WCH's Storm captures title at Ohio Classic

MANSFIELD — Brian Storm, representing Washington C.H. for the final time of his career, emerged as the top sprinter in Ohio at the tenth annual Ohio Track Classic held Saturday at Mansfield Mallabar's 10-lane, all-weather track.

Storm, the Washington C.H. speedster who was voted the most outstanding Class AA athlete at the 66th annual Ohio high school track meet two weeks ago, topped competitors from all three classes in the 100-yard dash at the Ohio Classic.

Storm won the 100-yard dash in 9.7, the same time in which he won the event at the state track meet to match the meet record. He defeated a classy field of 12 participants in the 100-yard dash, including Dave Paul, of Brookville, and Otis Jenkins, of Lorain Clearview. Paul, who finished fifth, was second behind Storm in the state meet, while Jenkins, who placed second, was the Class A's most outstanding trackster in the state meeting.

SECOND-YEAR head coach John Armstrong also entered Storm in the 220-yard dash. He finished second in the 220 behind Al Mayfield, of Class AAA Sandusky, with a 22.0 clocking. Mayfield finished in 21.9.

The 22.0 clocking by Storm in the 220-yard dash established a new Washington C.H. school record, surpassing the mark he set with a winning performance in the state track meet.

Five meet records were broken during the Ohio Classic held under sunny skies and ideal weather conditions.

The meet, sponsored by the Ohio High School Track Coaches Association, attracted several hundred Ohio prep athletes. Tracksters participated in the meet on an invitation-only basis.

Terry Burris, of Columbus Whitehall, leaped six feet, seven and a half inches in the high jump event, breaking the mark of 6-7¼ set a year ago by Bob Francis, of Lorain Catholic.

Mike Fields, of Greenville, pole vaulted 15 feet, two inches, erasing the 1970 record of 15-1 set by Jeff Linta, of Mansfield Malabar. The Amherst Steele four-mile relay team bettered its own 1972 record time of 18:10.4 with an 18:01.9 effort.

Cleveland's John Marshall won the two-mile relay in 8:06.2, snapping Euclid's mark of 8:07.6 set last year. Jeff Jenkins was clocked in 40.3 seconds in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles and broke the old mark of 40.7 set last year by Rahn Thompson, of Wadsworth.

Dye, Johnson capture best ball tournament

The team of Douglas Dye and Paul Johnson captured top honors in the two-man team best ball tournament held Sunday at the Washington Country Club.

Dye and Johnson turned in a nine-under-par score of 63 to top the field of 46 golfers. Dye fired an actual score of 76 while Johnson carded an 80. Dye had an eight-stroke handicap and Johnson's handicap was 12.

The team of Donald Anderson and William Mount finished second with a 64 score, while Birch Rice and Carl Elberfeld were third in the 23-team field with a 65 score.

Syndicates were had by the teams of Gary Shaffer and Richard English, Dye and Johnson, Anderson and Mount, David Boswell and S. E. Vaughn and Dale Wade and Robert Miller.

THE RESULTS

Douglas Dye and Paul Johnson, 63; Donald Anderson and William Mount 64; Birch Rice and Carl Elberfeld 65; Robert Herron and Richard Wintringham 68; Jack Marti and Herb Sollars 69; Harris Willis and James Hanawalt 69; Dale Wade and Robert Miller 69; Tom Brude and Roger Miller 70; Dr. Robert Heiny and Larry DaRif 70; Hayward Johnson and James Conley 70; Jim Polk and Ben Wright 71; Dr. Charles Griffith and Dr. Robert Hagerty 71; Ed Vollette and Charles Cummings 72; James Vess and Roger Grimm 72; Mike Helfrich and Bill Hendren 72; Richard English and Gary Shaffer 73; Allen Willoughby and Phil Morrow 73; David Boswell and S. E. Vaughn 73; Ernie Stanforth and Irwin Reeves 73; Eugene Heath and Randy Schneider 74; Gary Thompson and Daryl Stewart 74; James Alkire and Harry Townsend 74, and George Walker and Bernard Eiselstein 75.

Foreman will defend title

TOKYO (AP) — Champion George Foreman of the United States will defend his world heavyweight boxing title against Joe "King" Roman of Puerto Rico in Tokyo Sept. 1 in a program of two championship fights, Muneo Mizoguchi, Japanese fight promoter, announced Monday.

Roman is ranked No. 10 heavyweight challenger by the World Boxing Council (WBC).

The second title match is to be between WBC junior lightweight champion Ricardo Arredondo of Mexico and Morito Kashiwaba of Japan, the WBC's sixth ranking contender.

Minnesota headed for NCAA series

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Minnesota's Golden Gophers, led by third baseman Tim Grice, advanced to the NCAA World Series in Omaha June 8-14 with a delayed 7-6 victory over Southern Illinois Sunday.

The two teams played to a 6-6 tie after 11 innings Saturday when rain forced delay of the game. Play was resumed from that point Sunday and Minnesota won it in 14 innings.

With Minnesota pitcher Dennis Allar on third base, Joe Comer hit a ground ball to Southern Illinois shortstop Stan Mann. Mann fired home to catcher Larry Calufetti but Allar leaped over Calufetti's attempted tag and knocked the ball out of his glove to score the winning run.

Federici to defend Ohio Seniors crown

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — James Federici of Findlay will seek his third straight title in the Ohio Seniors Golf Tournament Tuesday and Wednesday at Westbrook Country Club.

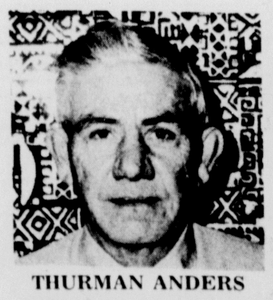

Post 25's season opener cancelled

The opening game of the summer season for Washington C.H.'s Post 25 American Legion baseball team was postponed Sunday afternoon after a former member of the Yellow Springs team, who was to drive the team here, was killed in a car accident Saturday night.

The Post 25 team, which was to open its schedule in a doubleheader with Yellow Springs Sunday, will entertain Chillicothe Post 757 in a South Central Ohio League game at 6 p.m. Wednesday at the WSHS diamond.

Joan McIntyre launched 'whale' of a campaign

CAMPAIGNER — Joan McIntyre wants to stop the slaughter of whales and study their communication instead.

By FRANKLIN DUNLAP

BOLINAS, Calif. (AP) — Margarine, lipstick, pet foods and shoe polish have one thing in common.

Joan McIntyre will tell you about it as her sea-gray eyes flash: "All of these products are made from whales, and all could be easily and cheaply made from other sources. The continued slaughtering of whales may be the ultimate nonsense of the modern world."

Mrs. McIntyre initiated a campaign to get women to stop wearing fur coats. Now she has created Project Jonah, an international, nonprofit society devoted to the protection of whales, dolphins and porpoises.

She had been special projects coordinator of Friends of the Earth, a major international conservation organization. "But early in 1972, I realized that it was important to focus on something.

"There was too much — the Alaska pipeline, the SST — and you find you are being directed by the system you oppose. Saving the whales was specific and clear, it was interesting and it could be done," she adds.

MRS. McINTYRE incorporated Project Jonah with no money at all, and the saving of the whales campaign has grown.

"I grew up with the California temperament," she says. "The right attitude is 'Go out and do it,' not, 'If I had the money.' "

She presented her ideas on the whales to the Stockholm Conference on the Human Envir nment, where she convinced the chairman to make the whale the symbol of the conference. She then convinced the United States to support a 10-year moratorium on commercial whaling.

In five months in Europe, she consulted virtually every authority on the subject and attended the International Whaling Commission meeting which voted down the moratorium six to five, with Canada abstaining.

But she is not dismayed. Since Mrs. McIntyre's efforts began, the United States has closed down its whaling industry and banned the import or use of ingredients of the eight species of whales on the endangered list. In December, Canada announced a ban on commercial whaling.

In her 30s, Mrs. McIntyre lives in this coastal town north of San Francisco with her 12-year-old son, Ian.

"I WAS NEVER basically a housewife," she says. "I was always into things that interested me. I was political at 13, into youth organizations, social causes, the A-bomb. I always saw my life as being involved with the world.

"I was not the lady studying at the university just long enough to get a husband. My life was never only my relationship to men. I weakened sometimes," she laughs, "but I have always been liberated. The women's lib movement did not change my attitude toward men, but toward women. It has given me their company."

With her luncheon sandwich, Joan drinks a bottle of mineral water, "because it has bubbles, and I am an extravagant person."

She once traded a sports car for a necklace of Red Sea fish symbols and a dolphin ring. "It was an old Doretti," she says, "but wonderful and elegant and I had a friend who wanted it. It seemed like a great idea. The necklace won't break down."

AND WHY WHALES? Joan feels that the whale, a mammal relative, has much to tell mankind.

Project Jonah has now begun a children's crusade through the United States, Canada and Western Europe enlisting the aid of school children to write letters, poems and draw pictures to be sent to Japan and Russia requesting their aid in saving the whales.

Letters may be sent to Project Jonah, P.O. Box 476, Bolinas, Calif., 94024.

Mrs. McIntyre says that the whales must be saved within three years or it will be too late. She wants to establish a center to study communication between whales.

"At the end of the moratorium, if we still want to kill whales for catfood I will have done all I can do. But it will be criminal," she adds, "if on the threshold of our knowledge of the intelligence of whales and dolphins, we stand by, just passive observers to their extinction."

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
3 NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening Lead-three of clubs.

Bridge is not like ticktacktoe, where the right play is automatic and there is no room for argument. Bridge is a far more complicated game and there is ample room for differences of opinion in both the bidding and play of the cards.

Consider this deal from last year's Vanderbilt team of four championship. At the first table, sitting East-West, were two world-famous experts — whose names are mercifully omitted — defending against South's opening three notrump bid.

West led his fourth-best club, won by the ace, and East returned the eight, his original fourth-best card. Declarer played the jack and West, after a long huddle, concluded that South had started with the J-10-9-7. He therefore ducked the jack in the hope of scoring three more club tricks later on.

But this proved to be a miscalculation on West's part when declarer reeled off the rest of the tricks to make six notrump. West contended strongly that East should have returned the ten, not the eight, but East was in no mood to accept the logic of this contention — in view of the outcome.

At the second table — where the East-West pair were not so famous and, in fact, were not famous at all — the defense worked like a charm.

Here, also, against an opening three notrump bid, a club was led to the ace and the eight was returned. West did not find the defense either difficult or complicated. He won the jack with the queen, continued with the king, and played still another club. So the contract went down two as West went on to the next deal without even looking around for applause.

Pockmarks Can Be Removed

I feel awful that my 4-year-old daughter has been left with two indentations after a recent bout with chicken pox.

She is so pretty, and I just hope they will disappear as her face gets bigger.

If not, can this be fixed?

Mrs. H. L., Pa.

Dear Mrs. L.:

The superficial pockmarks that are sometimes left after chicken pox undoubtedly tend to smooth out with time. Many of these facial scars and blemishes due to chicken pox, acne or injuries can now be removed or made less visible.

A technique known as dermabrasion is safely done with a high-speed rotary abrasive brush. After the skin is anesthetized, this "sand-papering" smooths the outer layers of the skin. When the healing follows and the scab falls off, a smooth surface replaces the slightly pitted area.

The method is highly successful. There is no need for you to be unduly concerned that your child will be scarred or marred.

I do a lot of gardening. More often than I like, I get a sharp pain in my eye if a leaf or a branch flicks past my eye.

What can be done about this?

Mr. E. W., N.J.

Dear Mr. W.:

My first thought, of course, is that you should wear protective goggles. The slight flick of a leaf or a branch can cause severe abrasion of the very delicate covering of the eye.

When neglected, infection can be introduced. Scarring can occur, and vision can be affected.

There are a number of excellent antibiotic and cortisone ointments which, when prescribed by the physician, are very effective. I emphasize that they should be prescribed by the physician because the exact extent of the injury should be noted.

Sometimes it is necessary to patch the eye for a few days to insure rapid and complete recovery.

If one's own doctor is not immediately available when such an injury occurs, it is wise to seek emergency help at the nearest community hospital. Special dyes can outline the extent of the abrasion, which is then minutely examined through a split-lamp microscope.

The fact that this happens so frequently to you suggests that you may be careless about protecting yourself.

I am confused about smallpox vaccination. We went to Europe two years and were told it was not necessary.

Now we are told it is necessary before traveling to Europe.

Mr. J.A., Conn.

Dear Mr. A.:

For a short time, the United States Public Health Service seemed to feel that smallpox vaccinations were no longer necessary.

Remember that this vaccination was necessary in order to be re-admitted to the United States.

Whether or not this rule stands should always be checked out with your local Public Health authorities.

There are many Asiatic and subtropical countries that demand evidence of vaccination before they will allow you to enter their land.

A recent outbreak of smallpox in Great Britain has necessitated vaccination for Americans who plan to go there.

BLUE RIBBON CHAMPS

Charles Andrews, Vocational Agriculture teacher at Miami Trace High School, and his assistant Scot Jenks, a junior at Miami Trace, were the guest speakers at a recent meeting of the Blue Ribbon Champs 4-H club. Mr. Andrews talked on "Livestock Judging," and Scott, who placed first in the state in Vo-Ag judging, showed slides. A desire to know livestock and a keen power of observation were two things talked about that a good judge must have, and the slides shown to the members were of ideal pigs, calves, and sheep.

Julie Frost's health report on "The Heart," pointed out many different ailments of the heart, such as heart attack, stroke, and coronary heart disease. Julie gave booklets containing many important facts about the heart, and ways to help keep it healthy.

"Good Food for Good Health," was the title of Mark Holloway's health report. Mark told the members that the right kind of food is important for healthy hair, clean skin, bright eyes, pep and personality.

Eddie Armintrout gave his safety report on "Poisons." He told the members several things that should be done, such as locking medicine cabinets and labeling bottles clearly, to help guard against unnecessary poisonings.

"Let's Curb Farm Fatalities," was J.T. Perrill's safety report. He pointed out several precautions to take on tractors, and gave some statistics on the number of deaths in recent years from carelessness on farms.

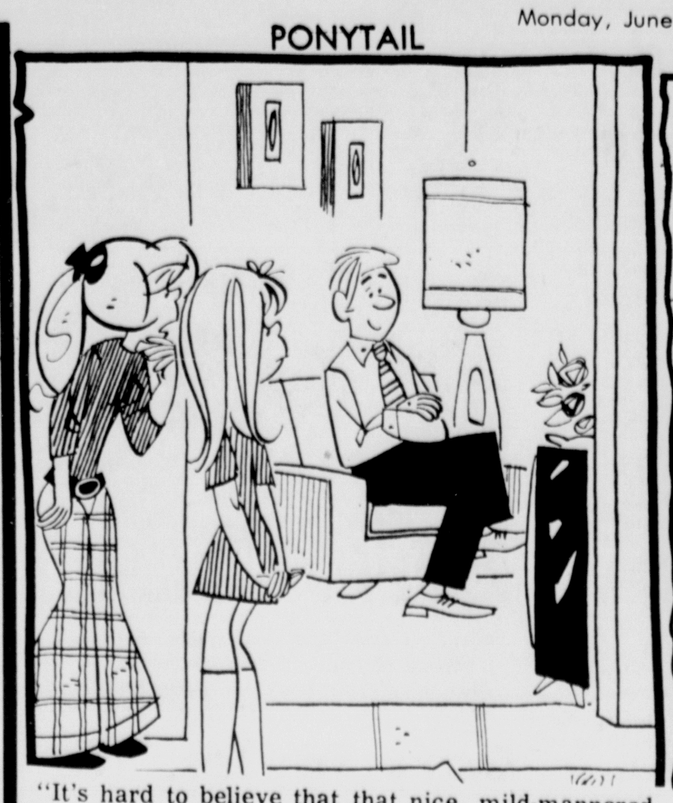

Members were reminded that all market lambs and barrows were to be identified by May 24, and after the meeting, the hosts, Bill and Tim Schaeffer, served refreshments to the club.

2 more youths held on marijuana counts

Two Midland youths were arrested early Monday morning by city police for possession of marijuana when a quantity of the drug was found in their car during a routine traffic arrest.

The pair was arrested by Patrolman Michael Stritenberger in the 600 block of Washington Avenue. They presently are lodged in the juvenile section of the county jail.

Stritenberger said the drug was in a small plastic bag in the glove compartment of the vehicle. He noticed the bag when the passenger opened the glovebox to obtain the vehicle registration.

The officer said the passenger placed the bag between his legs then dropped it out the window. The bag contained a rolled cigarette and a quantity of the loose drug.

Their car was impounded and they were taken to police headquarters for further questioning.

Police have arrested four persons on marijuana charges since Saturday.

BURGLARS made off with groceries, beer and wine, worth $452 from the Sagar's Dairy Depot, 212 E. Elm St., sometime late Friday or early Saturday morning, police reported.

Officers said the intruders had pried out a window screen and then knocked out a window on the east side of the building, next to the alley.

Taken in the theft were 15 cartons of cigarettes, several cases of beer, several bottles of wine and a large quantity of lunch meat and other grocery items.

The burglary was discovered by Patty West, 218 Kennedy Ave., when she opened for business Saturday morning.

David Brickles, of 834 Rawlings St., reported that someone had walked over the hood and trunk of his car early Sunday morning, causing damage estimated at $50.

Police said there were also footprints on a nearby car owned by Erma Kellenberger, 1010 Millwood Ave. Both were parked on Millwood Avenue at the time.

Rev. Frank White, Bloomingburg, reported that his daughter's bicycle had been stolen from the Bloomingburg ball field sometime Friday night. The bicycle was valued at $20.

Busy week ahead for C. of C.

This week is a busy one for Chamber of Commerce members. The annual banquet will be held Tuesday evening, and the membership campaign will be kicked off Wednesday morning.

Jack Criswell, community relations manager for the Bell Telephone Co. in Cleveland, will be the speaker at the annual banquet. A social hour will begin at 6 p.m., and dinner will be served at 7 p.m. in the Mahan Building.

More than 50 members will be involved in the membership drive and are to attend a kickoff meeting at 8 a.m. Wednesday at the Washington Savings Bank.

Team captains for the membership campaign are James Hanawalt, David Six, Jack Brennan, Jim Ward, Leroy Barton, Otis Hess, Mike Helfrich, Dave Ogan, John Lachat and Bruce Galloway.

The goal for the three-day drive is 450 members. There are currently 354 members of the Chamber. Final reports of the campaign are to be made by 4 p.m. Friday at the Chamber office.

James Dunn, executive vice president, said the 450-member goal must be reached to carry out the program of work which will be announced at the banquet. The Chamber is supported primarily from membership dues.

Adult Scouters install officers at dinner meet

Paint Creek Valley District adult Scout volunteers met in the Greenfield United Methodist Church Saturday for a meeting and dinner party.

New district officers were installed and Central Ohio Council Executive Ed Jacobs spoke to the group. Judge Darrell Hottle, of Hillsboro, was the master of ceremonies.

William Cales, Washington C. H. police officer, was installed as the new district chairman, replacing Marvin Thornburg, and Richard Maddux became the district commissioner, succeeding the Rev. Allen Puffenberger.

Jacobs explained what the Scouts are doing nationally. He said that Scouting has been updated from a camping club and has become more relevant to the youth of the inner city.

The Ladies of the United Methodist Church served the dinner, attended by approximately 70 persons, and Mr. and Mrs. Jay Fabin, of Greenfield, sang a duet. Bill Nestor, district executive, introduced the adult volunteers.

DRIVING CONTEST — A member of the 4-H Tractor Club attempts to back a two-wheel trailer in one of the events of the Tractor Rodeo held Sunday. Participants also backed a four-wheel trailer, took a written test and performed a maintenance check of equipment.

Gary Taylor, 16, winner of 4-H Tractor Club Rodeo

Gary Taylor, 16, topped 20 contestants to win the 1973 4-H Tractor Rodeo held Sunday at the Fairground. Taylor, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Taylor, Prairie Rd., near Bloomingburg, scored 843 penalty points.

Runner-up honors went to Kevin Cory, 15, Rt. 5, Washington C. H., with a score of 900 points. Third and fourth places went to Bill Mayer, 15, Rt. 1, Bloomingburg, and Roger Duff, 17, Rt. 5, Washington C. H., with scores of 940 and 947. The best 1972 score was 746 points.

The rodeo tested the skills of 4-H Tractor Club members in tractor operation, safety and maintenance.

It was scored in four parts on a penalty point basis. First, each contestant took a written exam testing his knowledge of tractor safety and mechanics. Second, the contestants tested their skills in moving a two-wheel trailer through an obstacle course, and third, the boys tackled the four-wheel trailer backing event. Fourth, each contestant performed a troubleshooting exercises for maintenance problems.

The two-wheel and four-wheel events were scored on time to complete the test, skill in safe operation, and ability to stay within the bounds of the course. A maximum time of six minutes was allowed for each event.

Other 4-H'ers participating in the Tracter Rodeo were: Chris Schlichter, Bill McNeal, Rick Welsh, Kelley Smith, Joe Garland, Doug Welsh, Fred McNeal, Joel Eltzroth, Bart Taylor, Randy Beekman, Jay Fannin, Chris Garland, Bret Taylor, David Duff, John Mayer and David Hiser. 4-H

Other 4-H'ers participating in the Tractor Rodeo were: Chris Schlichter, Bill McNeal, Rick Welsh, Kelley Smith, Joe Garland, Doug Welsh, Fred McNeal, Joel Eltzroth, Bart Taylor, Randy Beekman, Jay Fannin, Chris Garland, Bret Taylor, David Duff, John Mayer and David Hiser. 4-H Tractor Club Advisers Joe Geesling, Frank Dill, John Hiser and Jim Garland, and Jack Sommers, county 4-H agent, scored the event and set up the course.

Tractors and quipment were provided by Case Power and Equipment Co. and Jeffersonville Farm Service which provided the awards for the winners. Taylor will represent Fayette County in the state contest at the Ohio State Fair.

BancOhio scores new high in Forbes Directory

COLUMBUS — BancOhio Corporation, the largest multi-bank holding company in Ohio, attained a new high standing among the nation's largest corporations, according to the Annual Forbes 500 Directory.

In the financial magazine's special May issue, Forbes ranked BancOhio as 114th in size according to total assets, an advance of more than 30 places in two years. Statistics for the directory were based upon total assets reported on December 31, 1972. On that date BancOhio showed total assets of more than $2.5 billion.

Further analysis of the directory shows that BancOhio is the fourth largest corporation headquartered in Ohio. The multi-bank holding company recorded an increase in total consolidated assets of more than 20 per cent from 1971 to 1972, greater than any of the top three in Ohio, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., Cleveland Trust and Chessie System.

As of April 30, 1973 BancOhio reported total consolidated resources of $2.7 billion. Currently, there are 35 Ohio banks affiliated which operate 174 banking facilities across the state.

Stored junk problem at Milledgeville

MILLEDGEVILLE — The principal item of discussion at the Milledgeville Council meeting Saturday was the problem of junk being stored in yards of local residents.

Mayor Johnny Blair said that although the Council has received many complaints about residents who have spoiled the appearance of the village by storing salvaged material on their properties, local residents became upset when Council took positive action through the court, and called the measures too harsh. Therefore the councilmen resolved to table further action until they receive greater support.

Council also discussed steps that can be taken to eliminate rowdiness, intoxication and auto racing in the village. The sheriff will be asked to give the area some special attention, and if the situation is not corrected soon, further action will be considered.

Payment of routine bills was approved.

2 persons hurt in altercations

Two persons were treated at Memorial Hospital over the weekend for injuries apparently suffered in altercations.

Lucille Bryant, 39, of 624 Rawlings St., was treated in the emergency room Sunday night for lacerations, contusions, a nose injury and black eye, after she and her husband allegedly became involved in a quarrel.

Police said there were no charges filed in the incident.

Warner M. Turner, of 438 Highland Ave., was treated for bruised ribs and two loose teeth suffered in an altercation at the VFW Club rooms, S. Fayette St., Saturday night.

Warner allegedly was involved in a fight with a bartender, police said.

Pentecostal movement grows in Roman Catholic community

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — "It can renew the face of the church and the face of the earth," says a Belgian cardinal about the growing Pentecostal movement among Roman Catholics.

Leo Joseph Cardinal Suenens on Sunday told a closing service of a three-day international conference here that the movement is the "mission of tomorrow. The future is coming out of this."

At his words, the 22,000 participants at the University of Notre Dame Stadium rose to their feet in applause.

"Ah-men," they began singing, arms upraised. "Ah-men, ah-men."

The cardinal gave the highest ecclesiastical endorsement yet to the movement at a celebration of the mass in which 600 white-robed priests and seven bishops, led by Archbishop James Hayes of Halifax, Canada, joined in consecrating the bread and wine.

The service was interspersed by bursts of clapping, whistling and exclamations: "Praise Jesus!" and "Hallelujah!" And there was "praying in unknown tongues," an outpouring of song-like syllables called glossolalia.

This is a characteristic of the movement, with intensive devotional habits, Bible-study and prayer meetings, often made up of Protestants and Catholics.

Cardinal Suenens, an internationally influential progressive, told a news conference the movement was "bringing all Christians together in a very, very close way."

He also said: "It is an answer to the people's desire to practice faith spontaneously, to express it as they feel it. It's a new taste of the Gospel, in its reality and simplicity."

The movement, now involving an estimated 300,000 U.S. Catholics, is "growing very fast everywhere," Cardinal Suenens said. "It's no longer just an American phenomenon, but in all countries. It's a world wide phenomenon."

Bishop Michael Begley of Charlotte, N.C., said the movement was "coming from all sides, in all cross-sections of society, opening hearts and souls to the Holy Spirit."

He added, "I say praise the Lord for it."

Contract problems slow construction

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Major non-highway construction projects in Charleston, W.Va., and the Tri-State area of West Virginia, Kentucky and Ohio have been shut down by labor contract disputes.

A dispute between the Kanawha Valley Builders Association and the pipefitters, plumbers and iron workers unions has slowed construction in Charleston. The three unions have refused to ratify a contract with the association that has been signed with other craft unions. Old contracts expired at midnight last Thursday.

Contract difficulties between the Southwestern Building and Trade Council at Huntington and both the Teamsters union and various building trade unions have shut down construction projects in the Tri-State area of Huntington, W.Va.-Ashland, Ky.-Cheshire, Ohio.

Lebanon girl crowned as district queen

WILMINGTON — Susan Hodapp, of Lebanon, was crowned Miss Southwestern Ohio at a pageant held in Wilmington Saturday evening. Miss Hodapp was chosen from 11 contestants, including Vicki Lowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Lowe, Washington C.H.

The two runners-up in the competition were Robbie O'Neil and Brenda Beegle, both of Wilmington, and Paula Cook, of Lebanon, was named "Miss Congeniality."

Miss Hodapp will represent Southwestern Ohio in the Miss Ohio Pageant in Sandusky and she and the runners-up received college grants and scholarships of varying amounts.

The talent presentation which helped Miss Hodapp to her crown was a musical comedy routine.

Soviet supersonic airliner crashes; 14 dead, 28 hurt

GOUSSAINVILLE, France (AP) — Aviation experts sifted through the wreckage of a Soviet supersonic airliner today trying to learn why the pride of Russia's civilian air fleet crashed.

Thousands of spectators watched as the four-engine TU144 exploded during an exhibition flight Sunday at the Paris air show. Flaming wreckage crashed onto the town of Goussainville north of Le Bourget airport.

Fourteen persons were killed, 28 were injured. The dead included two Russian pilots and four other crew members, the only ones aboard the streamlined plane.

It was the first reported crash of a supersonic civilian airliner since the Soviets began their program in the mid-1960s. The plane has a maximum cruising speed of 1,550 miles an hour — 2.35 times the speed of sound.

A French-British consortium has built four Concorde supersonic jets, and the latest version made a demonstration flight just before the TU144's.

Witnesses saw the Russian plane make a low level, subsonic pass before the grandstand and then go into a steep climb with the undercarriage lowered.

Pilot Mikail Koslov leveled out just below the cloud cover. The TU144's nose dipped, and the 210-foot plane went into a dive.

As the 180-ton jet neared the ground, a piece of the right wing broke off. A tongue of flame gushed from the plane as it broke apart.

About a dozen houses were destroyed or badly damaged as torn metal, flaming engines and fuel rained on the town. Wreckage was scattered over a strip more than 100 yards wide, and some pieces landed in a nearby wheatfield.

Fabric from the plane's orange and blue interior was draped over utility lines, gateposts and red tile roofs. A section of wing knocked down part of a low wall around a school, and one huge metal part crushed a little cottage.

The experts said it would be a long time before the exact cause of the crash became known. Andre Turcat, a chief test pilot on the Concorde, said it was essential to find out what made the nose of the plane dip after the climb.

Observers in Moscow said the crash must have been a stunning blow to Soviet aviation officials and may have set the TU144 program back. The plane was scheduled to go into service in 1975.

Israeli pilots claim torture

TEL AVIV (AP) — Three Israeli pilots released by Syria in exchange for 57 prisoners held by Israel said their captors tortured them regularly during their three years in jail.

After their repatriation Sunday, one of the pilots told newsmen he had been beaten about his body and on the soles of his feet and had been subjected to electric shocks on several occasions.

Another said that, when they reminded their captors of the Geneva Convention governing the treatment of prisoners of war, they were told the rules didn't apply to them.

In exchange for the pilots, Israel handed over 56 Syrian and Lebanese POWs and a Druse leader from the occupied Golan Heights who was convicted of spying for Syria.

The Israeli military command said the released Arab POWs were the last held by Israel from either Syria or Lebanon and neither Syria nor Lebanon held any more Israeli prisoners. Israel continues to hold 55 Egyptian prisoners it wants to exchange for 10 Israelis jailed in Egypt.

The exchange ended almost a year of negotiations through the International Red Cross. Israel had sought to have the Egyptian-held Israelis included in the exchange but earlier this year softened its stand, the state radio said.

The 56 Arab POWs included five Syrian officers and 10 Lebanese captured in a raid into southern Lebanon last June and in a border clash last September. Most of the other Syrians had been prisoners since a June 1970 armored incursion into Syria.

Striking Antioch students set up more barricades

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) — Despite earlier assurances they wouldn't, striking Antioch College students today barricaded the entrance to Antioch Hall, the campus administration building.

College officials pulled unarmed security personnel away from the entrance after students barricaded the front with leftover debris from a larger barricade which sheriff's deputies tore down Friday.

Some 60 students took part in a moving picket line in front of the makeshift barricade during the morning. Greene County Sheriff Russell Bradley, who was near the campus earlier, was not on hand.

The striking students first let campus officials, professors and students through the picket lines. But as the hours grew, the lines became closer and at least one professor was kept from entering the building.

Token picket lines were set up at side entrances to the structure.

The Greene County sheriff's department opened student-held buildings Friday. No deputies have been on the campus since then.

Faculty members, staff and students have been patrolling the campus to prevent another takeover by striking students.

The school had been closed since April 20 by students striking for guaranteed financial aid. Classes were to have resumed Monday.

The spokeswoman for the strikers said the decision to retake the campus was made during a "community meeting" Saturday attended by about 500 persons.

She said the group has also considered not paying tuition next quarter.

A Greene County Common Pleas judge last week issued a preliminary injunction to end the takeover. The injunction suit was filed by students who wanted to return to school.

When deputies opened the administration building Friday, they found overturned desks, smashed typewriters, stink bombs and eggs scattered around the office. Strikers have denied knowledge of the vandalism.

Dean Ewell Reagin and an aide were pelted with eggs May 22 when they tried to re-enter the buildings. Seven faculty members and 20 students were dismissed as a result of that confrontation.

Space-walker to free jammed solar panel?

Skylab repairs debated

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — With prospects for a space walk to free a jammed solar panel "looking pretty good," Skylab's astronauts today awaited word on how they might do the tricky job.

Making the panel operable could nearly double the electricity in their power-starved space station.

If the space agency gives the green light for the excursion, decisions on who will make the walk and how the one-ton panel will be released will be up to Skylab commander Charles Conrad Jr., who became the world's champion of space flight in total hours logged on Sunday.

"I suspect the commander would want to go out himself," Skylab mission director William C. Schneider told newsmen Sunday.

Capsule communicator Storey Musgrove told the spacemen late Sunday, "Things are looking pretty good for a space walk later in the week."

He said mission control today would pass up suggested procedures for the attempt and all aspects would be discussed in a conference Tuesday between the control center and the astronauts.

"We aim to please," Conrad replied. "We're more than happy to do anything we can."

Schneider said space agency officials planned a day-long meeting today at the Marshall Space Flight Center, Huntsville, Ala., to discuss the potential for success and dangers involved in the space walk repair job.

They'll also discuss the possibility of extending the scheduled 28-day mission as much as 10 days to make up experiments lost because of low power.

"This is a very desirable thing to do, but we don't want to take a chance with our crew," the director said of the space walk. "The prime consideration will be: Is it a safe thing to do?"

Schneider said the salvage attempt could come as early as Wednesday but there will be no hurry because "we'd rather do it right than rushed."

While ground experts wrestled with the panel problem, Conrad, Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz scheduled medical, earth resources and solar astronomy experiments today, their 11th day in space.

Conrad passed the world space time record at 1:17 a.m. EDT Sunday. The mark had been set by former astronaut James A. Lovell, a four-time space veteran.

Conrad previously flew on Geminis 5 and 11 and on Apollo 12. He became the third man to step on the moon. Lovell's record was 715 hours, 5 minutes. If Skylab 1 goes the distance, Conrad will top that by almost 18 days.

HARD TO FACE — Frank Rinaudo, 57, bends in grief over hood of police car after his vehicle struck and killed a diaper-clad child on highway in eastern New Orleans, La., just before dawn. Police said the 2-year-old child was walking in the middle of the road at the time of the accident. Child's mother was charged with negligent homicide.

Watergate probe resumes Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. says he plans to resume the Senate Watergate hearings Tuesday despite special prosecutor Archibald Cox's request that the televised sessions be delayed several weeks.

The North Carolina Democrat who heads the Senate Watergate committee told a news conference in Boston Sunday that Cox had asked him to postpone further hearings until indictments have been returned. Ervin said that could mean a two-to four-month delay but it won't happen "if it's up to me."

"The Justice Department has had this case for almost a year," Ervin observed. "The American people have a right to get to the bottom of this."

The panel is set to resume the hearings with Sally Harmony as the first of five former Nixon campaign workers to be questioned this week. Mrs. Harmony, who was a secretary to convicted conspirator G. Gordon Liddy, probably will be followed by Robert Riesner, Liddy, ex-campaign committee treasurer Hugh W. Sloan and former commerce secretary and campaign finance chief Maurice Stans, committee sources report.

Meanwhile, Democratic National Chairman Robert S. Strauss confirmed an Associated Press report that his Dallas, Tex., home was broken into and ransacked three weeks after the Watergate break-in last year. Nothing was stolen, he said, but he believes the burglars apparently were searching for party financial records.

Strauss was party treasurer at the time, and Watergate burglar Bernard L. Barker has testified his men were looking for Democratic financial records when they were caught inside party headquarters at the Watergate complex last June 17. Barker said they found none.

Columnist Jack Anderson reported today that call girls were recruited "to wheedle political secrets" from Democrats at their Miami Beach convention last year. But investigators "have been unable to determine whether they were actually used," Anderson wrote.

James W. McCord Jr. one of the Watergate burglars, interviewed Sunday on the CBS broadcast "Face the Nation," said he is convinced that President Nixon "set in motion the Watergate operation and followed through on it."

But the former CIA and re-election campaign security officer admitted he had no direct evidence linking Nixon to the break-in.

McCord said his conclusions are based on hearsay and his knowledge of how the Committee for the Re-election of the President operated.

Price of gold hits $120.75

LONDON (AP) — The U.S. dollar fell sharply in Europe as money markets re-opened today, extending last week's fall to record lows. Gold jumped to a new high of $120.75 an ounce here.

In Frankfurt, the dollar dropped to 2.6540 West German marks, a new low there, down from 2.6740 marks Friday. Dealers said trading was extremely nervous. The mark is one of the strongest currencies in Western Europe and when the dollar is in trouble there it is usually weak elsewhere.

Body of ex-POW discovered after apparent suicide

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — A medical examiner says a note in French found near the body of Air Force Capt. Edward A. Brudno, a former prisoner of war, translates roughly to "life was not worth living."

Brudno's body was discovered Sunday at the home of his wife's parents, where he had been living since his return last February from more than seven years of confinement in North Vietnam.

A psychiatrist from Newton, Mass., said he had been treating Brudno recently.

Police called the death a suicide. But the Westchester County medical examiner's office said it would not rule on the death until further medical tests were complete.

However, Dr. Henry Ryan, the deputy chief medical examiner, said, "I know the police have told people it was a suicide. They have reason to."

Ryan said Brudno had a plastic bag over his head when his body was found on a bed. He said the bag "wasn't obstructive" and that more tests, including examination for drugs, will be needed.

The time of Brudno's death was set at late Saturday night or early Sunday.

Harrison police said Brudno, who would have been 33 today, had left a will dated May 22 and nine sealed letters in addition to the note in French.

Brudno married Deborah Gitenstein a few months before leaving for Vietnam in 1965. Police said she received the news of his death at his parents' home in Quincy, Mass.

She returned to her parents' home Sunday.

Brudno was shot down over North Vietnam in a F4 Phantom jet Oct. 18, 1965. Released last February, he was attached to Westover Air Force Base in Massachusetts but was on convalescent leave.

Governors open conference amid Watergate discussions

STATELINE, Nev. (AP) — The nation's governors launched their annual conference today with Republicans and Democrats calling on President Nixon to hold news conferences on the Watergate scandal.

Although Watergate seemed unlikely to come before the 65th annual bipartisan conference that runs through Wednesday, it dominated news conferences, interviews and many informal conversations Sunday at this gambling resort on the shore of Lake Tahoe.

Federal-state fiscal relations constitute the major business before the conference, but a rule requiring a three-fourths majority for resolutions seemed certain to doom a Democratic bid to put the meeting on record Wednesday against President Nixon's economic and revenue-sharing policies.

Partisan meetings, a breakfast for the Republicans and a luncheon for the Democrats, were major activities today. Gov. Wendell Ford of Kentucky was expected to be elected chairman of the Democratic governors.

Gov. Linwood Holton of Virginia, chairman of the Republican Governors Association, suggested the series of presidential press conferences about Watergate

Holton, appearing on NBC's "Meet the Press," said the conferences would permit cross-examination of Nixon on his contention he was unaware of, or uninvolved in, any coverup of Watergate by his top aides.

The suggestion was endorsed promptly by Robert S. Strauss, chairman of the Democratic National Committee; Maryland Gov. Marvin Mandel, a Democrat and the current chairman of the National Governors Conference; and Gov. Daniel J. Evans of Washington, a Republican expected to be elected Wednesday as conference chairman for the next year.

Holton said: "If he will go before the press, not once but a number of times, ... and clarify the ambiguities as they developed, the President ... has the opportunity to regain the complete confidence of the American people."

Nixon's last press conference in March preceded the bulk of the Watergate revelations implicating top administration officials.

Strauss, meeting with reporters here, said: "Nothing would serve this nation better than an immediate, full-scale, open, long-lasting press conference on the part of the President."

Weather

Partly cloudy through Tuesday with mainly late afternoon and nighttime thunderstorms likely. Low tonight in the mid 60s north and in the upper 60s and 70s south. High Tuesday in the 80s.

Senators well-prepared by Watergate lawyer team

WASHINGTON (AP) — The witness sits at a little table surrounded on three sides by irreverent reporters and curious spectators.

Nine inquisitors face the witness across their own monstrous old-wood table barricading them from the rest of the cavernous Caucus Room.

The system, being used now by the Senate Select Committee on Presidential Campaign Activities—the Watergate committee—has been known to trip the unwary and grind down the righteous.

But so far, most witnesses have emerged intact from the hearings, which resume Tuesday after a week-long recess. Although the TV-watchers may not have known exactly what to expect, the senators and committee staff have had few surprises.

"The senators are fully informed as to what a witness can testify to," said Samuel Dash, the committee's chief counsel who opens the questioning after each witness is sworn.

Dash's three assistants divided up the witnesses according to the first three phases of the hearings.

Jim Hamilton is handling the Watergate affair; Terry Lenzner is working on political espionage and sabotage, the "dirty tricks" phase; and David Dorsen is handling the witnesses who will testify about campaign contributions and how the President's re-election committee got its money.

The three men seek out potential witnesses, arrange interviews with them through their lawyers and meet—always unannounced and behind closed doors—with those they think might be worth calling before the committee itself.

Lawyers representing the Republican minority and other members of the committee staff usually join in the interviews, and senators themselves have dropped in on occasion.

Staff members say the interviews are relatively informal, wide-ranging and usually very thorough.

Committee aide Polly DeMent does biographical research on the witnesses while other staff workers look into legal aspects of the anticipated testimony, probe for corroborative or conflicting evidence, and study subpoenaed documents.

Class action suits: new consumer weapon

WASHINGTON (AP) — In New Jersey, a class-action suit voided the contracts 24 customers had signed agreeing to pay $280 for home educational kits worth about $40.

For California home buyers, a class-action suit means a chance to earn interest on the tax escrow accounts required by the institutions holding their mortgages.

Drug companies accused of fixing prices, oil companies accused of levying excessive credit card finance charges and a door-to-door freezer salesman accused of defrauding his customers all have felt the sting of class-action consumer lawsuits.

The class action suit, filed under federal and state laws, permits those with a common claim to combine their interests and mount a suit which wouldn't have been worth the effort and legal fees if several separate suits were necessary.

Such suits constitute a small but growing proportion of legal cases nationwide.

"Class action is becoming more popular, but not necessarily more successful," said Mark Budnitz, an attorney with the National Consumer Law Center.

The number of class-action suits pending in federal courts at the end of last year was 3,500. Nearly half of them deal with civil rights, and in total they make up about 3 per cent of all federal civil cases. By comparison 25,000 personal injury cases were pending.

The American College of Trial Lawyers studied the Southern District of New York, the single largest adjudicator of federal class-action suits, and found the number filed annually increased nearly four times in five years.

In some cases class-action suits have become a victim of their own popularity, producing a mixed pattern of acceptance by courts.

Five states have approved laws permitting consumer class-action suits, according to the U.S. Office of Consumer Affairs. In 13 other states the restrictions on such suits have been eased.

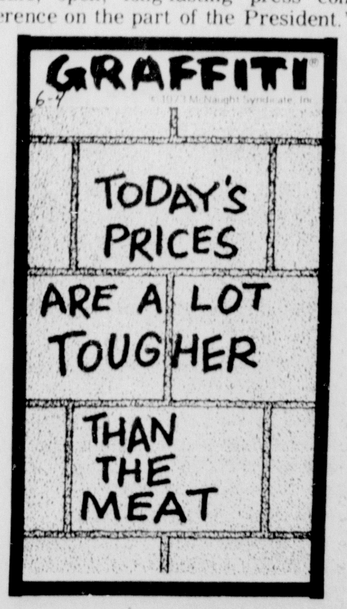

But judges elsewhere have recoiled at the prospect of massive judgments.

The issue of paying interest on home mortgage tax escrow accounts, for example, was accepted as a class action in California, where the legislature has approved class-action bills dealing with consumer and environmental issues. A similar case was denied class-action status in the District of Columbia.

The federal Truth-in-Lending law fines offenders $100 for each instance of inadequate credit information disclosure. When lawyers sued Chemical Bank of New York on behalf of 130,000 charge card holders, the judge called the possible $13 million penalty a "horrendous, possibly annihilating punishment" and disallowed it as a class action. The Senate now is considering limiting liability to $50,000 or 1 per cent of a company's net worth for offenses against the lending act.

Another class-action case spent seven years bounding back and forth from district to appellate courts. The issue was whether an estimated six million persons could sue jointly to get back as much as $60 million they claimed they had been overcharged on stock commissions.

An appeals court finally declared the suit unmanageable as a class action and said: "Class actions have sprouted and multiplied like the leaves of the green bay tree."

Deaths, Funerals

Thomas V. Hartman

Thomas V. Hartman, 87, formerly of 342 W. Court St., died at 6:40 p.m. Sunday in Memorial Hospital.

Born in Fayette County, he had spent his entire life here and was a retired grover. He had been a patient at Quiet Acres Nursing Home since May 30.

He was a member of St. Colman Catholic Church.

His wife, Mayme O'Neil Hartman, died in 1961, and a son Robert is deceased. Surviving besides one niece, Mrs. Marita Cruit, of Lancaster is a great-nephew, James Kinnen, of Lancaster, and a great-niece, Mrs. Jenifer Hoffer, of Canton.

Mass will be sung at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday in St. Colman Church with the Rev. Fr. Richard J. Connelly officiating. Burial will be in St. Colman Cemetery under the direction of the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 3 until 9 p.m. Tuesday, where a Rosary service will be held at 7 p.m.

Mrs. Hazel Moyer

Services for Mrs. Elsie H. Moyer, 79, of Matthews Rd., will be held at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home, with the Rev. Gerald Wheat officiating.

Mrs. Moyer died at 9:30 p.m. Saturday in Fayette Memorial Hospital where she had been a patient three weeks. She had been in failing health 1½ years and seriously ill six months.

Born in Bracken County, Ky., she came to Fayette County in 1917 and was a member of the Bloomingburg Presbyterian Church, its Matrons' Club, the Wednesday Club and the Garden Club.

She is survived by her husband, Hazel Moyer; three sons, Harold L., Rt. 5, Washington C.H., Maurice L., of Baraboo, Wis., and Robert W., of Wilmington; four grandchildren; three great-grandchildren and two brothers, Roy Henson, of Cleves, and Tommie Henson, of Minneapolis, Minn.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 7 until 9 p.m. Monday, 2 until 9 p.m. Tuesday and on Wednesday until time of services. Burial will be in Bloomingburg Cemetery.

REV. VIRGIL HARPER — Funeral services for the Rev. Virgil Harper, 62, of Rt. 4, Washington C.H., were held at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Church of Christ in Christian Union, with the Rev. Herbert Dunn, Leesburg, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Orville Streitenberger, Washington C.H. Mr. Harper, retired pastor of the Greenfield Church of Christ in Christian Union and a machinist for the Dyna Corp., died Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hill, Greenfield, were the vocalists, accompanied by Mrs. Kenneth Bonecutter. Burial was in Highlawn Memorial Gardens under direction of the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Harold Streitenberger, Raymond Orner, Wilbur Knisley, Orville Blanton, Arthur Leeth and Loren Butcher. Honorary pallbearers were the Rev. Elmer Noel, the Rev. Dale Orihood, the Rev. Russell Knisley, the Rev. Keith Groves and the Rev. Verlyn Knisley.

FAY T. JUNK — Services for Fay T. Junk, 83, of 141 Eastview Dr., were held at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Fisher Funeral Home, Frankfort, with the Rev. David White, pastor of the Frankfort Methodist Church, officiating. Mr. Junk, a farmer, died Wednesday.

Pallbearers for the burial in Greenlawn Cemetery, Frankfort, were six sons, John Albert, Thomas, Robert, Harry, Neil and Ralph Junk.

Dean, Nixon conferred on Watergate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House acknowledged today that President Nixon conferred this year with John Dean III about the Watergate scandal but said logs detailing the time and place of such sessions would not be provided to Justice Department or senatorial investigators.

Reports published during the weekend said Dean, fired a White House counsel April 30, has told prosecutors and Senate investigators that he had 30 to 40 meetings with Nixon earlier this year.

Deputy press secretary Gerald L. Warren, who earlier had denounced the published reports in a formal statement, said in response to a question that "obviously there were topics of interest this year that would have involved office of counsel."

Warren said the topics included Nixon's own Watergate investigation, administration policy on citing executive privilege and hearings on the unsuccessful nomination of L. Patrick Gray to be director of the FBI.

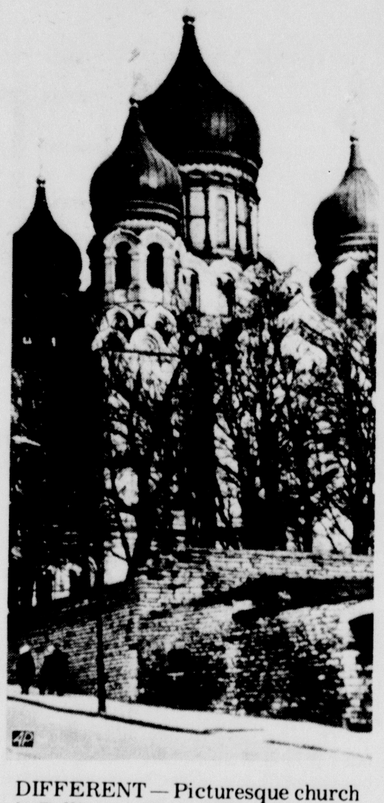

Ex-rest home boss confesses swindle

NEW YORK (AP) — The former board chairman of Four Seasons Nursing Centers of America pleaded guilty today to conspiring to violate federal securities laws, in a case that federal authorities said cost the public more than $200 million.

They said it was one of the nation's biggest swindles.

Jack L. Clark, 46, in his guilty plea, claimed that the nursing homes built and operated by the Oklahoma City-based corporation were quality ventures and still are.

Four Seasons has since been succeeded by a court-formed firm, Anta, Inc., also based in Oklahoma City.

Congress set for battles with Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tough battles involving differences between President Nixon and the legislative branch face Congress and its committees this week.

But they may be overshadowed by resumption Tuesday of Senate committee hearings on the Watergate burglary and bugging case.

Major House floor action is scheduled on a minimum wage bill, a presidential reorganization plan and a stop-the-bombing measure.

The Senate, after voting Tuesday afternoon on a fuel allocation program, will spend the rest of the week on a general farm bill.

The fuel bill would give the President more authority to deal with emergency shortages of petroleum products.

The farm measure, opposed by the administration, would set target prices or marketing of major farm products. The government would pay producers the difference between the target price and the selling price when the latter was lower.

The reorganization plan slated for a House vote Tuesday would centralize all drug enforcement agencies within the Justice Department. A divided Government Operations Committee has recommended that the proposal be defeated. The House vote will be on that recommendation.

The reorganization plan would go into effect on July 1 unless either branch of Congress rejects it before June 1.

The House hopes to vote Wednesday on a minimum wage increase bill. There is sharp disagreement over how many annual steps there should be to reach the top figure and disputes over expanding coverage.

Rubber workers OK tentative contract

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Members of two United Rubber Workers locals have ratified a tentative three-year contract agreement with the B.F. Goodrich Co., and five other locals set ratification votes this week.

The union struck seven Goodrich plants May 8, and the contract must be ratified by a majority of union members at all seven sites before taking effect.

Goodrich officials said they plan to reopen plants on an individual basis, however, and that production would get underway as quickly as possible wherever the pact was ratified. URW leaders had predicted that the offer would be ratified.

The company said "start-up" operations began last week as soon as the two sides reached the tentative agreement and that work would begin at some plants this week.

Old soldier feared drowned in Atlantic

FT. GORDON, Ga. (AP) — Officials at Ft. Gordon reported Monday that an 18-year-old military policeman from the Army base, Pvt. Steven Norris of Kettering, Ohio, was missing and feared drowned off the Isle of Palms near Charleston, S.C.

The Isle of Palms police chief, George Strible, said Norris' motorcycle and personal effects were found early Saturday morning on the beach, and a weekend search by police and the Coast Guard failed to turn him up.

Africa receiving more arms from Communists, says U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia and Communist China are quietly expanding military aid to African countries as they maneuver for influence and support there, according to U.S. intelligence sources.

Overshadowed by crises elsewhere, the sometimes competing Soviet and Chinese moves in Africa are logged by U.S. intelligence officials who consider them important in the global power balance.

The U.S. arms aid program in Africa is strictly limited by Congress, with Ethiopia and Tunisia sharing the total $1.3 million in grants proposed for the new fiscal year starting next month.

A series of U.S. intelligence reports traces a pattern of Communist Chinese and Soviet aid initiatives in at least eight African countries.

According to one recent report, Red China is preparing to provide Tanzania with its first jet fighter planes, a squadron of 20 MIG 19s AND MIG 17s, by late this year.

Peking sent the Sudan six MIG 19s last year when the Communist Chinese were trying to capitalize on the Sudan's alienation from Russia. China also started about $42 million in economic aid projects there.

Since then the Sudanese leaders, who blamed the Russians for allegedly helping in a coup attempt against them, have made up with Moscow and the Russians are building a logistical complex in the Sudan, among other things.

Meanwhile, the Chinese appear to be moving in on Guinea which has relied on a Soviet naval squadron to protect it for nearly two years. Within the past two months, China delivered four fast Shanghai-class gunboats for Guinea's coastal defense. A 40-man Chinese training group accompanied some of the boats, becoming the first Chinese military presence in that West African country.

UMW official's trial begins

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — The trial of Yablonski murder defendant Albert Pass, the highest ranking United Mine Workers official charged in the case, is set to get under way today in Erie County Court.

Jury selection from a panel of 250 prospective jurors already chosen will be the first order of business.

Pass, 53, a former member of the UMW's International Executive Board from Middlesboro, Ky., and William J. Prater, 55, a former UMW field organizer, were indicted on three state charges of murder in the New Year's Eve 1969 slayings of union reformer Joseph A. Yablonski and his wife and daughter.

A grand jury from Washington County, where the killings occurred, handed down the indictments, but their trials were moved here after defense attorneys successfully argued their clients could not receive a fair trial in Washington County.

Prater was convicted last March 26 on three counts of first degree murder for the slayings.

Of five other persons arrested in the case, three have pleaded guilty and turned state's evidence and two others, Paul E. Gilly, 38, and Aubran W. "Buddy" Martin, 23, both of Cleveland, were convicted and sentenced to death.

Both Pass and Prater were implicated in the slayings by Silous Huddleston, 63, a former UMW local president, one of the three to plead guilty to murder.

Huddleston, in a statement read last May in Washington County Court, said he believed the payoff money—which he said totaled $15,000—was funneled through a special union fund.

Arrests halt threat to dams

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Two men who allegedly threatened to blow up two dams in West Virginia unless they were given $1 million were apprehended by state police and FBI agents Sunday night, the FBI and a spokesman for Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. said.

The governor received a letter last week "demanding $1 million and threatening to blow the Sutton Dam and the Summersville dam," the FBI said.

No damage was done to Sutton Dam or Summersville Dam, both federal flood control reservoirs, and authorities said no explosives were found.

The two men arrested, Wallace Leroy Hess, 18, and Sheredith L. Hamrick, 29, were to appear before U.S. Magistrate Paul J. Fourney here today on charges of violating federal extortion statutes, the FBI said. Both are from the town of Muddlety, between Sutton and Summersville.

They were being held in lieu of $100,000 bond each.

The letter, hand-written on lined notebook paper and addressed to "Gov. Arch Moore— Personal," detailed instructions for delivering the money, a spokesman for the governor said. The governor was to hand over the money personally.

The dams would be blown up Sunday evening if the money was not delivered, the letter said.

Hess and Hamrick were apprehended Sunday evening at the drop site where the money was to be turned over, police said. It was identified only as a thickly wooded area of Nicholas County near Summersville.

One of the two men was armed with a high-powered rifle but neither offered resistance, the spokesman for the governor said.

Nearby, in Portuguese Guinea, the Russians are estimated by U.S. intelligence to have provided more than 5,000 tons of weapons and ammunition to anti-Portuguese rebels in the past year.

On Africa's east coast, the Russians landed about 25 T54 and T55 medium tanks in Somalia this spring. Somalia is strategically located along the Indian Ocean and the Gulf of Aden, and has been a focus of Russian attention for at least a decade.

Several tornadoes skipped across northern Ohio Sunday, one of them derailing five Penn Central freight cars at Wayne Center in Ashtabula County.

The National Weather Service reported tornado sightings in Ashtabula, Defiance and Lorain counties and tornado warnings were up for much of the northern part of the state until midnight.

Penn Central officials said no one was injured in the derailment. The spokesman said some of the cars were slammed into another freight which had pulled onto a siding to let the northbound 101-car freight pass.

The freight that was hit by the twister was headed for Buffalo, N.Y. The waiting freight train was traveling to Youngstown from Buffalo.

Freight crews worked through the night to clear the wreckage.

Winds in Portage County damaged three homes in Kent and blew three roofs off a garden apartment complex west of the city. A nearby church annex was flattened and power lines were down throughout the area.

Residents in nearby Silver Lake, Stow, Brady Lake and Ravenna reported seeing funnel clouds move through the area, but the weather service did not classify the winds that did the damage as tornadoes.

The Toledo weather service office reported the tornado sightings in Defiance and Lorain, but no damage was reported from the area.

Thunderstorms dropped more than two inches of rain on parts of Summit, Portage and Cuyahoga counties, the weather service issued flash flood watches for areas along the Chagrin, Grand and Ashtabula rivers shortly after midnight.

The Grand River was three feet above flood stage at 12:30 a.m., according to the weather service.

Several Cleveland streets were flooded and scattered flooding was reported along the lake shore.

Most weather stations across northern Ohio reported an inch or more of rain from late Sunday afternoon until 2 a.m. today.

Most of the showers had passed east of Ohio by daybreak, and variable cloudiness was reported across Ohio at dawn. Temperatures ranged from 62 at Zanesville under clear skies to 68 at Cincinnati under partly-cloudy skies.

Cloudy skies were to return to Ohio later today and showers and thundershowers were expected again this afternoon.

A high pressure area off the Carolinas is pulling warm, moist air into the Midwest. Meanwhile, a cold front, stretching from the northern end of Lake Michigan to a low over the Oklahoma panhandle is moving slowly eastward.

Showers and thundershowers are forecast for Ohio until the front crosses the state, probably late Wednesday.

A chance of showers Wednesday and Thursday. Warm Wednesday through Friday with highs from the upper 70s to mid 80s and lows in the 60s.

Stock list slips again

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices continued to drop today, continuing last week's decline, amid a background of economic uncertainties.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was down 6.69 at 887.27. Declining Big Board stocks outpaced advancing issues 892 to 300 in light volume.

The dollar continued to weaken today while gold prices soared. Analysts said these factors were adding to the stock market gloom as well as investor fears of a recession. Watergate was another factor, they said.

On the American Stock Exchange, the price-change index was down .06 at 22.43. The Amex volume leader was Mite Corp. down ⅛ at 3⅞.

The New York Stock Exchange broad-based index of some 1,500 common issues was down 0.47 at 54.39.

Arlen Realty was the Big Board volume leader down ⅛ at 4½.

Gas tank explodes in hotel garage

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A gasoline storage tank exploded in the parking garage of the downtown Neil House Hotel today, but there were no injuries and little apparent fire damage.

Parking services were restored about 45 minutes after the 7:30 a.m. blast.

The explosion occurred as a driver for an oil products firm was filling the 2,000-gallon tank, which is enclosed by a wall. The driver said he did not know what touched off the blast.

Heat from the explosion set off a sprinkler system and water in some spots was six inches deep.

Hurless aid fund growing

John Hurless, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hurless, of 1117 E. Paint St., who had been unconscious at Riverside Hospital, Columbus, since being injured in an auto accident April 21, has shown some improvement and has been moved out of the intensive care ward.

His room number is 565, but he can receive no visitors at this time.

Pam Harper, of 506 E. Paint St., who began organizing a campaign to collect money for hospital expenses a few weeks ago, said that $42 has been collected from canisters placed in local establishments. The Washington Savings Bank is accepting cash or checks for the "John Hurless Fund."

Due to an illness in his youth, Hurless has been denied any medical insurance. Anyone wishing more information may contact Pam Harper (335-3069) or Leroy Barton, of the Washington Savings Bank.

Scientists from China in Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Seven scientists and engineers from the People's Republic of China arrived here Sunday to tour water conservation and pollution control projects in the area this week.

The 11-man delegation, which includes aides and interpreters, will visit installations of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers on the Ohio River, Environmental Protection Agency, Ohio River Valley Water Sanitation Commission and the Kettering Laboratory and College of Engineering at the University of Cincinnati.

They will be guests of University of Cincinnati president Dr. Warren Bennis at a tea and reception.

Sunday the delegation was welcomed by Cincinnati mayor Theodore Berry, who presented the visitors with a key to the city.

The tour by the Chinese Hydro-Technical Study Group, was arranged last February by Henry Kissinger, President Nixon's foreign affairs advisor.

Street, road crews need weather break

City, county and state road crews are looking forward to a break in the rainy weather to continue spring maintenance projects.

Gene Fitzpatric, superintendent of the Ohio Department of Highways in Fayette County, said state crews will continue work on U.S. 35 at the I-71 interchange, and will be working on berms on Ohio 41, between Washington C.H. and Jeffersonville.

Work also is to continue on the double curves on Ohio 729, north of Jeffersonville. Workmen will have six mowers in operation and will be trimming along guardrails.

County crews, according to County Engineer Charles P. Wagner, will continue work on Railroad Street in Jeffersonville. Crews will also be ditching along the Bloomingburg-New Holland Road and the Zimmerman Road.

Some culvert work is planned on the Zimmerman Road, Wagner said. Other projects include mowing weeds and installing culverts in Jefferson Township.

City crews, according to Bill Duncan, acting superintendent of the Service Department, will be striping streets, mowing, spraying for mosquitoes and patching streets.

'Copter crash fatal to 6 in Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — Six crewmen died when Communist gunners shot down a South Vietnamese helicopter, the government reports. At least 55 enemy troops were reported killed in infantry assaults.

The CH47 Chinook helicopter was on a resupply mission 55 miles northwest of Saigon when a heat-seeking missile hit it Sunday, a spokesman said.

The commander of the infantry division assigned to the area said last week that the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong had been bringing in fresh tanks and other equipmant, including missiles.

The largest infantry clash Sunday was reported outside Kontum City in the Central Highlands. The Saigon command said 37 Communist troops were killed in an attack on government forces, which suffered seven wounded.

Among other truce violations cited by the government was a battle in the northern costal province of Binh Dinh, where 18 Communist soldiers were reported killed along with one government trooper.

A bomb set off by Communist saboteurs killed three civilians and wounded four others in the Mekong Delta town of Cai Be, the Saigon spokesman added.

Planning discussion slated Monday night

A general discussion meeting on community and regional planning will be held at 7 p.m. today in the conference room of the city offices, according to City Manager Dan Wolford.

Representatives of city, county and regional planning agencies are to attend to discuss means of creating a closer working relationship among the agencies.

Committee reform hurts

It is a common observation that members of Congress like to talk about government economy in abstract terms, but balk at cuts in their home areas.

A variant of this phenomenon is now being seen as a special House committee on overhauling the committee reform in the abstract, each tends to balk at specific changes infringing on his own committee's power.

There is no mystery about this. The committees are the source and instrumentality of power in Congress. Areas of jurisdiction, membership, and the resources available to them largely determine the clout wielded by committee chairmen. Few, if any, fancy having their power reduced.

Some indeed, already have suggested that the jurisdictions of their respective committees ought to be increased. The testimony of Chairman W.R. Poage of the Agriculture Committee illustrates the point. Having disavowed any intention of "being out to grab some other committee's jurisdiction," he proceeded to list programs (18 of them) which are now handled by nine other committees, but over which he felt that Agriculture should properly have control. Other committee chairmen have shown a similar attitude.

This cannot be condemned out or hand. It is quite evident that there ought to be some realignment, and this necessarily involves shifting certain responsibilities from one committee to another. During the quarter of a century since the last reorganization of the committee structure, various aspects of newly arisen or newly emphasized concerns have been distributed piecemeal without much regard for logic.

If there is to be sound reform of the committee structure, some committee chairmen are simply going to have to yield some of their power. But the analogy of pulling teeth does come to mind.

A WORD EDGEWISE . . . by John P. Roche

Those cables on Diem

For reasons expressed here a while back, I do not want to get involved in the orgy of hearsay about the Watergate affair. Leaving aside the question of principle, this decision makes practical sense: yesterday's hearsay is overtaken as rapidly by today's as today's will be by tomorrow's.

However, some facts are clearly established and one of them I find bizarrely intriguing: that E. Howard Hunt, then a White House staff member, was sitting over in the Executive Office Building reading all the State Department cables relating to the overthrow of President Ngo Dinh Diem in November, 1963.

His apparent mission was to demonstrate conclusively that President John Kennedy was responsible for the murder of Diem and his brother Ngo Dinh Nhu. Since — as I will shortly document — the cables (which I too have read) are thoroughly inconclusive, Hunt seemingly decided to forge a couple that would tie up the loose ends. (These were in the dossier that Acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray put into the burn bag, so we will never know how good Hunt was as a cable forger.)

BY AN ODD coincidence, Lyndon Johnson, then Vice President, was the outstanding opponent of an American initiative to topple Diem. He did not consider the South Vietnamese president the "Churchill" of Southeast Asia, but all the alternatives to Diem seemed worse. Moreover, he profoundly distrusted the active proponents of a coup, whom he accused at a meeting of the National Security Council of wanting to play "cowboys and Indians."

Then suddenly not only was Diem dead, but Kennedy too lay in his grave and Johnson was President. Among the new President's first tasks was a session with Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, who had come to Washington to report on events in Saigon.

Although he does not mention it in his memoirs, the late President told me that when he pressed Lodge on our involvement in the coup, the latter assured him it was a Vietnamese affair. But what disturbed Johnson was a gnawing sense that the coup-mongers in our government had pulled an end-run on the President.

One day in 1966, stimulated by a news story on some Kennedy staff memoir, he asked me: "Just what did President Kennedy decide?" Off I went to the archives and the result was — to a student of decision-making — fascinating.

Without going into the details, in August, 1963 — when informed by Undersecretary of State Averell Harriman and Assistant Secretary Roger Hilsman that a coup was essential and imminent—President Kennedy signed on. The August coup turned out to be a joke and in its wake serious men in Washington began to question the whole notion.

KENNEDY, caught in the cross-fire, took refuge in indecisiveness as indicated in the following cable of Oct. 5, 1963, to Lodge: "President today approved recommendation that no initiative should now be taken to give any active covert encouragement to a coup. There should however be urgent covert effort with closest security . . . to identify and build contacts with possible alternative leadership as and when it appears."

In no subsequent cable did the President abandon the conditional-subjunctive tense. The evidence, as I told President Johnson, left me in doubt whether Kennedy half favored a coup, or favored a half-coup. In effect, Lodge was told to play the hand.

That is the history of President Kennedy's "complicity," but the question remains : Who in his right mind would hire someone in 1972 to sit in the Executive Office Building and play with this stuff? (If they had asked me, I would have told them for nothing!)

The answer must be that some clown thought that the murder of Diem could be used as a campaign issue against Ted Kennedy. These are the aspects of the whole squalid mess that simply passeth understanding.

Just imagine Hunt fiddling the record to keep those millions of pro-Diem voters from supporting Kennedy. It is, as my daughter would say, a real "mindblower."

THESE DAYS . . . by John Chamberlain

Meeting the energy crisis

Washington, preoccupied with chasing down every last little Watergate rumor, moves with the speed of an overweight hippopotamus when it comes to dealing with such things as the energy crisis. So we have the usual predictions that we shall have to endure a summer of brown-outs in major power areas.

Despite the federal lethargy about giving the go-ahead for new atomic power stations or the better utilization of coal, however, Americans are doing something to avoid brown-outs. The summer, no thanks to Washington, may be better than anyone now anticipates.

In the New York City-Westchester region, for example, the Consolidated Edison Co. has put gas turbine generators on barges tied up at two critical points along the Brooklyn waterfront. One multi-unit of generators mounted on four barges, the Gowanus complex, is capable of delivering 600,000 kilowatts of electricity to shore-switching stations; another set of 350,000 Kw. capacity sends its power ashore at the Narrows, farther out in New York Bay.

Purchased from the General Electric Co., the barge units are operated by Con Ed on a lease-back arrangement with a consortium of banks. The whole business is ad lib, so to speak, but, as the French proverb has it, nothing endures like the provisional.

Combined with the Con Ed "save a watt" program that enlists the cooperation of Manhattan businessmen and apartment house proprietors, who have promised to shade their air conditioning needs, the semi-permanent barge-mounted generators should keep the lights burning and the factories running through the summer of 1973.

MEANWHILE, at the consumer goods end of the economy, big retailers are evolving their own energy conservation policits. The Montgomery Ward president, Edward Donnell, for example, has informed the managers of all his retail and catalogue stores, administrative centers and warehouses that they must keep summer air conditioning at 75 degrees instead of the traditional seventy-two. (Winter heating next year will be at 70 degrees instead of 72.)

The two-or-three degree difference will save some 10 to 15 per cent in heating and cooling energy. If a Montgomery Ward store is in a shopping center that controls the temperature of all the shops in the area, the Ward manager is told to "take the lead" in setting Fahrenheit standards.

Actually, there are a thousand-and-one things that the American people can do to conserve energy without suffering unduly. The Washington D.C., metropolitan area, for instance, has 400,000 homes with central air conditioning.

If, in each home, shades or drapes were to be drawn across four average-size windows facing east or west during sunlight hours, Washington householders would require 30 per cent fewer BTU's per hour. The addition of awnings would double the savings.

The American people are appliance-crazy, and there is little use in demanding that they give up washing machines and electric dishwashers. They will have the scalps of any Administration that tries to tell them the labor-saving revolution must be reversed in order to satisfy the dreams of the ecologists.

But the same revolution that has given us such frivolities as the electric toothbrush has come up with the microwave oven. The Electric Energy Association estimates that for a family of four a microwave oven uses only 300 kilowatt-hours a year at a cost of $9. A conventional electric oven for a family of four consumes 1,715 kilowatt-hours a year and costs $35.25, which is quite a difference.

IF AMERICANS are to continue being what Sen. Lowell Weicker calls "a sunrise people," they will insist on breakthrough methods of solving the energy crisis. The microwave oven is symbolic.

Last year the U.S. consumed 1.8 trillion kilowatt-hours, which was double what it used in 1961. Conservation is indicated for the next decade if we are not to go irretrievably into hock to the Arab nations for the oil needed to meet our industrial and transportation needs.

But a "sunrise people" will not endure stringencies forever just to make things easy for our lethargic politicos.

The concentration on Watergate, with its euplications of investigatory effort, is keeping Washington from its essential business, which is to provide a frame in which Americans can provide for their own future.

Do we really need to pile an Ervin Committee investigation on top of an Archibald Cox investigation in order to tell us whether Nixon was a culpable instigator of either the Watergate bugging or of its cover-up?

There is such a thing as double jeopardy; why must the same witnesses be sworn twice or thrice over? Especially when Congress has its own work to do while the Cox investigation, which is all that we need, goes its impartial way.

"RUN AROUND THE CORNER AND GET ME ANOTHER BAG OF FORTUNE COOKIES."

Hal Boyle . . . Remarks for doctor's aides

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a doctor's secretary gets tired of hearing:

"I thought bankers' hours were pretty good, but I guess a doctor's hours has them beat, haven't they?"

"Do you mind if I tell you my symptoms before I get in to see Dr. Medulla? Sometimes I get so flustered I forget to tell him half the things that are really wrong with me."

"You mean this is only Wednesday? Here I've been waiting two hours, and I'm not even supposed to be here until Thursday."

"Judging from the latest magazines I've been reading in your reception room, 1957 must have been quite an interesting year."

"After I've been sitting here half the day, you tell me this is Dr. Medulla's office. I'm supposed to see Dr. Oblongata. Isn't he in this building?"

"No, I don't care to tell you why I want to see the doctor. It's too personal. Just tell him that it has something to do with a stuck zipper — and I got to see him real quick."

"A doctor's waiting room is kind of like a cemetery isn't it? Not much action in either."

"I'm the mechanic at the garage where the doctor gets his car fixed. Does that entitle me to some kind of a professional discount?"

"Listen, good-looking, if you're not tied down, how about letting me take you to dinner tonight and tell you about a couple of interesting symptoms I've developed since I came in here and saw you?"

"No, baby, I'm not sick. I'm the salesman for a drug firm. If you'll slip me in to see the doc for five minutes I'll tell him about a new remedy we're putting out that will make all his patients feel like they can walk on water."

"This is Mrs. Grimsby calling. No, I don't want to make an appointment. I just want you to ask the doctor whether he thinks I might feel better if I took two of the brown pills a day instead of three and four of the pink pills instead of two."

LEGAL NOTICE

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Parents heartbroken over her choice of amputee

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 28 and a nurse. She took a job several thousand miles from home and has been gone nearly a year. We were hoping she'd come home last Christmas, but she said she'd come home next summer and bring her fiance. (She had written about a young man she'd fallen in love with, describing his "beautiful attitudes, brilliant mind, and outstanding character."

Now we know why she didn't bring him home for Christmas. He's an amputee! He lost both legs just below the knee when he stepped on a mine near Saigon. We learned this yesterday from a letter she wrote us.

We are heartsick. She's such a beautiful girl and could easily get a whole man. Abby, how do parents adjust to knowing their daughter will spend the rest of her life caring for an invalid?

HEARTBROKEN PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: What makes you think he's an invalid? You would be amazed how well some people can manage on artificial limbs. There is no reason to be heart-broken. If he's "whole" enough for her it says a great deal for her values. Theirs could be a completely beautiful and fulfilling marriage.

DEAR ABBY: You defined a homosexual as "one who has erotic feelings about members of his (or her) own sex."

It is my understanding that heterosexual sometimes have erotic feelings about members of their own sex. Am I mistaken? And by the way, do you think homosexuals are "sick?"

CURIOUS IN N.Y.

DEAR CURIOUS: You are correct. In my anxiousness to conserve space I oversimplified. I should have said, "individuals who have STRONG, PREFERENTIAL erotic feelings about members of their own sex can be considered homosexual."

And I most definitely DO NOT consider homosexuals "sick."

DEAR ABBY: Only my mother knows my real age because I've been lying about it for several years. I am engaged to an angel of a man who attributes the smoothness of our relationship to our complete honesty.

Although I've never lied to my fiance about anything else, I've repeated that lie about my age dozens of times in his presence, with friends, applying for graduate school, credit cards, etc.

What I want your advice on is this: Must my fiance ever know my real age? It would be so embarrassing to tell him now. He thinks he's two years older than me, when actually he is two months younger.

OLDER WOMAN

DEAR WOMAN: Tell him and tell him now. Not only for your own peace of mind but in anticipation of the day you'll be eligible for Social Security. ("Oh, what a tangled web we weave when first we practice deceive.")

CONFIDENTIAL TO: Those who are interested in reading a delightful little book with a big message about the purpose of life-beg, buy or borrow "Celebrate the Sun" by James Kavanaugh.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, June 4, the 155th day of 1973. There are 210 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1942, the Battle of Midway began. The naval and air warfare ended in the first decisive defeat for Japan in World War II.

On this date: In 1647, King Charles I of England's army seized him as a hostage.

In 1805, the United States concluded a peace treaty with Tripoli.

In 1831, Prince Leopold of Saxe-Coburg was chosen as the first king of Belgium.

In 1936, the first Socialist government of France took office under Premier Leon Blum.

In 1946, Juan Peron was inaugurated president of Argentina.

In 1961, President John F. Kennedy and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev conferred in Vienna, Austria.

Ten years ago: The body of Pope John XXIII was lying in state in St. Peter's Basilica.

Five years ago: The government of Yugoslavia banned public meetings or demonstrations in Belgrade after two days of fighting between students and police.

One year ago: U.S. jets set fire to a major fuel distribution station on the outskirts of the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong.

Today's birthdays: Opera singer Robert Merrill is 54. Actress Rosalind Russell is 61.

Thought for today: When your neighbor's house is afire, your own property is at stake. — Horace, Roman poet and satirist, 65 to 8 BC.

Corn, soybean prices said misleading

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soaring prices for soybeans and corn sound to many people as if farmers are doing superbly these days, but a look at the calendar and at the rising costs of production might suggest otherwise.

Except for the early wheat harvest in the southern plains, farmers have not produced any substantial grain since last year. This is a time for planting and cultivation, not harvest, in the big feed and soybean areas.

Thus, when the market reports mention soybeans at $10 per bushel or corn at $1.80 per bushel, the people who actually are in position to benefit are usually not farmers but the second and third-hand buyers who originally bought crops from producers.

The Agriculture Department, which compiles national averages for prices farmers receive and must pay out to meet production expenses, reported that the overall "prices paid" index rose 2 per cent from mid-April and was 14 per cent higher than in May last year.

But some of the specific items in the index indicate the cost problem confronting farmers is much more complex and serious. One of the main goals of the Nixon administration is larger meat output this year to help ward off further upward spirals at supermarkets.

But farmers, particularly those who feed cattle and hogs for the slaughter market, are thinking twice about feed costs. Those are so high at the present time that many will not expand their livestock feeding operations until relief is in sight.

McCloskey sets impeachment talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House discussion of whether President Nixon's actions in the Watergate affair are grounds for impeachment has been initiated by Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr., R-Calif.

McCloskey has reserved an hour after the close of regular House business Wednesday to discuss the matter, and invited other members to participate.

Under the Constitution, the House is responsible for remedying any executive misconduct, and therefore has a duty to examine the President's connection with the case, McCloskey said in a letter to all House members.

McCloskey, who has openly opposed Nixon on the Vietnam war and ran against him in a few GOP primaries last year, stated in his letter that the President's May 22 statement constituted grounds for impeachment.

The Ohio Environmental Protection Agency reminds Ohioans that they can help conserve water by keeping drinking water in the refrigerator rather than running water until it's cold.

Central U.S. hit by storms

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorm activity slackened during the early hours today, but some storms persisted from eastern Colorado and the Central Plains to the Great Lakes region and the Ohio Valley.

A few storms dampened central and eastern Texas. A flash flood watch was posted for much of Arkansas and southern Missouri. Hail of golf ball size pounded Indianola, Neb., just before midnight. A flash flood warning was issued for the Akron, Ohio, area.

There were a few thunderstorms over southern Florida and along the middle Atlantic coast and over the central and northern ockies.

A tornado near Wick in northeastern Ohio lifted a section of a moving Penn Central freight train and slammed it into another parked on a siding. No one was injured.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM RADER

'Open house' is planned for golden anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. William Rader, Bloomingburg-Danville Rd., will observe their golden anniversary from 2 to 5 p.m. June 10 at their home, with "open house." They were married on June 12, 1923.

They are the parents of one son, Myron Rader of Lawrenceville, and have two grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Miss Mossbarger completes Saturday wedding plans

Miss Diane Sue Mossbarger and Wayne Curtis Hawley have completed plans for their open church wedding for Saturday at 6:30 p.m. in Pisgah-Mt. Pleasant Federated Church. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dane R. Mossbarger, Rt. 2, Frankfort.

Parents of the prospective bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hawley of Endicott, N.Y.

Officiating at the candlelight service will be the Rev. Charles F. Cooley, minister of Ohio State Students of King Avenue United Methodist Church, Columbus.

Wedding music will be presented by Mrs. Dane R. Mossbarger, mother of the bride-elect, vocalist, and Gail H. Finch, organist, who will also play the processional and recessional.

Miss Mossbarger has asked Miss Katherine Sue Wacker of Mt. Vernon to be maid of honor. The flower girl will be the niece of the prospective bridegroom, Miss Lisa Mecca of West Orange, N.J.

Best man will be August Supan of Garfield Heights, college roommate of the bridegroom. Ushers will be David Mossbarger, Rt. 2, Frankfort, brother of the bride-elect, and another college roommate of the prospective bridegroom, Ralph Bowers of Dover. Jeffrey Mossbarger of Frankfort, nephew of Miss Mossbarger, will be ring bearer.

Following the ceremony, a reception will be held in the church annex.

The evening preceding the wedding, the parents of Mr. Hawley will entertain the rehearsal dinner at Frankfort.

Crusaders plan projects

Christian Crusaders Class of South Side Church of Christ met in Fellowship Hall Saturday evening. The meeting was preceded with a covered dish dinner. The Rev. Charles Richmond gave the invocation.

Howard Brooks conducted the business session. The class will pay tuition for two youths to attend Butler Springs Christian Assembly. Rev. Richmond, a guest for the evening, reported on the legality of owning a church bus. A fund has been started by the church for the purchase of a bus. Other projects were discussed.

Frank Coulter gave devotions using for his subject "God's Plan for Rest." The group sang "The Haven of Rest" accompanied by Mrs. Frank Creamer at the piano. Mr. Coulter read Scripture from the Book of Exodus.

Miss Ruth McKay was in charge of the entertainment, in which all participated.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Coulter, Mrs. Alice Beedy and Mrs. Margaret Emrick.

Hostesses for the July meeting will be Mrs. Howard Brooks, Mrs. Grant Whiteside, and Mrs. John Sparks. Mr. Brooks will give devotions and Mrs. Brooks will provide entertainment.

Mrs. Jordan to entertain

Mrs. John G. Jordan will entertain members of the Fayette Garden Club at 1:30 p.m. Friday. Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. Ralph Hays and Mrs. Peter Smeltzer.

The program topic, "Gifts From Our Garden", will be presented by Mrs. Orville Jenkins, Mrs. George Trimmer and Mrs. Kenneth Bush.

Club members will hold a specimen flower show. The design for the month entitled "O Promise Me" will be brought by Mrs. P. C. Harlow.

Couple honored

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Duncan, 831 S. Hinde St., were guests at a dinner party in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary, held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Massie, their son-in-law and daughter, 907 S. Main St. on Sunday.

Following the dinner, cake and ice cream were served. Gifts were opened by the honored couple.

Present for the occasion were Edward Duncan, Mrs. Nancy Reid and children, Miss Iris Bradshaw, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Anthony and children, Mr. and Mrs. Massie and family, the Misses Penny and Mary Duncan and Donald Duncan.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Amos Duncan and family of Xenia, Mr. and Mrs. James Duncan and family of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. William Hall Jr. of Jeffersonville, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rinehart of Milledgeville.

Miss Crabtree completes wedding plans

Miss Debora Crabtree and Randy Robinson have completed plans for their open church wedding Saturday in Fall Creek Friends Church. The Rev. Richard Bowers will perform the double-ring ceremony at 3:30 p.m.

Miss Crabtree is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crabtree, Rt. 2, Greenfield, and Mr. Robinson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ramond Robinson, 237 W. Elm St. Miss Patricia Spangler, organist, will present a half-hour of nuptial music preceding the ceremony and the precessional and recessional.

Miss Linda Flynn of Greenfield will be maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Miss Ellen Cook of Hillsboro and Miss Eva Robinson, sister of the prospective groom. Junior bridesmaids will be the Misses Rhonda and Sandy Crabtree, sisters of the bride-elect.

Jeff Brown will serve as best man Seating the wedding guests will be Ronald Erskin of Greenfield; Steven Crabtree, brother of the prospective groom; Bill Rea and Danny Lininger, both of Washington C.H.

Hostesses for the reception planned at the home of the bride's parents following the wedding ceremony will be Mrs. Roger Crabtree, Mrs. Ola Daves and Miss Lois Huff, all aunts of the bride-elect.

Mrs. Steven Crabtree will preside at the guest book.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Hugh Downs was in town the other day to talk to a network about a new TV series he has in mind. But the proposed show doesn't involve make-believe. It concerns frank discussions of the sexual and emotional problems Americans face in real life.

Before you get the idea the former star of NBC's "Today" show has gone daft, a few things need explaining. In recent years, Downs has become increasingly concerned about the population explosion.

It's led him to join the national board of the Planned Parenthood Federation. And he's national co-chairman of the Citizens' Committee on Population and the American Future.

The latter group was formed to keep alive last year's findings and recommendations of a special commission — created by Congress at President Nixon's request — that studied America's population problems.

The way Downs sees it, an educational TV series about sex and emotion would be of great help in carrying out the task of the citizens' committee, formed by John D. Rockefeller III.

"In all honesty, I think the print media has been more forthright about these issues," Downs said. "It's true that television has displayed some real courage in areas of controversy.

"But in the area of human sexuality, it's been strangely silent, damn near completely silent. I think this is because sexuality is considered such a hot potato, which it needn't be if honestly presented."

Downs, who declined to name the network with which he's discussing the proposed series, said he'd like the show to run five times a week.

The topics could range from rape to the pros and cons of abortion or federal funding for contraceptive research, he said.

Each show would have guest experts and a "moderator who knows the difference between knowledge and opinion," Downs said.

He said were he directly involved in the show, he'd prefer to produce it — not moderate it — but he would do whatever was necessary to make the show effective.

JASPER TOP-NOTCHERS 4-H

The May 24 meeting of the Jasper Top-Notchers 4-H Club was held in the home of Charles Hiser, adviser. David Hiser announced the important dates of: June 3, Tractor Rodeo; June 12 of the safety speaking contest at 7:30 p.m. at the Extension Office; and the Ohio Club Congress for June 13-16 at Ohio State University.

Reports given by health and safety leaders went as follows: junior health boy Tim Anders gave a report of "Communicable Diseases;" senior health girl Mary Wilson reported on "Food Poisoning;" junior safety boy Mike McFadden gave the report of "Brown Recluse Spider;" senior safety boy Kurt Klontz reported on "Power Tool Safety;" and senior health boy David McFadden reported on "Chronic Cough."

The next meeting will be June 5 at the Hiser Home. Refreshments were served by Tim Anders and Kurt Klontz.

TO LO HO RE CA CF

Thank you notes were written to Sheriff Donald Thompson and his staff for letting the group visit. Members practiced marching positions for the Memorial Day Parade and the girls turned in camp money and permissions slips.

Mrs. Ralph Tate announced that a Camp Fire meeting for camp training will be held next week. Girls are to purchase knives to use at camp. Five girls received awards for bringing new members.

President Melissa Leeth gave the Sign of the Fire and vice president Wendy Wisecup recited the pledge. Lisa Clemans read minutes of the last meeting and Joyce Brown collected dues. Angela Oyer and Jody Fillmore served refreshments to 14 girls.

Mrs. Ronald Dowler and Mrs. William Pressler helped Mrs. Tate with the meeting.

Ohio Perspective

Auto inspection bill dies again

By PERRY SMITH
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An almost biennial bill to require every motor vehicle in Ohio to be inspected once every two years is apparently dead.

Sponsored by Rep. Patrick A. Sweeney, D-6 Cleveland, the bill was introduced last month but hasn't been scheduled for a hearing.

As a matter of fact it hasn't even been printed, and House Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, doubts that it ever will be.

"This bill comes along every session but never goes anywhere," Lancione said. "There is no pressure from downstairs (governor' office) to hear it."

Lancione contended the State Highway Patrol, which now does the random inspection of vehicles on Ohio highways, does not have the manpower for mandatory checks of all vehicles.

In addition, Lancione said there has been widespread abuse of the inspection system in states that now have it. There have been repeated charges of wrong-doing and kickbacks in many states, he said.

Sweeney's bill, which would do away with the current random inspection teams, would establish official inspection stations throughout the state. They would operate under Highway Patrol jurisdiction.

The random inspection teams inspects up to 38,000 a month.

In 1971, patrolmen found 1,573 vehicles so defective they towed them off the road as dangerous. In 1972, the figure fell to 172.

Sweeney said the Highway Patrol's random inspection team is ineffective in large counties.

"The Highway Patrol does not police the largest county in the state, Cuyahoga," he said. "Consequently we have no auto inspection up there."

Sweeney said mandatory inspection statewide is only one of two possible solutions. Another, he said, would be for the state to give financial assistance to local communities to conduct their own.

Admitting that kickbacks and inspections-for-a-price are major problems of mandatory inspections, he would like to have a special team of the Highway Patrol set up to look for those violations.

"We have inspection teams set up for liquor violations, why can't we do it on this?" he said.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

TUESDAY, JUNE 5

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Some good news or friendly cooperation should aid you in perfecting long-range plans. Study new trends, developments.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Day should be generally satisfactory but, without personal initiative, you will fall behind. Nothing will be GIVEN to you.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Some strain and tension possible now, so do not overtax yourself to the point of fatigue. Do your best where duties are concerned, of course, but don't assume unnecessary burdens.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Where the obvious means to success are skimpy, you can now figure out preferable, more feasible ones. But have patience, be vigilant, precise. Watch trends.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

You may face some complex situations, some unexpected obstacles, so anticipate them — but with composure and preparedness, not anxiety.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Here is a spot for you to outpoint those who are careless or do not reckon with contingencies. A great day to display your innate ingenuity!

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Not too much planetary help, but the alert, active persons can always manipulate an "off" day into one of sound usefulness, even if in an unexpected manner.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

You may overreach your mark now through overanxiety or miscalculation. Recall how you waded through complex days before, and be guided by experience.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Jupiter's beneficent aspect especially favors research, scientific interests, organizational matters, finances. You may get some good ideas from others.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

A day which calls for strong discrimination. Don't waste time on nonessentials while you neglect vital matters.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

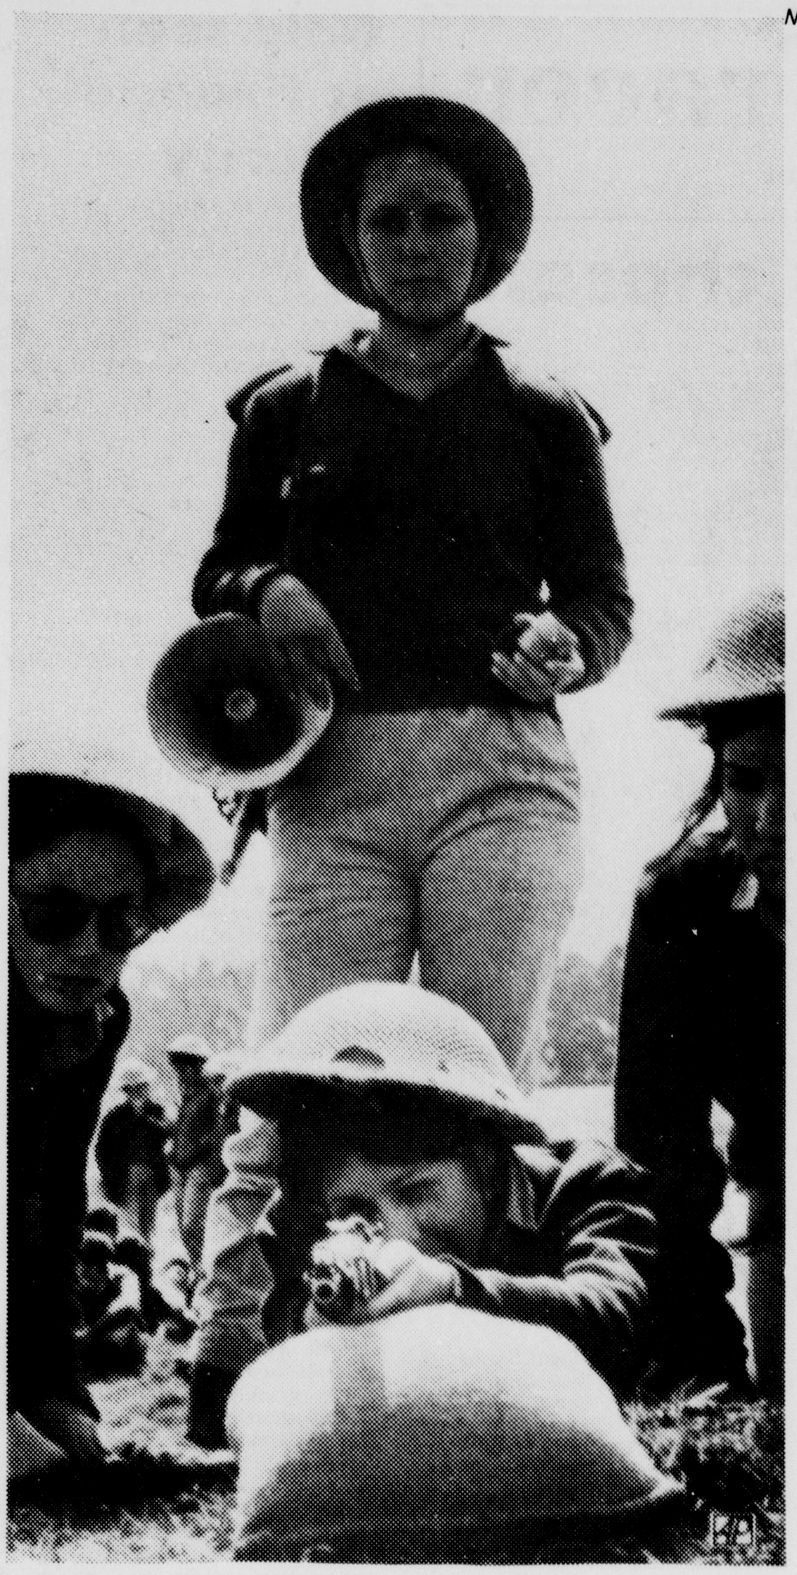

Avoid tendencies toward restlessness, indecision. Protect yourself and others against dubious schemes, deceiving appearances and lack of restraint.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

A mixed sort of day. You are in the middle of changing situations, some controversy, some very interesting opportunities. Work matters out with your usual foresight.

YOU BORN TODAY are highly ingenious, adaptable, gregarious by nature and creative in your leanings. You have a wealth of telents but may be too impulsive at times, or so restless that you drop projects without giving them time to prove themselves. Your imagination is vivid and you put a touch of originality and finesse to whatever you do. While you are just as creatively inclined as other Geminians and could make as envirable a success in the worlds of literature, music, the theater or decorating, you, unlike many, have an unusually good business head and are something of a wizard at finances. While you are a good planner, many of your greatest successes are the result of "brainstorms," which can be truly brilliant. The word expects much of the Geminian — and he expects much of himself.

Steel market said tightest in years throughout world

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The steel market is the tightest it has been in years, both in this country and throughout the world, Industry Week magazine said Monday.

"Domestic steel producers admit the situation is tight, but they maintain that most regular customers are getting enough steel for near-normal operations," the magazine said.

"Unfortunately, some of the customers don't agree. In fact, a few argue that the way some domestic mills are handling this market will hurt the industry in the long run."

Industry Week said steel shipments by U.S. mills are expected to average one million net tons a month less the second half of this year than during the first half.

This is not because of reduced demand "but because that's all mills will be able to produce," it added.

The magazine said first-half shipments will average 9.3 million tons a month, giving the first six months of the year a record of about 56 million tons.

"Only by drawing upon their own inventories have mills been able to ship an average of 9.3 million tons monthly in the first half, but the inventories are about exhausted," Industry Week said.

It said there is no slackening in the heavy demand for products such as sheets, strip, bars and rods and there is an increasing demand for plates and structural shapes, although structurals haven't caught up with plates.

The magazine estimated raw steel production last week at 3,007,000 net tons compared with the 3,010,000 tons produced in the preceding week.

Prices of scrap continue to climb. Industry Week's prices composite on No. 1 heavy melting steelmaking scrap rose to $53.33 per gross ton last week from the preceding week's $52.83.

Catholics to review learning approaches

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Catholic leaders voted Sunday at the fifth annual assembly of the Cincinnati Archdiocesan Council of the Laity to explore new approaches to Catholic education.

"We're going to have to sell the advantages of Catholic education," said James Bockelman, director of the 300-delegate assembly's membership.

Catholics must create public interest "so that I could come and say 'as a non-Catholic I will support your schools.'"

MTHS cheerleaders chosen

By BARBARA MARVIN

Sixteen girls were chosen recently to represent Miami Trace High School as cheerleaders for the 1973-74 sports seasons. They were judged on the basis of character, leadership, appearance, personality, voice, execution of cheer, jump, teamwork, personal reaction, and acrobatic ability.

Judges of the contest were Mr. Jack Brown, Mr. Paul Grim, Mr. Curtis Fleisher, Mr. Delmar Mowery, Mrs. Sandra Sowash, Mrs. Beverly Walters, Mr. Jeffrey Evans, Jo Lynn LeBeau, Kathy Woodfork, Carol Justice, Lynette Anderson, and Toni McDonald.

Chosen as varsity cheerleaders were Jolene Rapp, Beanie Cross, Connie Hughes, Denise Lyons, Connie Stayrook, and Julie Blake.

Reserve cheerleaders are Tami Johnson, Tammy Walters, Debbie Cremeans, Rosemary Evans, and Vicki Patton.

Freshman cheerleaders are Bonnie Salyers, Terry Helsel, Christy Tarbutton, Debbie Persinger, and Kim Riley.

Auditions held for Folksingers

By DAWN SCHLICHTER

Auditions for the Miami Trace Folksingers for the 1973-74 school year were held recently. Mrs. Cinda Stinson, vocal director, and the present Folksinger officers — Bob Ford, Keith Earley, Jill Fetters, Paula Alkire, Vickie Lowe — were judges.

Each person auditioning was required to present a vocal solo, to sight read music, and to sing different series of notes (ear training).

The new members are Jim Arledge, Jeff Ruth, Bob Holloway, Don Davis, Lonnie King, Randy Reiber, Vernon Stanforth, Bud Mountcastle, Tim Keaton, Doug Joseph, Jim Woods, Connie Hughes, Denise Beoddy, Julie Persinger, Paula Welsh, Janet Blevins, Gretchen Krieger, Cindy Mountcastle, Pam Straley, Judy Whiting, and Brenda Garringer.

Alternates are Belinda Bonner, Denise Matthews, Tammy West, and Carman White. The new accompanist is Elise Hill, and the assistant is Ann Campbell.

Each year the Folksingers appear at many civic and community functions and have sung several times at the Ohio Theater in Columbus.

Members of girls cage squad feted

By BARBARA MARVIN

Mrs. Sandra Sowash, physical education teacher and advisor of the Girls' Athletic Association at Miami Trace, was the hostess for a party given for the girls who participated in the softball team.

Thirty people attended the cook-out, held at Mrs. Sowash's home. For recreation the girls played softball.

AWARDS WERE presented to outstanding members of the team. Receiving the awards were Becky Hoppess for most valuable player, Pam Matson for best fielding, and Pam Henry for best batter.

Graduating seniors on the team are Becky Hoppess, Pam Robinson, and Tonda Souther. The team finished the season with a fine 5-2 record.

NHS selects new officers

By LORA BROOKS

Recently the new members of the Miami Trace Chapter of the National Honor Society held their first meeting with 14 people present. The main goal set for the coming year was to do better than the outgoing graduates of 1973.

Nex came election of officers. Gary Cobb was chosen president; Scott Jenks, vice president; Julie Frost, secretary; and Marianne Arnold, treasurer.

The National Honor Society pins were distributed to the new members, and the advisor, Mr. Fred Doyle, requested that they be worn until the end of the year.

A short meeting of the new officers was held afterward.

Gold seen as financial security

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Through the years, gold seems to have held mankind in a trance. Once, it was worshiped as having come from the sun, or the heavens. Today it is worshiped by many as the only real financial security.

Because of this, the twice-devalued dollar is in trouble again. Dollars are being sold for gold; so, following the law of supply and demand, the dollar's price is being pressed down; the price of gold, pushed up.

Last week, it reached a price of more than $120 an ounce, up 25 per cent in just a month, as financial assets that were maintained in dollars were switched into gold. And, because of inflation, a lot of dollars are floating around.

Why this should be done isn't altogether explainable, but nothing about gold and its adherents ever is.

For example, there is plenty of evidence that gold buyers are speculating on an increased role for gold in the monetary system of the future, even though its relationship to currencies is officially severed. There are those who cannot believe that man can rid himself of ties to gold, and they may be right. Gold as a medium of exchange may be considered primitive, but it remains universally acceptable.

The current interpretation of the rising gold price is that the United States' economy continues to suffer from inflation, notwithstanding promises from Washington about the future. And the country still imports more than it exports.

This is bad news for those who traditionally have held dollars for security. All over the world, the dollar was thought to be the safest, untainted by the erosion that ruined other currencies.

But dollar erosion today is very serious. And gold never erodes. No government or industry or institution can do anything to diminish the amount of gold somebody has cached away. And it is almost impervious to nature.

Talk among economists now is of an upcoming recession following the current boom. William McChesney Martin Jr., former head of the Federal Reserve Board, is among the latest to express this opinion.

Moreover, Martin fed additional fears with his statement to the Senate Finance Committee that "the nation is floating on a sea of debt" and that he was worried about the banking system.

Martin is highly respected in world monetary and financial circles, and his comments are bound to be used abroad as reinforcement of their own concerns. And among those concerns about America is its current government.

In the view of some Europeans, President Nixon's ability to govern has been impaired seriously at the very time that the price and payments balance situations need close supervision from Washington.

And so they switch to gold, hoping that somehow the new international monetary order or growing industrial demand will continue to push up its price. It might not pay any interest, they know, but they feel safe with it. Man always has.

Air Force Academy officer pays visit to WCH schools

Lt. Col. George Bernhard, USAFR, liason officer to Fayette County for the U.S. Air Force Academy near Colorado Springs, Colo., recently visited Washington Senior High School to award a certificate of appointment to the Air Force Academy to graduate John Michael Domenico. Domenico has decided to attend Miami University instead of accepting the Academy appointment.

Col. Bernhard also visited Washington Junior High School where he spoke with guidance counselor Maurice Pfeifer, and made plans to present a slide and movie program about the academy next fall.

Col. Bernhard is offering to assist students in planning their high school courses and extracurricular activities so that they can improve their chances to qualify on the Air Force Academy entrance exams. He said mathematics and English are important to provide a background for the college testing programs. The Academy requires that candidates take either the College Admissions Testing Program or the American College Testing Program examinations.

He urged students to take the tests during their junior year in high school. By determining strong and weak points, the student can score higher when he takes the tests again during the senior year, Col. Bernhard said.

Col. Bernhard is available to talk with high school students and their parents about the Air Force Academy. He may be contacted at 750 S. High St., Columbus.

AMA chief sees medical advances

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— The outgoing president of the American Medical Association (AMA) said Sunday the wheels are in motion for a major technical advances in medical care.

Dr. Charles Hoffman said the changes will come without financial assistance from the government.

"Satellite clinics are taking basic care and attention to the most remote and neglected areas," he told graduates of the University of Cincinnati College of Medicine at commencement ceremonies.

Young couples, old furniture set for future weddings

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—Ask Bruce Trimble, Renee McGee, Liz Turner and Scott Diehl what they are doing in an old barn with old furniture, and they would probably answer that they are getting an early start in furnishing their future homes.

All are students at Washburn University in Kansas. Renee and Bruce plan to marry in June and Liz and Scott plan a July 21 wedding. The four newlyweds-to-be won't have one headache to contend with when they get married: they won't have to go furniture hunting. They already have theirs. Househunting is another matter.

But in the furniture department, both couples like antiques and have been getting pieces here and there for nearly a year, storing them away in a rented barn on the west edge of Topeka.

"Antiques are both cheaper in the first place and cheaper in the long run," said Bruce. "This stuff is built so much better and sturdier than new furniture."

"I guess you could call our period Early American Attic," Renee added.

Both couples feel that they will appreciate the furniture more because of the work they have put into them. On weekends they usually drive out to the barn and spend time varnishing, sanding and antiquing.

Liz had the good fortune to find four matched maple chairs. A former coworker was getting ready to throw them away, but Liz managed to intercept them.

"I told her we were looking for old furniture and she sold them to us for practically nothing. They were all black, painted and really looked pretty bad, but matched chairs are hard to find. We took a chance and now I'm really glad we did," she said.

While most newlyweds might have the problem of not having enough furniture, the Trimble's and the Diehl's look as if they will have too much.

"Well, maybe we should hang onto the barn," Renee said.

Scot's Inn companies ask merger

COLUMBUS — George E. Blackmore, formerly of Washington C.H., president of Scot's Inn Land Co., and Jack D. Brown, president of Scot's Inn Management Co., have announced an agreement for the merger of their two companies.

If approved by their respective directors and shareholders, the two companies will be merged into Scot's Inn International, Inc., a Delaware corporation.

Scot's Inn Management Co. and Scot's Inn Land Co. are Ohio corporations, with securities held by the general public. An appraisal of the two companies to establish a value of their respective shares was made by The American Appraisal Co., Inc. of Milwaukee, Wis., as of Feb. 28, 1973, they said.

The appraisal valued each outstanding Class A common share of Scot's Inn Land Co. at $4.10, each Class B common share at $2.10, and each common share of Scot's Inn Management Co. at $4.21.

On the basis of these values, the agreement provides that shareholders of Scot's Inn Land Co. will receive 1 1-10 shares of Scot's Inn International, Inc. Class A stock for each Class A common share held and one share of Class B stock for each Class B common share held. For each outstanding common share of Scot's Inn Management Company, shareholders will receive one share of Class A stock and ¼ share of Class B stock of Scot's Inn International, Inc.

An application for a hearing before the Ohio Division of Securities was filed on May 31.

Rocket misfires in Irish action

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Terrorists fired a rocket at Belfast Airport but it misfired, struck a security fence and failed to explode, authorities said.

Mobs of men and youths threw stones and bombs at British patrols and an army post in Londonderry, but were driven off Sunday night with rubber bullets. No casualties were reported.

Earlier, two youths opened up with submachine guns in a Belfast house, killing a Protestant man and woman and seriously injuring a Protestant woman companion said to associate with Roman Catholics.

RECEIVES DEGREE — Judge Evelyn W. Coffman of Fayette County Common Pleas Court receives the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Bob Jones University. Shown with her are Dr. Bob Jones, chancellor of the university, and Dr. Bob Jones III, university president.

Bob Jones University honors Judge Coffman

An honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was presented to Fayette County Common Pleas Court Judge Evelyn W. Coffman at convocation exercises May 30 at Bob Jones University, Greenville, S.C.

Dr. Coffman and her husband, Dwight, make their home at 700 Van Deman Ave., Washington C.H. Their son, Tom, was one of 500 who received degrees at the graduation exercises.

Judge Coffman took her pre-law training at the University of Cincinnati and received the juris doctor's degree from Salmon P. Chase College of Law in 1942. She practiced law in Cincinnati for several years.

For more than 10 years she has held her present position and is one of only two women in Ohio to serve as judge of a Common Pleas Court. She holds membership in the American Bar Association, Ohio State Bar Association, Fayette County Bar Association, Ohio Judicial Conference, and numerous other professional and civic organizations. She serves on the BJU Board of Trustees.

Dr. Coffman is an active member of the Fayette Bible Church and teaches a class of teenagers.

Mrs. Shoop on panel for AAA convention

Mrs. Mary Belle Shoop, manager of the Fayette County Auto Club, has been named to the rules committee for the 67th annual convention of the Ohio AAA Association, the state association for 54 affiliated Ohio auto clubs.

The two-day business session will be attended by more than 150 delegates June 28-29 in Akron. Travel, no-fault insurance, "DWI Counterattack" and the gasoline shortage are among the topics on the agenda. Delegates will take action of resolutions affecting OAAA policy and will elect officers and directors.

Tire blows out; 2 men injured

A tire blowout was blamed by sheriff's deputies for a single car crash on U.S. 35 Sunday afternoon which sent two Jackson men to Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Only five traffic accidents were investigated in the city county area over the weekend.

Gregory L. Hill, 22, Jackson, was treated at Memorial Hospital for scalp and forehead lacerations when the right front tire on the car he was driving blew out. A passenger, Dessie Mullins, 18, Jackson, was treated for abrasions and contusions.

Sheriff's deputies said the Hill car was headed southwest on U.S. 35, about three miles north of Washington C.H. when the accident occurred. The 1965 model auto ran off the right side of the highway and through a fence on the Roger B. McCoy farm. It overturned on its side in a cornfield.

Officers said the car was demolished.

Other mishaps were:

Personnel matters to top county school board slate

A number of personnel matters will top the agenda for members of the Fayette County Board of Education at the regular semi-monthly meeting which will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday at New Holland Elementary School.

Superintendent Guy M. Foster said board members will consider the resignations of four teachers and a janitor-bus driver, offer supplemental contracts for head teachers and coaching positions, employ five new teachers and hear a request from a teacher concerning a leave of absence.

In addition, the board will make formal application for Title I and DPPF funds for the 1973-74 school year, approve social studies textbooks for seventh graders, review a meeting of the school study committee of the Miami Trace School District, and hear a report concerning Title I and Title II inspections held recently.

The board also will take a look at the summer maintenance program, hear a report from the district's lunchroom supervisor, consider a tuition request, review bills currently before the state legislature and consider requests from teachers to attend professional meetings.

New tests could predict cave-ins

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Bureau of Mines is developing a geologic technique that may allow mapping of areas of potential roof-fall danger in coal mines, one of the leading causes of death in underground shafts.

A dozen geologic variables contribute to roof falls, the bureau said, with certain combinations of those variables making roof falls more likely.

In testing the technique experimentally in a coal mining area on the West Virginia-Pennsylvania border, the bureau was able to outline areas of potentially dangerous mine roof, and to rate the degree of danger.

The study was made by charting the structure, contour, thickness and physical type of the rock layers of the coal seam.

The miscroscope was invented in 1590 by Zacharias Janssen, Dutch spectacle maker.

John Wayne sticks up for Nixon

SEATTLE (AP) — Actor John Wayne, a longtime supporter of President Nixon, says the Watergate bugging was a "panty raid by underlings who enjoy playing cloak and dagger."

In an interview Sunday with the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Wayne said Nixon was being blamed unfairly for the bugging incident and subsequent coverup attempts.

Referring to two of the White House aides who have resigned as a result of Watergate, the 66-year-old actor said:

"I don't personally know his associates, (John) Ehrlichman and (H.R.) Haldeman. From what I've heard, they were pretty arrogant fellows. They haven't helped the President much.

"But too often the press and Congress just haven't praised Mr. Nixon enough for the good he has done."

Appearing in Seattle for the filming of a movie, Wayne said the President had ended the Vietnam war and "done all of the things the other men said they would do if elected."

"But because of a damned panty raid by underlings who enjoy playing cloak and dagger, his magnificent record of accomplishment has been tarnished," the veteran actor said.

The adhesive postage stamp was invented by James Chalmers, a Scottish bookseller.

Ohio Senate schedules vote on tax relief for farmers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Farmers will get a property tax break if a proposed constitutional amendment is passed the Ohio Senate and approved by voters.

The measure, which gives the legislature the authority to pass laws putting farm property in a lower tax classification, comes up for a floor vote Wednesday in the Ohio Senate.

Now the state constitution requires all real property in the state be taxed on the amount if would bring if sold.

The amendment proposes the legislature set tax rates on the basis of the property's use. Farmers whose land value has soared would be the main beneficiaries.

Rep. John E. Johnson, D-68 Orville, is the main House sponsor of the proposal. The measure, which cleared the House in February, has 44 co-sponsors.

Johnson tried to get the proposal on the May 8 primary ballot, but was unable to meet the 90-day deadline. The sponsors noted the measure could not affect this year's tax bill anyway, so the November election would be early enough.

Representatives of country clubs, golf courses and others in the recreation business sought to have the legislature include their property in the special class.

James H. Glass, president of the League of Ohio Sportsmen, said last week that "general recreational uses cannot compete on a dollar basis with potential agricultural uses, let alone residential or industrial uses which someone might conceive that the land could be used for."

The league issued a statement asking Senate approval of the amendment and putting it up to a vote by the public.

German solon worked as double agent

BONN, Germany (AP) — The Interior Ministry confirmed Sunday that an obscure former opposition party legislator had worked as a double agent, but denied that government members knew of his activities.

Julius Steiner, a Christian Democratic Union lawmaker until elections last November, declared he spied on his own party for East Germany in return for $900 a week and a generous expense account.

The affair broke Friday when several newspapers published unconfirmed reports that members or influential sympathizers of Chancellor Willy Brandt's Social Democratic party paid two opposition legislators to abstain from voting on a crucial motion of no confidence against the government.

In the secret balloting, which took place in April 1972, Rainer Barzel, then opposition floor leader, sought to topple the Brandt government and replace him as chancellor, but fell two votes short.

Steiner said in an interview with the news magazine Der Spiegel that he was one of the two opposition members who abstained, but he denied being bribed. He said he abstained because Barzel would have been a "national catastrophe" as chancellor.

Some observers noted that Communist East Germany could at that time have had an interest in keeping the Brandt government in power and that Steiner had been approached by East German agents six days before the crucial vote with a request to spy on his own party.

Common Market opens trade talks

LUXEMBOURGH (AP) — Common Market foreign ministers began meeting here today to try to unify their policies for the "Nixon round" of trade talks beginning this fall.

Prospects for early, clear-cut progress are nil. But the ministers hope to find out if the members want to work out a common stand before mid-September when the world's major industrial non-Communist countries begin trade talks in Tokyo.

The French have taken a comparatively firm stand toward future trade negotiations, while other market members favor greater flexibility.

Graham ends Korea crusade

SEOUL (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham ended a five-day crusade in South Korea by preaching to what he said was the largest audience of his 33-year ministry.

Korean organizers of the crusade said a million people were on hand Sunday to hear Graham's final sermon and said total attendance for the crusade was three million. Korean police estimated the audience at 500,000, still a record.

The crowd caused North Korea to charge the Seoul government with "forcibly mobilizing large crowds to stage a superstitious play in concert with American missionaries."

Graham and South Korean crusade officials denied there had been any pressure from the South Korean government, and Graham said Communist attempts to discredit his work were "nothing new."

The government of President Chung Hee Park, who is a Christian, did provide full support for the crusade.

Ohio pen is dehumanizing, say make-believe prisoners

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The "Conferees," 140 make-believe prisoners, ended a three-day session behind bars at the Ohio Penitentiary Sunday pledging to abolish dehumanizing conditions in the state's penal system.

The group of judges, legislators, correction officials, policemen, lawyers, journalists, interested citizens and 20 real inmates who remained imprisoned, volunteered to be jailed. They said they hoped their experience would help solve inmate problems, such as those which recently triggered a strike at the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility near Lucasville.

In a resolution, the group agreed, "Our three days behind bars have taught us how easy it is for potentially serious problems to arise from aggravated grievances of men and women in confinement.

The "jail-in" began Friday when Columbus police arrested, handcuffed, frisked and paddywagoned the volunteers to the penitentiary.

The "criminals" were processed as inmates at the prison, frisked of all valuables and identification, fingerprinted, photographed and issued prison garments.

They were led around the prison triple-file by actual guards participating in the seminar. For two nights they were locked inside a six-tier cell block, two or three to a room with an uncovered toilet and cold running water.

The volunteers ate in the prison kitchen without knives or napkins and little talking. They were counted after each meal and before lights out.

Sunday the group decided to reject an initial list of Ohio penal system reforms it had drafted in favor of creating a small citizens group to draw up specific changes.

Included among the reforms on the draft list were:

—Confinement conditions must meet basic standards of humanity, decency and equity. This includes upgrading medical and legal services, more education, ending racism, increasing inmate wages and beginning conjugal visitation.

—Jailing be limited to dangerous persons convicted of violent crimes and to repeat criminals. Others should be returned to rehabilitative community placements.

Community Education panel meets

The committee for Community Education met Saturday in the Junior High School cafeteria to hear subcommittee reports on progress in the steps that must be taken to organize a community education program here.

The committee, chaired by Kaye F. Bartlett, heard reports from John Gruber on programming, facilities and scheduling; Robert Lutz on purpose and administration, and Richard Whiteside on directorship and finances. During the next two weeks, Bartlett and a representative from each subcommittee will produce a composite draft to be submitted to the entire committee for approval.

Bartlett announced that Dr. Sam Lucas, specialist in continuing education at Ball State University, will be available to come here June 11-12, and speak to the committee as well as some of the local organizations, including the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs. Details of the schedule are still to be worked out and will be announced at a later date.

Subdivision hearing

A public hearing on new subdivision regulations will be conducted by the City Planning Commission at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the conference room of the city offices.

Shirley Chisholm plans new career

By EVE SHARBUTT
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — For most congressmen, politics is life. Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y., thinks there's a lot more to living than that.

So she won't be spending the rest of her life in politics.

"There are just too many other things I want to do," said the Brooklyn congresswoman and unsuccessful candidate for president.

"One of those things is establishing a politicial institute that would teach young people about politics. I've overcome many obstacles, and I'd like to share with young people some of the ways they can succeed," she said.

"All my life, I've worked within the system's organized groups, taking around petitions and filling in for speakers. I labored in the vineyards for 15 years before I ran for Congress and I've been able to assess the weaknesses and strengths of many of my opponents.

"I can explain to young people that they must work in the system. They can't just tilt at windmills," Mrs. Chisholm said.

ANOTHER of the plans Mrs. Chisholm has for the future includes writing. She enjoys it. A new book, "The Good Fight," details some of the triumphs and minor disasters of her presidential campaign.

"When it was all over, we could look back and wonder what else I might have done. Well," she mused, "I know now that if I had had money, anything might have happened. I was telling the people what they needed to hear."

If she had it to do over, the congresswoman would still campaign for the presidency. She says that because she stayed through to the end women, blacks and other minority candidates will now be taken seriously in future campaigns.

"That was a problem at first. Many people did not realize I was a serious candidate. They believed I was, as other candidates said, 'on an ego trip.' But in the end, they realized there was something to what I was saying," Mrs. Chisholm added.

THE CONGRESSWOMAN says people who see her battling for things that matter may think of her as an angry person. She says she doesn't thrive in a public role.

"I'm a private person. I don't go in for a lot of hoopla. Personally, I'm very happy. I've been happily married to the same man for 24 years. His ego must be intact because he's secure in his own right. He comes from a political family although he doesn't care for politics. He says so long as the people want you, fine, but he also asks if I want to make it my life. I've decided I do not."

She added that she could never make the presidential race again despite her widespread support because of the mental and physical anguish involved.

Her next project is trying to save the Office of Economic Opportunity, and she views it as extraordinarily important.

"A subcommittee is holding hearings to get people to tell us how poverty programs should be changed, detailing the weaknesses and strengths of each program. I know there are weaknesses, but I don't believe we should throw the baby out with the bath water," she said.

"The President, in abolishing OEO, doesn't seem to understand it will cause acceleration of public assistance rolls," she added.

A LONG TIME concern of Rep. Chisholm has been day care, which is also involved in the OEO cuts. She believes a national day care system would alleviate the tax burden on the middle class of supporting public assistance.

"A woman who brings her child to a day care center is able to work and pay her just share of taxes. Women will tell you straight, 'Look, I want to work. But I don't want to leave my child in a parking lot. I want him to be able to learn.'

Congress misunderstands day care. They think you can leave kids with old ladies or somebody in the neighborhood. I'm educating them, but it's slow work. They don't understand that day care is a professional field," Mrs. Chisholm said.

SHE ALSO feels Congress isn't representative of real people.

"We need more teachers in Congress, and fewer lawyers," she added.

A perfect size 7-8, the Congresswoman says she does all her clothes shopping by mail order. She has no time to haunt exclusive stores, and wouldn't anyway, because people recognize her and stop to talk or get her autograph.

"I tried disguises, a wig and sloppy old clothes," she said, "but it didn't work. People still wanted to talk."

THE BETTER HALF

"Phone the office and ask whether they'd rather have a punctual employe or an alert, energetic, cheerful one."

State minimum wage may be set at $1.60

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More than 1.5 million private and public employes will receive $1.60 an hour if a new minimum wage proposal is approved.

Ohio House Democrats say they have reached tentative agreement with business and labor on the proposal, which also has the support of Gov. John Gilligan's administration.

PRUNE ENERGY DIET

THE SUCCESSFUL DIET FOR ACTIVE PEOPLE

LOS ANGELES (Special) — One of the most important key health foods known to man, neglected and overlooked by all but a small percentage who know the Hi-Energy value of prunes in their daily lives. Heavy abundance of Vitamin for quick energy. 100% digestible for all ages. This diet plan works wonders for men, women, children without pills, drugs or exercise.

Prunes give quick vital energy which is crucial in any diet. No tired, dragged-out feeling as with other diets.

Those who follow the simple plan exactly as directed, report an important loss within the 1st 10 days. Starting from the day they begin the diet. There is usually no weight loss for the first 4 days, but suddenly on the 5th day you can expect a substantial drop in weight and then a steady noticeable drop every few days until proper weight is obtained.

Eat Almost All You Want

Better yet, you can still eat almost as much as you want of foods like steak, chicken, lobster. And you will continue to lose weight. Full money back guarantee.

The use of prunes as prescribed by the plan, will, through natural action, act to help your body keep a balance thru the entire time you are losing weight while on your diet plan, allowing you to keep your weight down and figure in firm control.

TONY PEREZ

Promise fulfilled

Tony Perez's slam seals Cincy's win

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Tony Perez of the Cincinnati Reds made a prophecy to his teammate Clay "Hawk" Carroll as they left Three Rivers Stadium Saturday following a loss to the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"Hawk, tomorrow it's going to be me and you," Perez declared.

That premonition was fulfilled Sunday when Perez belted a grand slam home run and Carroll overcame a pulled leg muscle to pitch the Reds to a 5-1 win over Pittsburgh, halting the Pirates win streak at six games.

"We'd been losing and somebody had to pick up the team," said Perez. "...I just had the feeling we'd be the ones to do it."

Carroll didn't get off to a very promising state as the Pirates loaded the bases with one out in the second inning on a single hit by Bob Robertson, a double by MilthMay and an intentional wak.

Carroll pitched out of the jam by retiring the next two batters, but he strained a previously injured thigh muscle in the process.

He told manager Sparky Anderson about it after hobbling to the dugout, but Anderson couldn't afford to be sympathetic.

Anderson's pitching staff has been riddled with injuries in recent weeks and he had no longinning relievers available in his overworked bullpen.

"I had nobody for him, so I told him, "Hawk, old boy, you're it,'" said Anderson. "He would really have had to get clobbered before I'd have taken him out.

"I'm usually conscious about any of my pitchers having any little thing wrong," Anderson added, "But not today."

Carroll lasted 8 2-3 innings before bowing to relief help from Pedro Borbon in the ninth after the Pirates scored their only run on singles by Robertson, Gene Alley and Fernando Gonzalez.

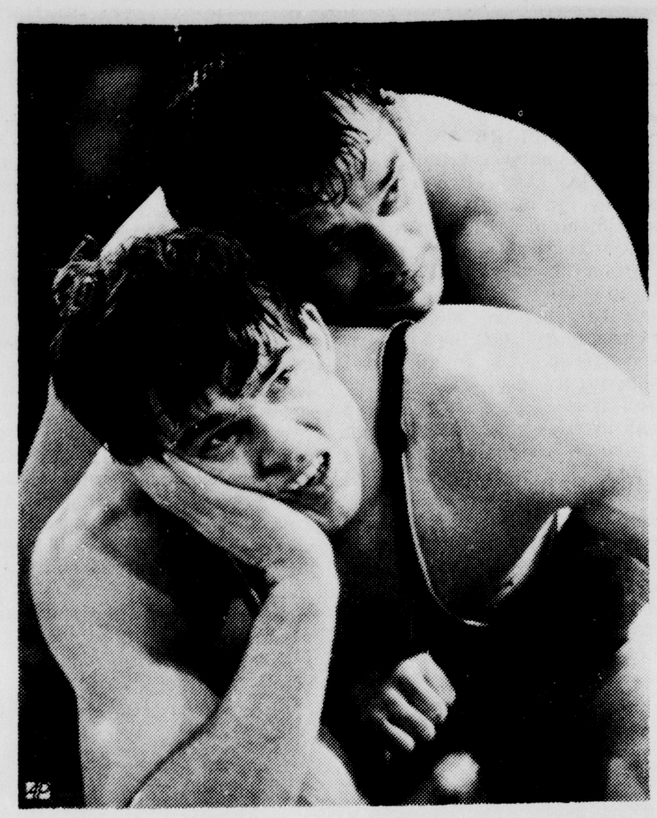

"I have great respect for the Pirates, but I'm kind of surprised they didn't bunt me to death," Carroll said. "I just couldn't run at all."

Elsewhere, the San Francisco Giants used two-run homers by Dave Rader and Garry Maddox in the ninth inning to nip the Philadelphia Phillies 5-4, the Montreal Expos beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-1, the Chicago Cubs blanked the Atlanta Braves 3-0, the St. Louis Cardinals edged the Houston Astros 2-1 in 10 innings and the New York Mets trounced the San Diego Padres 9-2.

Philadelphia's Ken Brett coasted into the ninth inning with a 4-1 lead over the Giants but gave up a single to Dave Kingman and a home run to Rader and departed.

Hal Breeden drew a bases-loaded walk from Al Downing in the eighth inning to snap a tie and Clyde Mashore hit a two-run homer off Tommy John in the ninth, helping the Expos drop the Dodgers 2½ games behind the Giants in the NL West.

Pitcher Milt Pappas snapped a scoreless tie with his 20th career home run in the sixth inning and hurled seven shutout frames before giving way to Bob Locker, who protected the Cubs' victory over the Braves.

Colonial Stair team pumps overall mark

The Colonial Stair slo-pitch softball team pumped its all-games record to a nifty 23-6 level by capturing third place in the Hillsboro Merchants tournament this weekend in Hillsboro.

Steve Sword cracked 11 hits in 18 trips to the plate for a neat .611 average to lead manager Gene Fout's team to four wins in the tournament. Steve Dawson had eight hits in 15 appearances at the plate for a .533 clip and Rick Bell hit .529.

Cincinnati Elder claims state AAA baseball title

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Elder celebrated its golden anniversary in championship style.

The Panthers posted a 9-0-1 football record, a 22-4 basketball mark that included a state basketball tournament title and climaxed the school year with a 27-1 mark in baseball accompanied by an eighth state crown in that sport.

Elder stashed away the Ohio Class AAA baseball title with a 7-1 verdict over Cleveland Glenville Saturday in the finals at Ohio State University.

The Class AA and A baseball kings are St. Paris Graham and Portsmouth East.

St. Paris Graham, which won a state title in 1930 as St. Paris, beat Beloit West Branch 5-1 behind Tim West's two-hitter for the Class AA honors.

Portsmouth East, winding up an 18-0 campaign, beat Adena Buckeye West 5-3 in Class A with the benefit of three errors, three wild pitches, one passed ball and one balk.

Elder broke loose for seven runs in the fifth inning, five of them unearned, and sent 11 men to bat in the explosion. It wiped out a 1-0 Glenville lead built on Terry Jones' homer in the fourth.

The victory deprived Glenville of becoming the first school since Columbus Central in 1929 to win state track and baseball championships in the same spring.

For Graham, 20-3, Gary Kite singled, tripled, stole a base and scored two runs in the first three innings before he was banished for unsportsmanlike conduct.

Home plate umpire Ed Conaway charged Kite used his forearms on West Branch catcher Ronn McNeely in a play at home.

Second baseman Gary Coriell went five-for-six in the two state tournament games for Portsmouth East, including three hits in the title game.

Uhl's IGA captures Class B tournament

Uhl's IGA, of Greenfield, captured honors in the Class B slo-pitch tournament held this weekend at Washington C.H.'s Eyman Park.

Teams from the Fayette County Softball Association fared well as Bell-Dor-Lite placed second, followed by Robertson Fence Co., of Mount Sterling, and the Sabina Moose Lodge.

Lion sprinter ends fine career

WCH's Storm captures title at Ohio Classic

MANSFIELD — Brian Storm, representing Washington C.H. for the final time of his career, emerged as the top sprinter in Ohio at the tenth annual Ohio Track Classic held Saturday at Mansfield Mallabar's 10-lane, all-weather track.

Storm, the Washington C.H. speedster who was voted the most outstanding Class AA athlete at the 66th annual Ohio high school track meet two weeks ago, topped competitors from all three classes in the 100-yard dash at the Ohio Classic.

Storm won the 100-yard dash in 9.7, the same time in which he won the event at the state track meet to match the meet record. He defeated a classy field of 12 participants in the 100-yard dash, including Dave Paul, of Brookville, and Otis Jenkins, of Lorain Clearview. Paul, who finished fifth, was second behind Storm in the state meet, while Jenkins, who placed second, was the Class A's most outstanding trackster in the state meeting.

SECOND-YEAR head coach John Armstrong also entered Storm in the 220-yard dash. He finished second in the 220 behind Al Mayfield, of Class AAA Sandusky, with a 22.0 clocking. Mayfield finished in 21.9.

The 22.0 clocking by Storm in the 220-yard dash established a new Washington C.H. school record, surpassing the mark he set with a winning performance in the state track meet.

Five meet records were broken during the Ohio Classic held under sunny skies and ideal weather conditions.

The meet, sponsored by the Ohio High School Track Coaches Association, attracted several hundred Ohio prep athletes. Tracksters participated in the meet on an invitation-only basis.

Terry Burris, of Columbus Whitehall, leaped six feet, seven and a half inches in the high jump event, breaking the mark of 6-7¼ set a year ago by Bob Francis, of Lorain Catholic.

Mike Fields, of Greenville, pole vaulted 15 feet, two inches, erasing the 1970 record of 15-1 set by Jeff Linta, of Mansfield Malabar. The Amherst Steele four-mile relay team bettered its own 1972 record time of 18:10.4 with an 18:01.9 effort.

Cleveland's John Marshall won the two-mile relay in 8:06.2, snapping Euclid's mark of 8:07.6 set last year. Jeff Jenkins was clocked in 40.3 seconds in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles and broke the old mark of 40.7 set last year by Rahn Thompson, of Wadsworth.

Dye, Johnson capture best ball tournament

The team of Douglas Dye and Paul Johnson captured top honors in the two-man team best ball tournament held Sunday at the Washington Country Club.

Dye and Johnson turned in a nine-under-par score of 63 to top the field of 46 golfers. Dye fired an actual score of 76 while Johnson carded an 80. Dye had an eight-stroke handicap and Johnson's handicap was 12.

The team of Donald Anderson and William Mount finished second with a 64 score, while Birch Rice and Carl Elberfeld were third in the 23-team field with a 65 score.

Syndicates were had by the teams of Gary Shaffer and Richard English, Dye and Johnson, Anderson and Mount, David Boswell and S. E. Vaughn and Dale Wade and Robert Miller.

THE RESULTS

Douglas Dye and Paul Johnson, 63; Donald Anderson and William Mount 64; Birch Rice and Carl Elberfeld 65; Robert Herron and Richard Wintringham 68; Jack Marti and Herb Sollars 69; Harris Willis and James Hanawalt 69; Dale Wade and Robert Miller 69; Tom Brude and Roger Miller 70; Dr. Robert Heiny and Larry DaRif 70; Hayward Johnson and James Conley 70; Jim Polk and Ben Wright 71; Dr. Charles Griffith and Dr. Robert Hagerty 71; Ed Vollette and Charles Cummings 72; James Vess and Roger Grimm 72; Mike Helfrich and Bill Hendren 72; Richard English and Gary Shaffer 73; Allen Willoughby and Phil Morrow 73; David Boswell and S. E. Vaughn 73; Ernie Stanforth and Irwin Reeves 73; Eugene Heath and Randy Schneider 74; Gary Thompson and Daryl Stewart 74; James Alkire and Harry Townsend 74, and George Walker and Bernard Eiselstein 75.

Foreman will defend title

TOKYO (AP) — Champion George Foreman of the United States will defend his world heavyweight boxing title against Joe "King" Roman of Puerto Rico in Tokyo Sept. 1 in a program of two championship fights, Muneo Mizoguchi, Japanese fight promoter, announced Monday.

Roman is ranked No. 10 heavyweight challenger by the World Boxing Council (WBC).

The second title match is to be between WBC junior lightweight champion Ricardo Arredondo of Mexico and Morito Kashiwaba of Japan, the WBC's sixth ranking contender.

Minnesota headed for NCAA series

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Minnesota's Golden Gophers, led by third baseman Tim Grice, advanced to the NCAA World Series in Omaha June 8-14 with a delayed 7-6 victory over Southern Illinois Sunday.

The two teams played to a 6-6 tie after 11 innings Saturday when rain forced delay of the game. Play was resumed from that point Sunday and Minnesota won it in 14 innings.

With Minnesota pitcher Dennis Allar on third base, Joe Comer hit a ground ball to Southern Illinois shortstop Stan Mann. Mann fired home to catcher Larry Calufetti but Allar leaped over Calufetti's attempted tag and knocked the ball out of his glove to score the winning run.

Federici to defend Ohio Seniors crown

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — James Federici of Findlay will seek his third straight title in the Ohio Seniors Golf Tournament Tuesday and Wednesday at Westbrook Country Club.

Post 25's season opener cancelled

The opening game of the summer season for Washington C.H.'s Post 25 American Legion baseball team was postponed Sunday afternoon after a former member of the Yellow Springs team, who was to drive the team here, was killed in a car accident Saturday night.

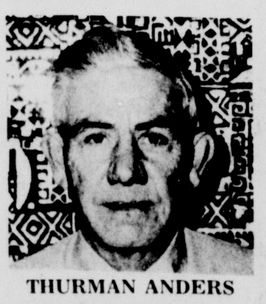

The Post 25 team, which was to open its schedule in a doubleheader with Yellow Springs Sunday, will entertain Chillicothe Post 757 in a South Central Ohio League game at 6 p.m. Wednesday at the WSHS diamond.

Blue stops Red Sox, 12-1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Vida Blue may be the fastest pitcher in baseball, but he won't win any races. You could ask teammate Mike Hegan about that.

Blue's pitching speed helped the Oakland A's to a 12-1 laugher over the Boston Red Sox. But it was his running speed—or better still, lack of it—which ended prematurely Hegan's Major League record of errorless games for first basemen at 178.

Carl Yastrzemski was batting for Boston in the bottom of the eighth with a runner on first when he tapped a grounder to first. Hegan looked at second, saw he had no chance to force Carlton Fisk, and threw to Blue. But the 33-year-old Yastrzemski beat the 23-year-old Blue to the bag.

The official scorer ruled that Hegan had juggled the ball and credited the big first baseman with an error, his first in 179 games.

However, the unofficial scorers saw the play a little differently.

"I should have gotten the error," said Blue, who was obviously annoyed because he was late covering first.

Elsewhere in the American League, New York edged California 3-2; Detroit slugged Minnesota 8-2; Kansas City overcame Cleveland 5-4; Milwaukee whipped Chicago 7-1 and Baltimore topped Texas 7-1 in a game shortened by rain in the sixth inning.

Mickey Lolich, 5-5, who has lost two 1-0 games and two 2-1 games, spoiled Minnesota's Bat Day by stopping the Twins on seven hits for his third straight victory. The Yankees made a lot of people happy, treating a Bat Day crowd of 60,108 to a victory over California. Starting pitcher George Medich was coasting along with a five hitter and a 3-1 lead in the ninth when an error and a single cost him a complete game.

Milwaukee swept its three-game series with Chicago on Jerry Bell's three-hit pitching. "That was the best sinker I've had all year," said Bell, 5-6, who faced only 29 batters.

Kansas City came from behind with three runs in the ninth to nip the Indians. Amos Otis' two-run bases-loaded single was the margin of victory.

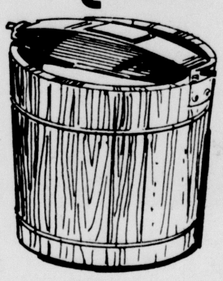

In the second inning in Texas, Bobby Grich singled home a run and Frank Baker added another to give Dave McNally, 5-6, all the batting support he needed to post the victory over the Rangers in a rain-shortened game.

Joan McIntyre launched 'whale' of a campaign

CAMPAIGNER — Joan McIntyre wants to stop the slaughter of whales and study their communication instead.

By FRANKLIN DUNLAP

BOLINAS, Calif. (AP) — Margarine, lipstick, pet foods and shoe polish have one thing in common.

Joan McIntyre will tell you about it as her sea-gray eyes flash: "All of these products are made from whales, and all could be easily and cheaply made from other sources. The continued slaughtering of whales may be the ultimate nonsense of the modern world."

Mrs. McIntyre initiated a campaign to get women to stop wearing fur coats. Now she has created Project Jonah, an international, nonprofit society devoted to the protection of whales, dolphins and porpoises.

She had been special projects coordinator of Friends of the Earth, a major international conservation organization. "But early in 1972, I realized that it was important to focus on something.

"There was too much — the Alaska pipeline, the SST — and you find you are being directed by the system you oppose. Saving the whales was specific and clear, it was interesting and it could be done," she adds.

MRS. McINTYRE incorporated Project Jonah with no money at all, and the saving of the whales campaign has grown.

"I grew up with the California temperament," she says. "The right attitude is 'Go out and do it,' not, 'If I had the money.' "

She presented her ideas on the whales to the Stockholm Conference on the Human Envir nment, where she convinced the chairman to make the whale the symbol of the conference. She then convinced the United States to support a 10-year moratorium on commercial whaling.

In five months in Europe, she consulted virtually every authority on the subject and attended the International Whaling Commission meeting which voted down the moratorium six to five, with Canada abstaining.

But she is not dismayed. Since Mrs. McIntyre's efforts began, the United States has closed down its whaling industry and banned the import or use of ingredients of the eight species of whales on the endangered list. In December, Canada announced a ban on commercial whaling.

In her 30s, Mrs. McIntyre lives in this coastal town north of San Francisco with her 12-year-old son, Ian.

"I WAS NEVER basically a housewife," she says. "I was always into things that interested me. I was political at 13, into youth organizations, social causes, the A-bomb. I always saw my life as being involved with the world.

"I was not the lady studying at the university just long enough to get a husband. My life was never only my relationship to men. I weakened sometimes," she laughs, "but I have always been liberated. The women's lib movement did not change my attitude toward men, but toward women. It has given me their company."

With her luncheon sandwich, Joan drinks a bottle of mineral water, "because it has bubbles, and I am an extravagant person."

She once traded a sports car for a necklace of Red Sea fish symbols and a dolphin ring. "It was an old Doretti," she says, "but wonderful and elegant and I had a friend who wanted it. It seemed like a great idea. The necklace won't break down."

AND WHY WHALES? Joan feels that the whale, a mammal relative, has much to tell mankind.

Project Jonah has now begun a children's crusade through the United States, Canada and Western Europe enlisting the aid of school children to write letters, poems and draw pictures to be sent to Japan and Russia requesting their aid in saving the whales.

Letters may be sent to Project Jonah, P.O. Box 476, Bolinas, Calif., 94024.

Mrs. McIntyre says that the whales must be saved within three years or it will be too late. She wants to establish a center to study communication between whales.

"At the end of the moratorium, if we still want to kill whales for catfood I will have done all I can do. But it will be criminal," she adds, "if on the threshold of our knowledge of the intelligence of whales and dolphins, we stand by, just passive observers to their extinction."

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
3 NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening Lead-three of clubs.

Bridge is not like ticktacktoe, where the right play is automatic and there is no room for argument. Bridge is a far more complicated game and there is ample room for differences of opinion in both the bidding and play of the cards.

Consider this deal from last year's Vanderbilt team of four championship. At the first table, sitting East-West, were two world-famous experts — whose names are mercifully omitted — defending against South's opening three notrump bid.

West led his fourth-best club, won by the ace, and East returned the eight, his original fourth-best card. Declarer played the jack and West, after a long huddle, concluded that South had started with the J-10-9-7. He therefore ducked the jack in the hope of scoring three more club tricks later on.

But this proved to be a miscalculation on West's part when declarer reeled off the rest of the tricks to make six notrump. West contended strongly that East should have returned the ten, not the eight, but East was in no mood to accept the logic of this contention — in view of the outcome.

At the second table — where the East-West pair were not so famous and, in fact, were not famous at all — the defense worked like a charm.

Here, also, against an opening three notrump bid, a club was led to the ace and the eight was returned. West did not find the defense either difficult or complicated. He won the jack with the queen, continued with the king, and played still another club. So the contract went down two as West went on to the next deal without even looking around for applause.

Pockmarks Can Be Removed

I feel awful that my 4-year-old daughter has been left with two indentations after a recent bout with chicken pox.

She is so pretty, and I just hope they will disappear as her face gets bigger.

If not, can this be fixed?

Mrs. H. L., Pa.

Dear Mrs. L.:

The superficial pockmarks that are sometimes left after chicken pox undoubtedly tend to smooth out with time. Many of these facial scars and blemishes due to chicken pox, acne or injuries can now be removed or made less visible.

A technique known as dermabrasion is safely done with a high-speed rotary abrasive brush. After the skin is anesthetized, this "sand-papering" smooths the outer layers of the skin. When the healing follows and the scab falls off, a smooth surface replaces the slightly pitted area.

The method is highly successful. There is no need for you to be unduly concerned that your child will be scarred or marred.

I do a lot of gardening. More often than I like, I get a sharp pain in my eye if a leaf or a branch flicks past my eye.

What can be done about this?

Mr. E. W., N.J.

Dear Mr. W.:

My first thought, of course, is that you should wear protective goggles. The slight flick of a leaf or a branch can cause severe abrasion of the very delicate covering of the eye.

When neglected, infection can be introduced. Scarring can occur, and vision can be affected.

There are a number of excellent antibiotic and cortisone ointments which, when prescribed by the physician, are very effective. I emphasize that they should be prescribed by the physician because the exact extent of the injury should be noted.

Sometimes it is necessary to patch the eye for a few days to insure rapid and complete recovery.

If one's own doctor is not immediately available when such an injury occurs, it is wise to seek emergency help at the nearest community hospital. Special dyes can outline the extent of the abrasion, which is then minutely examined through a split-lamp microscope.

The fact that this happens so frequently to you suggests that you may be careless about protecting yourself.

I am confused about smallpox vaccination. We went to Europe two years and were told it was not necessary.

Now we are told it is necessary before traveling to Europe.

Mr. J.A., Conn.

Dear Mr. A.:

For a short time, the United States Public Health Service seemed to feel that smallpox vaccinations were no longer necessary.

Remember that this vaccination was necessary in order to be re-admitted to the United States.

Whether or not this rule stands should always be checked out with your local Public Health authorities.

There are many Asiatic and subtropical countries that demand evidence of vaccination before they will allow you to enter their land.

A recent outbreak of smallpox in Great Britain has necessitated vaccination for Americans who plan to go there.

Youth Activities

BLUE RIBBON CHAMPS

Charles Andrews, Vocational Agriculture teacher at Miami Trace High School, and his assistant Scot Jenks, a junior at Miami Trace, were the guest speakers at a recent meeting of the Blue Ribbon Champs 4-H club. Mr. Andrews talked on "Livestock Judging," and Scott, who placed first in the state in Vo-Ag judging, showed slides. A desire to know livestock and a keen power of observation were two things talked about that a good judge must have, and the slides shown to the members were of ideal pigs, calves, and sheep.

Julie Frost's health report on "The Heart," pointed out many different ailments of the heart, such as heart attack, stroke, and coronary heart disease. Julie gave booklets containing many important facts about the heart, and ways to help keep it healthy.

"Good Food for Good Health," was the title of Mark Holloway's health report. Mark told the members that the right kind of food is important for healthy hair, clean skin, bright eyes, pep and personality.

Eddie Armintrout gave his safety report on "Poisons." He told the members several things that should be done, such as locking medicine cabinets and labeling bottles clearly, to help guard against unnecessary poisonings.

"Let's Curb Farm Fatalities," was J.T. Perrill's safety report. He pointed out several precautions to take on tractors, and gave some statistics on the number of deaths in recent years from carelessness on farms.

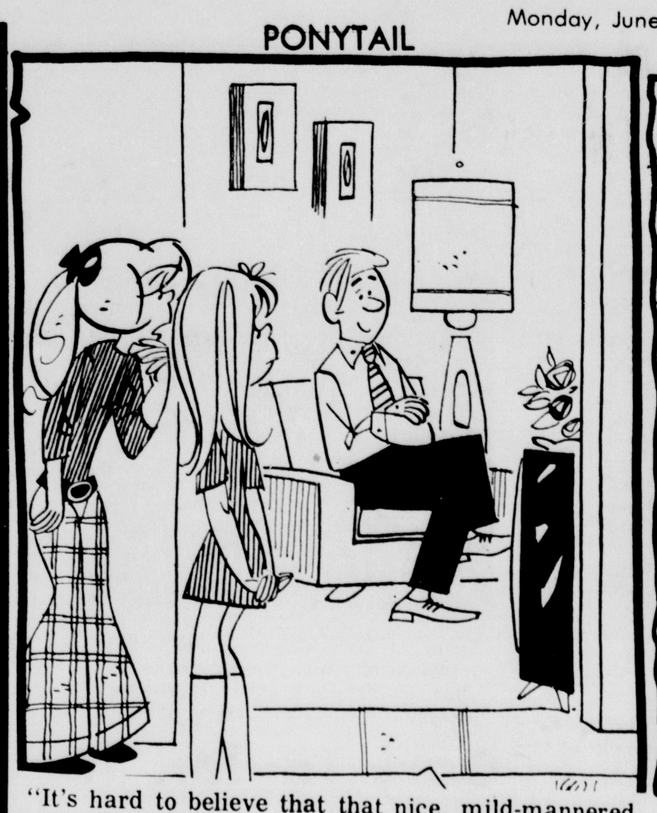

Members were reminded that all market lambs and barrows were to be identified by May 24, and after the meeting, the hosts, Bill and Tim Schaeffer, served refreshments to the club.

2 more youths held on marijuana counts

Two Midland youths were arrested early Monday morning by city police for possession of marijuana when a quantity of the drug was found in their car during a routine traffic arrest.

The pair was arrested by Patrolman Michael Stritenberger in the 600 block of Washington Avenue. They presently are lodged in the juvenile section of the county jail.

Stritenberger said the drug was in a small plastic bag in the glove compartment of the vehicle. He noticed the bag when the passenger opened the glovebox to obtain the vehicle registration.

The officer said the passenger placed the bag between his legs then dropped it out the window. The bag contained a rolled cigarette and a quantity of the loose drug.

Their car was impounded and they were taken to police headquarters for further questioning.

Police have arrested four persons on marijuana charges since Saturday.

BURGLARS made off with groceries, beer and wine, worth $452 from the Sagar's Dairy Depot, 212 E. Elm St., sometime late Friday or early Saturday morning, police reported.

Officers said the intruders had pried out a window screen and then knocked out a window on the east side of the building, next to the alley.

Taken in the theft were 15 cartons of cigarettes, several cases of beer, several bottles of wine and a large quantity of lunch meat and other grocery items.

The burglary was discovered by Patty West, 218 Kennedy Ave., when she opened for business Saturday morning.

David Brickles, of 834 Rawlings St., reported that someone had walked over the hood and trunk of his car early Sunday morning, causing damage estimated at $50.

Police said there were also footprints on a nearby car owned by Erma Kellenberger, 1010 Millwood Ave. Both were parked on Millwood Avenue at the time.

Rev. Frank White, Bloomingburg, reported that his daughter's bicycle had been stolen from the Bloomingburg ball field sometime Friday night. The bicycle was valued at $20.

Busy week ahead for C. of C.

This week is a busy one for Chamber of Commerce members. The annual banquet will be held Tuesday evening, and the membership campaign will be kicked off Wednesday morning.

Jack Criswell, community relations manager for the Bell Telephone Co. in Cleveland, will be the speaker at the annual banquet. A social hour will begin at 6 p.m., and dinner will be served at 7 p.m. in the Mahan Building.

More than 50 members will be involved in the membership drive and are to attend a kickoff meeting at 8 a.m. Wednesday at the Washington Savings Bank.

Team captains for the membership campaign are James Hanawalt, David Six, Jack Brennan, Jim Ward, Leroy Barton, Otis Hess, Mike Helfrich, Dave Ogan, John Lachat and Bruce Galloway.

The goal for the three-day drive is 450 members. There are currently 354 members of the Chamber. Final reports of the campaign are to be made by 4 p.m. Friday at the Chamber office.

James Dunn, executive vice president, said the 450-member goal must be reached to carry out the program of work which will be announced at the banquet. The Chamber is supported primarily from membership dues.

Adult Scouters install officers at dinner meet

Paint Creek Valley District adult Scout volunteers met in the Greenfield United Methodist Church Saturday for a meeting and dinner party.

New district officers were installed and Central Ohio Council Executive Ed Jacobs spoke to the group. Judge Darrell Hottle, of Hillsboro, was the master of ceremonies.

William Cales, Washington C. H. police officer, was installed as the new district chairman, replacing Marvin Thornburg, and Richard Maddux became the district commissioner, succeeding the Rev. Allen Puffenberger.

Jacobs explained what the Scouts are doing nationally. He said that Scouting has been updated from a camping club and has become more relevant to the youth of the inner city.

The Ladies of the United Methodist Church served the dinner, attended by approximately 70 persons, and Mr. and Mrs. Jay Fabin, of Greenfield, sang a duet. Bill Nestor, district executive, introduced the adult volunteers.

BancOhio scores new high in Forbes Directory

COLUMBUS — BancOhio Corporation, the largest multi-bank holding company in Ohio, attained a new high standing among the nation's largest corporations, according to the Annual Forbes 500 Directory.

In the financial magazine's special May issue, Forbes ranked BancOhio as 114th in size according to total assets, an advance of more than 30 places in two years. Statistics for the directory were based upon total assets reported on December 31, 1972. On that date BancOhio showed total assets of more than $2.5 billion.

Further analysis of the directory shows that BancOhio is the fourth largest corporation headquartered in Ohio. The multi-bank holding company recorded an increase in total consolidated assets of more than 20 per cent from 1971 to 1972, greater than any of the top three in Ohio, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., Cleveland Trust and Chessie System.

As of April 30, 1973 BancOhio reported total consolidated resources of $2.7 billion. Currently, there are 35 Ohio banks affiliated which operate 174 banking facilities across the state.

Stored junk problem at Milledgeville

MILLEDGEVILLE — The principal item of discussion at the Milledgeville Council meeting Saturday was the problem of junk being stored in yards of local residents.

Mayor Johnny Blair said that although the Council has received many complaints about residents who have spoiled the appearance of the village by storing salvaged material on their properties, local residents became upset when Council took positive action through the court, and called the measures too harsh. Therefore the councilmen resolved to table further action until they receive greater support.

Council also discussed steps that can be taken to eliminate rowdiness, intoxication and auto racing in the village. The sheriff will be asked to give the area some special attention, and if the situation is not corrected soon, further action will be considered.

Payment of routine bills was approved.

2 persons hurt in altercations

Two persons were treated at Memorial Hospital over the weekend for injuries apparently suffered in altercations.

Lucille Bryant, 39, of 624 Rawlings St., was treated in the emergency room Sunday night for lacerations, contusions, a nose injury and black eye, after she and her husband allegedly became involved in a quarrel.

Police said there were no charges filed in the incident.

Warner M. Turner, of 438 Highland Ave., was treated for bruised ribs and two loose teeth suffered in an altercation at the VFW Club rooms, S. Fayette St., Saturday night.

Warner allegedly was involved in a fight with a bartender, police said.

DRIVING CONTEST — A member of the 4-H Tractor Club attempts to back a two-wheel trailer in one of the events of the Tractor Rodeo held Sunday. Participants also backed a four-wheel trailer, took a written test and performed a maintenance check of equipment.

Gary Taylor, 16, winner of 4-H Tractor Club Rodeo

Gary Taylor, 16, topped 20 contestants to win the 1973 4-H Tractor Rodeo held Sunday at the Fairground. Taylor, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Taylor, Prairie Rd., near Bloomingburg, scored 843 penalty points.

Runner-up honors went to Kevin Cory, 15, Rt. 5, Washington C. H., with a score of 900 points. Third and fourth places went to Bill Mayer, 15, Rt. 1, Bloomingburg, and Roger Duff, 17, Rt. 5, Washington C. H., with scores of 940 and 947. The best 1972 score was 746 points.

The rodeo tested the skills of 4-H Tractor Club members in tractor operation, safety and maintenance.

It was scored in four parts on a penalty point basis. First, each contestant took a written exam testing his knowledge of tractor safety and mechanics. Second, the contestants tested their skills in moving a two-wheel trailer through an obstacle course, and third, the boys tackled the four-wheel trailer backing event. Fourth, each contestant performed a troubleshooting exercises for maintenance problems.

The two-wheel and four-wheel events were scored on time to complete the test, skill in safe operation, and ability to stay within the bounds of the course. A maximum time of six minutes was allowed for each event.

Pentecostal movement grows in Roman Catholic community

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — "It can renew the face of the church and the face of the earth," says a Belgian cardinal about the growing Pentecostal movement among Roman Catholics.

Leo Joseph Cardinal Suenens on Sunday told a closing service of a three-day international conference here that the movement is the "mission of tomorrow. The future is coming out of this."

At his words, the 22,000 participants at the University of Notre Dame Stadium rose to their feet in applause.

"Ah-men," they began singing, arms upraised. "Ah-men, ah-men."

The cardinal gave the highest ecclesiastical endorsement yet to the movement at a celebration of the mass in which 600 white-robed priests and seven bishops, led by Archbishop James Hayes of Halifax, Canada, joined in consecrating the bread and wine.

The service was interspersed by bursts of clapping, whistling and exclamations: "Praise Jesus!" and "Hallelujah!" And there was "praying in unknown tongues," an outpouring of song-like syllables called glossolalia.

This is a characteristic of the movement, with intensive devotional habits, Bible-study and prayer meetings, often made up of Protestants and Catholics.

Cardinal Suenens, an internationally influential progressive, told a news conference the movement was "bringing all Christians together in a very, very close way."

He also said: "It is an answer to the people's desire to practice faith spontaneously, to express it as they feel it. It's a new taste of the Gospel, in its reality and simplicity."

The movement, now involving an estimated 300,000 U.S. Catholics, is "growing very fast everywhere," Cardinal Suenens said. "It's no longer just an American phenomenon, but in all countries. It's a world wide phenomenon."

Bishop Michael Begley of Charlotte, N.C., said the movement was "coming from all sides, in all cross-sections of society, opening hearts and souls to the Holy Spirit."

He added, "I say praise the Lord for it."

Contract problems slow construction

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Major non-highway construction projects in Charleston, W.Va., and the Tri-State area of West Virginia, Kentucky and Ohio have been shut down by labor contract disputes.

A dispute between the Kanawha Valley Builders Association and the pipefitters, plumbers and iron workers unions has slowed construction in Charleston. The three unions have refused to ratify a contract with the association that has been signed with other craft unions. Old contracts expired at midnight last Thursday.

Contract difficulties between the Southwestern Building and Trade Council at Huntington and both the Teamsters union and various building trade unions have shut down construction projects in the Tri-State area of Huntington, W.Va.-Ashland, Ky.-Cheshire, Ohio.

Lebanon girl crowned as district queen

WILMINGTON — Susan Hodapp, of Lebanon, was crowned Miss Southwestern Ohio at a pageant held in Wilmington Saturday evening. Miss Hodapp was chosen from 11 contestants, including Vicki Lowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Lowe, Washington C.H.

The two runners-up in the competition were Robbie O'Neil and Brenda Beegle, both of Wilmington, and Paula Cook, of Lebanon, was named "Miss Congeniality."

Miss Hodapp will represent Southwestern Ohio in the Miss Ohio Pageant in Sandusky and she and the runners-up received college grants and scholarships of varying amounts.

The talent presentation which helped Miss Hodapp to her crown was a musical comedy routine.
